NEW YEAR DANCE

Newton Centre Squash Tennis Club Suitably Observes Advent of 1913

The New Year was greeted in the dance music struck up, they were wound round and round the dancers, making a scene of kaleidoscopic beauty which will long be remembered. A buffet supper was served, and dancing continued until a late hour.

BRAY HALL, Scene of Newton Centre Squash Tennis Club Dance.

Anger society of the whole city and out 300 attended the affair. The hall was beautifully decorated with garlands, wreaths and Christmas greens and the orchestra was concealed behind a bank of palms, azaleas and brilliant poinsettias. A reception was held from eight to nine o'clock, with Mr. Arthur C. Badger, Mrs. Alfred E. Ford, Mrs. William C. Bray, Mrs. Ed Farley Cutler, Mrs. A. Dudley Wood, Mrs. William M. Flanders, Mrs. Charles E. Kelsey and Mrs. George Walker serving as matrons.

At midnight approached the grand march was formed under the direction of Mr. T. B. Plympton, and bags and boxes of confetti distributed to each guest. The New Year was proclaimed twelve strokes on a huge gong and loud reverberations died away, a corollary of the familiar "taps" for the dying year, and then under the leadership of the orchestra everyone joined in the familiar song of "Auld Lang Syne." As the strains of the music died, a large bell which was hung in the larger office a horse and carriage was shown with confetti, while the present assisted in the hilarity throwing the ribbons and bags of confetti about the hall. Rows of wires been strung across the hall and ribbons of confetti soon hung in beautifully colored festoons, and as

BURNED TO DEATH

Invalid Sets Fire to Himself with Fatal Results

Miss Sarah Howley of 438 Parker street, Newton Centre died at the Newton Hospital, Monday night from the effects of burns received in some unknown manner at her home the day previous. Miss Howley, who had been an invalid for some time, lived at the home of her sister, Mrs. Wesley F. Pease, and while Mr. and Mrs. Pease were eating their dinner, they heard cries upstairs and presently Miss Howley appeared, with a lighted match in her hand and her clothing ablaze.

With much difficulty Mr. and Mrs. Pease extinguished the flames, Mrs. Pease being badly burned about the arms in so doing, and received a shock which compelled her to take to her bed. Miss Howley was attended by Dr. Edward A. Andrews, who ordered her removal to the Newton Hospital. Her name was placed on the dangerous list, and she died without regaining consciousness. Miss Howley was 48 years of age and had made her home in Newton Centre for some time.

CALKINS—PHILLIPS

The wedding of Mr. Grovenor Calkins of this city and Miss Patty Phillips, the daughter of Mr. John Bakewell Phillips of Pasadena, Cal., took place last Tuesday afternoon at All Saints Church, in that city.

The ceremony was performed at five o'clock, by Rev. John Bakewell, D. D., of Oakland, Cal., an uncle of the bride, the church being attractively decorated in honor of the event with pink and white roses and carnations on the altar, choir stalls and pews.

The bride wore a gown of white charmeuse, with rose point lace, and carried lilies of the valley. The maid of honor, Miss Lucy Slade of Trenton, N. J., was in pink brocade, with black hat and carried pink roses.

Mr. Charles E. Dow of San Diego, Cal., was the best man, and the ushers were Messrs. Henry Ormsby Phillips and John K. Dotter of Pasadena, Warren F. Whittier of San Bernardino, Cal., and Ronald Pearce of Los Angeles, Cal.

A reception for the family and intimate friends was held immediately after the ceremony at the home of the bride, 514 Bellefontaine street, Pasadena. Mr. and Mrs. Calkins will make a wedding trip thru the west and south and will then reside at 21 Durand street, Newton.

Mr. Calkins is the son of Rev. and Mrs. Wolcott Calkins of Bellevue street, and was a member of the board of aldermen. He graduated from Harvard College in 1897, from Harvard Law school in 1899 and is a member of the Exchange and St. Botolph clubs of Boston and of the Hunnewell Club of Newton.

COMMITTS SUICIDE

Charles H. Dirks, a youth of seventeen committed suicide last Friday night at his boarding place on Marlboro street, by taking his life with a revolver, in the presence of his sister, Miss Pollie Dirks of Stoneham and Police Sergeant B. F. Burke. He was taken to the Newton Hospital, where his death took place about midnight.

Young Dirks had lived here since August, and attended the Newton High School for a while, but later entered a private school in Boston. For some time he has been speculating in the stock market and had told his sister that all his money had been lost in that manner. He had always been bountifully supplied with money by his father who lived in Alaska, and it is hinted that financial troubles were not the sole cause of his mental depression.

Funeral services were held on Monday at Stoneham.

IMPRESSIVE TRIBUTE

Funeral Service for Benjamin S. Palmer Largely Attended

Abundant evidence that the late Benjamin S. Palmer was loved and appreciated, was shown by the hundreds of persons present at the funeral services which were held Saturday afternoon at the Second Congregational Church, West Newton. The church was completely filled with the most beautiful flowers, artistically arranged, with a magnificent cross in front of the pulpit.

Many men prominent in business and in public life were present and there was a large delegation of the employees of Chase and Sanborn.

The services were conducted by Rev. J. Edgar Park, pastor of the church, the large audience standing when the service was borne up the aisle. The services included singing by the congregation, of "Homeland" by the church quartet and a brief eulogy by Rev. Mr. Park, who spoke as follows:

We do honor today to the life of a Christian Merchant who used his success for the enrichment of life, for the help of the needy, and for the encouragement of art and beauty in workmanship. He has bequeathed to the city of Boston and to the firm which he served there so long the memory of a business career of forceful and diplomatic wisdom, and of a man who brought into his business life genuine personal interest in the success of others, and high ideals of moral principle and business honesty.

We do honor today to a Christian Gentleman, kindest of neighbors, most loyal of friends, who loved and served this city of Newton with all his heart, and has bequeathed to it, and especially to us in West Newton the memory and example of a home where chivalrous devotion and love reigned supreme and filled the heart of every visitor to it with gladness that such knightly souls as his still dwell among us in our commercial age.

We do honor today to a Christian Believer who was proud to take upon him the name of Christian, and who loved to worship here Sunday after Sunday with enthusiasm and with understanding in a faith as beautiful as the sunshine and as broad as God's great universe.

How we shall miss his whole-hearted greeting as he met us day by day, there will be a little less. Let us not vainly regret that his life was short. The most perfect life ever lived in our world was a short one.

One of his friends seeing him just a little while before he passed from us, on leaving him, said "Goodbye!" but he, raising himself with something of the old gracious greeting, said, "Au Revoir!" So let us say of him:—"I cannot say and I will not say With a cheery smile and a wave of the hand, He has wandered into an unknown land, And left us dreaming how very fair It needs must be, since he lingers there."

The interment was at the Newton Cemetery, where Rev. Mr. Park offered prayer at the grave.

The honorary pall bearers were Hon. Charles E. Hatfield, Mr. Vernon E. Carpenter and the following members of the firm of Chase and Sanborn, Mr. Chas. D. Stas, Hon. Daniel Gilman of Montreal, a member of the Canadian Senate, and Messrs. Carleton Moseley, John Moir, Frederick A. Flood, and John Anderson. The active pall bearers were Mr. Henry B. Day and Mr. George A. Frost of West Newton, Mr. William T. Rich of Newton and Mr. Norman H. George of West Newton.

The ushers were Messrs. John S. Alley, Henry P. Ayer, Arthur E. Gill, Chas. P. Hall, Chas. I. Travelli and Chas. A. Wyman, all of West Newton.

INDOOR LAWN TENNIS

Longwood Cricket Club Plans New Building

The Longwood Cricket Club, the patron saint of lawn tennis in this part of the country, and which is laying out some beautiful grounds on Hammond street and Middlesex road, Chestnut Hill, has had plans made by Boston architects for a building adjoining the club house and to be used for playing lawn tennis indoors. It will be 100 ft. by 20 feet and about 30 to 35 feet high. It is proposed to cover the courts with an ornamental structure of steel and stucco on terraced bricks.

A temperature above 45 degrees will be maintained. The balcony, which will extend around the entire building, will provide seating capacity for 600, so that invitation tournaments with the best players of the country competing, together with monthly exhibition matches will be possible, with a good gallery looking on.

There will be ample space for good play. There will be 10 feet between the courts, nine feet between the outer sidelines and the walls, and a run-back of 20 feet. The playing surface will be a wood floor covered with a cork carpet. The "playing effect" on a cork surface is very similar to a perfect, fast turf court. These will be the first regular indoor lawn tennis courts ever constructed in this country.

The members of the Longwood Cricket Club, which is the oldest lawn tennis club in the United States, will be given the opportunity to make application for membership entitling the holder to use of the courts, and if the number of applications exceed the total fixed limit—about 80 or 90—a waiting list will be established. If by Feb. 1 the total membership is not filled by applicants from the club, invitations to join will be sent to others.

intestinal trouble. The operation was apparently successful, but pneumonia developed later, with fatal results.

Mr. Ross was engaged in business as a building contractor and had charge of the construction of many important buildings in various parts of the country. He also operated a planing mill on Crafts street. For many years he has been a recognized expert on adjusting fire losses and was also an appraiser of real estate. Mr. Ross was born in West Boylston, Aug. 16, 1846, the son of William J. and Harriet (Merriam) Ross, and after being graduated from the public schools there pursued a private course in engineering. He then became a surveyor on the Union Pacific Railroad.

Mr. Ross later entered the employ of teranities and for years was one of the most active members of the Newton Club. He was married three times. His first wife was Miss Emma L. Flint. After her death he married Miss Cloella A. Sanford, by whom he had one son, Mr. Louis S. Ross, of Newtonville. His third wife was Miss Lottie A. Sanford, a sister of his second wife.

There was a large attendance of neighbors, friends and business associates at the funeral services held at his late home on Walnut street, Newtonville on Tuesday afternoon. WHAT'S THE HURRY?

Well, Read the Interesting Whys and Hows
of the Telephone Directory

If You Want to Get In, You Had Better
Call Up Fort Hill 7600 To-day

It is to the mutual advantage of the Telephone Company and the subscriber to have the latter listed in the directory as soon as possible after he gets his telephone, because such a listing saves many calls for "information."

The Boston division directory plays such an important part in promoting good service that its preparation, printing and distribution are subjects of the most careful supervision. It costs a good deal of time and money to revise an average of 40,000 listings per issue, to transform 600 tons of paper into 200,000 books of 400 pages each, and to distribute these books over 1,500 square miles, but it is well worth the effort.

It is apparent that the preparation for printing must proceed on a schedule as arbitrary as that of a newspaper pressroom. If the book is not produced promptly, much of its value is lost. When the closing date is announced, therefore, the printing must proceed with whatever listings are at hand. Those received subsequently must be held over for a later issue.

The patron who rushes in at the last minute with his order may find he cannot be listed in the running of additional wires or the setting of new poles or cross-arms; but the reason is a compelling one, although perhaps it might have been overcome had sufficient notice been given.

MORAL: Don't wait another day if you are contemplating installing a telephone, or changing to another class of service. Call Fort Hill 7600 and ask for the Contract Department. Such a call, from any Telephone or Pay Station in the Metropolitan District is FREE OF CHARGE.

ADDED TO THE GOOD TIME

Bear Story, Though Short, Was a Thing of Consequence to Those Silent Mountaineers.

There were six stalwart pioneers who settled in Tipshur county, West Virginia, long before the war, when there wasn't "a stick amiss" and hunting was good. They were brothers and their name was Phillips.

Each fall after hog-killing time they held a family reunion, at which a feast fit for the gods was partaken in silence, except for the blessing, which was always asked by the eldest brother. They did not believe in much talk or levity. When they spoke it was usually in monosyllables. After dinner they would sit around the big log fireplace, tilted back in split bottom chairs, and smoke their corncob pipes in silence until it was time to go home and do the chores.

At one of the reunions something of unusual interest occurred—one of the boys told a bear story. While sitting around the fire smoking one of the brothers pushed up his sleeve, exposing a badly lacerated arm. The five gazed at it in respectful silence for a few moments. Their experience in the mountains told them that their brother had a hand to hand fight with a bear. One of them opened the ensuing dialogue with:

"Um-mph-bar?"

"Yeah."

"What?"

"Over ther," jerking his thumb back over his shoulder in the direction of Beech mountain.

After this bear story of five words they smoked in silence until it was time to go home. For months after that reunion they would remark to visiting neighbors that they had "a powerful fine time at Eben's reunion."

It was remarkable, because they had had a bear story in addition to the blessing, which was a powerful lot of talk for these silent men.

TRACE ALPHABET FAR BACK

Belief That It Had Its Origin With the Phenicians Proved to Be a Wrong One.

In a lecture at the Royal Institute Prof. Flinders Petrie attacked the long accepted theory that the origin of the alphabet is to be found in Phoenicia, whence it came from Egyptian hieroglyphics.

According to Professor Petrie, the "researches of the last twenty years have shown that signs were earlier than pictures and that it was the sign that survived to become the alpha and beta of one civilization and the A B C of another.

Just as the philologist had discovered one entire system of languages to the alphabetarian had discovered in the diversity of alphabets an original prototype of all. In Professor Petrie's words, "The Phenicians are people of yesterday compared with those who wrote the signs that are the origin of all alphabets."

It was to pottery, said the professor, that Egyptologists and others were indebted for these signs, and their development was worked out on these lines. Flatness made a pot and put a mark on it to show that it was flat. In time, because it was his mark, the sign stood for flatness itself, and then the sign became attached to a sound irrespective of the thing it signified. Gradually the wearing down went on until the sign stood, not for a sound, but a syllable, and then for a letter.

The signs, of course, were not an alphabet; that did not arrive until perhaps 1,000 B. C., whereas signs were found in early prehistoric Egypt, probably 7,000 B. C. Proofs of this common origin were plentiful, for the signs spread by trade far north and south, and appeared similarly in Runic, Iberian and Karian, and yet were unknown in Phoenician.

When Eloquence Didn't Work.

There is such a thing as being too eager, as witness the following remark:

"Yes," said the statesman, "I defeated myself by my own eloquence once."

"How was that?"

"I was a candidate for the nomination to congress, and I got up and made a speech to the convention, in which I just naturally flung Old Glory, with a capital O and a capital G, to the breeze in so enthusiastic a manner that I took the house by storm. I dilated on the greatness of our country and on the responsibilities of the man who should be called to make its laws, till one old fellow from a back county got up and said that I had convinced him that it was too big a job for so young a man as I was to tackle, so he moved that the convention nominate a man of more experience; and, by gee, they did it."

Hardly a Compliment.

It is said that General Crittenden used to tell with great glee of what his small son, then eight or nine years old, said to him a day or two after the battle of Chickamauga. The general had ridden during the battle a horse named John Jay that was a great favorite with the little fellow. The child, visiting the camp, asked after the horse and was told that in the fight he had acted badly, in fact, taking up his rider to the rear. The boy considered gravely a moment, then, shaking a remonstrating finger, cried:

"Papa, that must have been your work. I know John Jay would never have acted like that of his own free will!"

CASTLE SQUARE THEATRE—"The Gingerbread Man" is at the height of its success at the Castle Square. Its third week begins Monday afternoon, and the theatre will undoubtedly continue to be filled with delighted audiences. In "The Gingerbread Man" is something for everybody and besides the plot, the humorous dialogue and the tuneful music there are a number of added scenes that add to its popularity. Donald Meek and Al Roberts in their burlesque of "Othello" arouse screams of laughter, and in his clever travesty on "Madame X" George Henry Traver has devised a very funny series of incidents. Miss Virginia Tanner's Egyptian dances give extra variety to the second act, and the acting and singing of the entire company is receiving the highest commendation. Mr. Craig, Mr. Melrose, Mr. Meek, Miss Laurett Browne, Miss Florence Shirley and Miss Mary Young have the leading roles. Two plays that will follow "The Gingerbread Man" at the Castle Square are "The New Sin" which has been a recent sensational success on the stage of London and New York, and "Believe Me, Xantippe," which is John Craig's third annual Harvard prize play.

Preserving Guano Deposits. Four centuries ago the Incas of Peru, wise in their generation, protected and conserved the guano deposits of their empire. Since then 12,000,000 tons of guano have been removed and some of the deposits have been completely exhausted. Now Peru is imitating the wisdom of the Incas, and has adopted measures to conserve and perpetuate the supply of this invaluable fertilizing material.

Feathered Citizens of London. Besides the sparrows and the pigeons which inhabit the atmosphere of London, there is a great nest of crows in Gray's Inn, the last survivor of numerous rookeries which used to exist in the old buildings of the city.

A single pair of carrion crows also have their nest near St. Pancras church, around which they are often seen flying and teaching their young ones how to stretch their wings.

His Heart Filled Up. "You," sighed the rejected lover, "would find your name written in imperishable characters on my heart could you but look." "So?" murmured the fair young thing, who was aware of the fact that the swain had been playing Romeo at the seaside for something like 20 years. "So! Then you must have a heart like a local directory by this time."

THEATRES
BOSTON OPERA HOUSE—The principal happening of the week at the Boston Opera House will be the first performance for this season of "Pelouse de Melandree," which is set down for Wednesday evening, Jan. 8th. Mme. Louise Edvina will be the Melandree. Jean Riddle will appear as Pelouse, and Vanni Marcoux will be the Goulet. Maria Gay as Genevieve, Bernice Fisher as Yvonne, Edward Lankow as Arkel and Jose Mardones as Le Medecin, will complete the cast. Andre-Caplet will direct. Another French opera, but this time an old favorite, "Carmen"—will have its first hearing on Saturday night. Although as usual the prices will be on the popular scale, the title role will be assumed by Mme. Gay, the most famous Carmen of the day, and a much more than competent coterie of artists will assist her. On Monday evening, Mme. Tetrazzini will sing in opera in Boston for the last time this season. "Traviata" will be the bill, and as Violetta, Mme. Tetrazzini again will entrance her hearers with delight as she did on Christmas night. The fourth subscription performance of "Louise" will be sung on Friday night, with the cast of Saturday afternoon,—that of the premiere, with the exception of a new Julien in the person of Mr. Zenatello. Instead of Mr. Clement, Mr. Caplet will direct the orchestra. On Saturday afternoon "La Boheme" which has been one of the season's most popular offerings, will be given what is likely to be its last presentation. The Miml again will be Lucresia Bori, who has charmed all beholders on the occasion of each of her three previous appearances in the part.
HOLLIS STREET THEATRE—Public taste has raised John Drew to the position, quite unassailable, as the chief American exponent of polite comedy. He will be seen at the Hollis Street Theatre, two weeks, beginning January 6th, in "The Perplexed Husband," by Alfred Suto, a four-act

Favorite Sandwiches—Cream two heaping table-spoonfuls of butter, add a cupful of grated cheese, two table-spoonfuls of anchovy essence, a quarter of a table-spoonful of paprika, a quarter of a table-spoonful of mustard and a half cupful of finely chopped olives. Remove from the fire, add two heaping table-spoonfuls of sugar, one table-spoonful of lemon juice, and half a cupful of whipped cream; beat till well blended, then spread thickly between lady fingers.

Use the Wheel Tray—This wheel tray can be used for luncheons, dinners, teas, porch parties and also for functions where refreshments are served. Any woman who entertains needs this invaluable assistant to be up to date, to provide correct service and to save the useless steps and an unnecessary fatigue required to carry trays around.

IN PUTTING UP PRESERVES

Matter of Importance is the Selection of the Right Kind of Fruit to Be Handled.

Fruit for preserving in any form should be fresh-picked, or gathered, and slightly under-ripe. Such fruit ensures more perfect shape in the finished product and eliminates the possibility of fermented fruit or the loss of pectin or jelly-making property.

Handle soft fruit (peaches, berries, etc.) as little as possible. If it is to be canned in jars, put it into the jars, at once, on hulling or otherwise preparing it.

If berries must be washed, put them, a few at a time, into a colander, pour cold water over them and turn at once upon a large sieve to drain.

Large hard fruit, as apples, pears, and quinces, should be washed and wiped dry before paring.

Cut apples and other hard fruit, for jelly, into quarters, removing all wormy places or imperfections. Retain the skin and cores. The cores of quinces should be discarded, as the excess of gummy properties does not improve jelly.

Use a silver-plated knife to pare fruit. Peaches, soft pears, plums and tomatoes, set into a wire basket (frying basket) may be plunged into a saucepan of boiling water; after three or four minutes remove to a kettle of cold water for the same time, when the fruit may be quickly and easily peeled. This method of peeling is admissible when a large quantity of fruit is to be put up, but it is thought to detract somewhat from the flavor.

Chicken Pie.

Cut up the chicken and stew it until it is tender, season it with one tea-spoonful of pepper, one table-spoonful of salt, half a table-spoonful of ground mace, one table-spoonful of ground ginger, one table-spoonful of chopped onion and two table-spoonfuls of chopped parsley.

Take a deep pie dish and line it with a pie crust, then put a cup in the center of the dish (this cup will hold the gravy). Then put the chicken in the dish, two raw potatoes cut in thin slices and one hard boiled egg cut in slices. Put the potatoes and egg on top of the chicken and cover the dish with pie crust, bake and serve hot.

Swedish Meat Balls.

One pound of finely ground lean beef put through a meat chopper twice also a small onion, if you like onions; one table-spoonful of flour, a little pepper and salt, and cold water enough to mix easily with a spoon; then wet your hands in cold water and shape into balls; put a piece of butter in the frying pan, have pan hot before putting balls in, fry on both sides and push to one side; make brown gravy by browning a small piece of butter and a table-spoonful of flour; pour hot water over all and cook five minutes.

St. Denis Salad.

Cut cold boiled potatoes in one-half inch cubes. There should be 1½ cups. Cut cold boiled beets in one-quarter inch cubes. There should be one third of a cup. Mix the potatoes and beets, add three hard-boiled eggs finely chopped, one-half table-spoonful of chopped green pepper and one-half tea-spoonful of chopped cheese. Moisten with dressing and serve in nests of lettuce leaves.

Tart Paste.

Take one-half cupful of water, one half cupful of lard, the beaten white of one egg, three table-spoonfuls of powdered sugar, one table-spoonful of cream tartar, and one-half table-spoonful of soda; add flour enough to make a moderately stiff dough.

Troy Pudding.

One cup of milk, one cup of molasses, one cup of suet or three-quarters butter, half cup of raisins, more or less, three full cups flour, tea-spoonful of soda. Boil or steam four hours.

GETTING RID OF MICE

Expensive Patented Snare Not in It With the Sugar Bag, to Which Housekeeper Hereafter Will Pin All Her Faith.

Mice always bother the people who to light housekeeping more than the ordinary householder, probably because the former is more apt to have few mouse-light receptacles for food. Various traps have been tried by one couple who indulge in light house-keeping in a three-room apartment, says the Philadelphia Record. Sometimes, at large intervals, they managed to catch one of the pests. Every scheme of baiting and setting traps which they could find or invent was tried and the mice continued to eat everything they could get at, falling back on a diet of clothes when every bit of food had been successfully cached.

The mice seemed too wise to try the traps, no matter how fresh and well baited. The couple was almost in despair, and had nearly decided upon using poisons, to which, for sanitary reasons, they had hesitated to resort. The mice themselves, waxing over-greedy, fell into a trap of their own setting, and one has been caught every day or two until now there are only one or two left, but the happy housekeepers have great hopes of catching them all.

One of the few provisions which had not been stored was the sugar, which is bought in a large, rectangular box, holding five pounds. The cover was slit a little way at one end and the sugar bowl filled by pouring from this aperture. The sugar was left out, because it was thought that mice did not possess a sweet tooth. Then one day when a large quantity of the boxful had been removed at one time, the woman opened the closet door, to stand frightened at some scrambling sounds she heard. She quickly located them in the box of sugar and realized what had happened.

The mice had discovered the sugar and had been feeding from it, gaining the tiny opening from a shelf beside which the box stood. She had taken out so much sugar that on its last trip the mouse in its sudden fright, could not make the leap which would carry it through the small hole. The woman quickly put a piece of sugar over the opening and then carried the box to a pail of water. Into which she shook the mouse.

Several others have trapped themselves in the same way and the woman declares that when they have eaten all the sugar she will rebait the box with some more, and never, never spend any more money on patent traps.

A fine grater is better than a knife for removing the surface of anything that is burned.

In washing faces that have become stained with perspiration first wash them with cold water and soap, and after the stains are removed put them into warm water.

Pine pillows should be made of butcher's linen. This is to be preferred to the color linens, for the oil in the pine will strike through in time and necessitate a thorough washing.

To clean a vinegar cruet put a tea-spoonful of lye in it and then fill it with water. Let this remain in it a few days and then rinse the cruet out thoroughly, when it will be perfectly clean.

Mushrooms, or foods containing mushrooms, must not be eaten after having been allowed to get cold, as they are apt to develop injurious properties and become poisonous. Either eat all that is cooked or throw away what is left.

In order to clean bronze the article should be immersed in boiling water, then rubbed with a piece of flannel dipped in yellow soapuds and dried with a soft cloth and chamols leather.

Damson Tart.

One and one-half pint damsons, one quarter of a pound of brown sugar. Put the damsons with the sugar between them into a deep earthenware dish and put in the middle of it a small cup turned upside down to prevent the juice from spilling; line the edges of the dish with pie crust and cover with same. Bake one-half or three-quarters of an hour in a good oven. Serve hot at table with cream. This is the English style and there will be found an abundance of fruit with each portion of crust.

Yellow Cake.

Large table-spoonful of butter creamed with even cup of sugar, two eggs creamed in, one at a time, two-thirds cup of sweet milk, one even cup of prepared flour, two-thirds cup pastry flour; beat well, flavor to taste; bake in a sheet in hot-toot-hot oven; frost with white frosting made of butter, with one cup powdered sugar, one tea-spoonful of butter, boiling water to mix to thick paste and spread on warm cake. Bake until it stops singling—about 25 minutes.—Exchange.

BRILLIANT RECEPTION

Mrs. Francis Edgar Stanley Entertains on New Years Day

Not in a long time has Newton seen a more charming reception than that given by Mrs. Francis Edgar Stanley at her home on Centre street on Wednesday afternoon. The springlike brightness of the day and the bright sunshine gave the finishing touches necessary to make it one of the most brilliant affairs of the winter. Mrs. Stanley greeted her guests in the reception room, which was beautifully decorated with pink roses and many floral offerings from her friends, the occasion being Mr. and Mrs. Stanley's forty-third wedding anniversary. In the dining room everyone remarked upon the wonderful beauty of the decorations, Richmond roses of radiant red adorned the table and mantel and the same color scheme was carried out in the candelabra shades. The library decorations were of Mrs. Ward roses, while American beauties were in great profusion in the hall. There with an abundance of green converted the whole house into a veritable bower.

A. H. Handley's orchestra dispensed music from the music room at the head of the landing of the stairs and there were vocal solos by Mrs. Charlotte Hills of Brookline at intervals during the afternoon.

Mrs. Charles H. Brock was in charge of the dining room. The ladies who poured were Mrs. Frelan O. Stanley, Mrs. Edwin T. Fearing, Mrs. Edmund Cowles of Brookline, Mrs. Henry Tolman, Mrs. W. J. Follett, Mrs. Samuel Powers, Mrs. Charles A. West, Mrs. Charles Hall, Mrs. Charles M. Boyd, Mrs. W. H. Coolidge, Mrs. Eugene Clapp of Boston, Mrs. John T. Lodge and Mrs. Charles H. Brock. They were assisted by Mrs. Carleton Stanley, Mrs. Clarence C. Smith, Miss Mary Glover, Miss Sally Cutler, Mrs. Gaston Scherer and Mrs. Fred H. Loveland. Mrs. Francis W. Dana was in charge of the library where frappe and punch were served. Those assisting Mrs. Dana were Mrs. William F. Garcelon, Mrs. Claude M. Griffith of New York, Mrs. Boyden also of New York, Mrs. Holcombe of Brookline, Mrs. Saxon, also of Brookline, Mrs. Harry Dana Priest of Auburndale, Mrs. George A. Lintner of Summit, N. J., and Mrs. Emily Emmons, Miss Marjorie Warren, Miss Mary Faxon, and Miss Katherine Burton.

Guests began to arrive shortly after four and continued in quick succession until a late hour, there being about 600 in attendance.

Among those present from out of town were Mrs. George A. Lintner of Summit, N. J., and Mr. and Mrs. Claude Maitland Griffith of New York City, all of whom are house guests of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley.

SOCIAL HYGIENE CAMPAIGN

The Newton Y. M. C. A. has engaged Dr. Winfield Scott Hall of Northwestern Medical University, Chicago, a well known writer, lecturer and authority on matters of sex hygiene, to give a series of talks in this city on Sunday and Monday, January 5th and 6th. Dr. Hall will first address the Claffin Club class at the Newtonville M. E. Church at noon on Sunday, will speak on "Steps into Immortality" to young people at 6.30 that evening.

DR. WINFIELD S. HALL

at the Immanuel Baptist Church, Newtonville, and 7.30 will speak at Eliot Church on "The Christian Standard of Social Purity."

On Monday he will address the pupils of the Classical High and Technical High schools in the morning, a mother's meeting at 3 P. M., at the Y. M. C. A. where his subject will be "How shall we teach our children about the great truths of life?" and at 7.30 P. M. at the Y. M. C. A. he will speak to men on "Sexual Hygiene."

The Great and General Court began its 134th session last Wednesday by re-electing President Greenwood in the Senate and Speaker Cushing in the House, and appointing the committees for the year.

The policy of this city in sending good men to the House as long as they care to serve was again vindicated by the important committee assignments given all three gentlemen. Mr. Bothfield has perhaps the most important judging of the Charles River, a matter with which Mr. Bothfield is very familiar. Mr. Bothfield also retains his place on the Committee on Rules. Mr. Ellis is placed again at the head of the House Committee on Railroads, a committee which, in view of the public hysteria regarding railroad monopolies, needs men of strong common sense. Like Mr. Ellis, Mr. White has received a notable promotion, being made the working chairman of the important Committee on Rules—a position which will exactly suit the gentleman from Upper Falls. In addition, Mr. White is made the ranking member of the Ways and Means Committee—possibly the most important committee in the House when viewed from an estate standpoint. Our representatives have a splendid opportunity to continue the splendid work they have done in the past, not only for the city, but for the Commonwealth.

Two new committees have been established this year—one on Social Welfare which will consider such subjects as a minimum wage, old age pensions, welfare of dependent children, widows and orphans, retirement systems and similar matters. Mr. Ellis is a member of this committee, and it is needless to say that these matters will require great deal of consideration. The other new committee is entitled Municipal Finance, and the growing importance of that subject will also require considerable time.

Governor Foss was inaugurated as the chief executive yesterday for the third time and for the first time in a half century a Democrat was installed as the lieutenant governor, Hon. David I. Walsh having that unique honor.

Newton is again represented in the Governor's Council, Hon. G. Frederick Simpson taking his seat as the councillor in the sixth district.

Next week I shall attempt to give some idea of the number and scope of the hundreds of petitions and bills which are being filed so rapidly with the clerks of the two branches, but it will be several weeks before they can be all printed and actual work begun on their consideration.

EDITORIAL

The splendid work done by Congressman John W. Weeks in carrying the new thirteenth district last November, not only for his own re-election to Congress, but the aid extended to every Republican candidate for the House and Senate in that district,
is now being used as an argument against his election to the United States Senate, as the successor to Hon. W. Murray Crane. In sharp contrast with this attitude of Captain Weeks, is the position taken by his rival for the senatorship, Hon. S. W. McCall. The latter declined to be a candidate for Congress in his own district, and in consequence the Democrats not only carried his congressional district, but also elected several additional representatives in the State House. To penalize Captain Weeks under these circumstances, will not appeal to the sense of fairness and right, which we,
in Massachusetts, claim as our inherited characteristics. Mr. Weeks is a valuable member of the National House of Representatives, but with the large Democratic majority in that body, he can better serve the state as a member of the United States Senate, and if our legislators have the best interests of Massachusetts at heart they will cast their ballots for our fellow townsman.

Warm hearted, impulsive and generous, Mr. Henry F. Ross will be sadly missed by the many friends he has made during his forty years' residence in this city. Always full of energy and enthusiasm, he was a tremendous power in the community,
and exerted a strong influence on everything in which he was interested.
Straightforward and honest in his conduct, he had a hatred of sham
and hypocrisy and never hesitated to express his opinion of what he felt to be wrong. This city, state and nation needs men like Mr. Ross, strong men, virile men, men of enthusiasm and energy, and when men
of that nature pass on to the better land, the community suffers a serious loss.

For over a generation the kindly face and snow white beard of the late Joseph D. Wellington, the former City Messenger, was a familiar sight to everyone who had business at the City Hall, and there will be many who will miss the always friendly greeting of "Uncle Joe."

It is indeed a Happy New Year for the police and firemen, whose well-deserved increase in pay went into effect on Wednesday. In addition, the latter will also have one day off in five as soon as the necessary men can be obtained.

A hotel in Switzerland bore on one of its walls the time-honored inscription, "Hospes, salve!" ("Welcome, stranger!") After rebuilding, the building, the above legend had to be restored; but the painter, who must have had some experiences as a traveller, made a very slight alteration
in one of the words, and the inscription now reads, "Hospes, solve!" ("Pay, stranger!")—The American.

Here is a true incident of politics
in New Hampshire: Scene: Suburban electric car crowded with delegates going to the capital to attend a State convention. Enter lady to whom a man gives up his seat. Enter another lady to whom a second man surrenders his place. Voice from the corner: "Well, I suppose I'll have to be a-gettin' up soon; but seem' I ain't running for office, I guess I'll set a while longer."

A Glance at Some of the Interesting Happenings of Last Year

The year 1912 which has just closed
has been an interesting one from a Newton standpoint, whether viewed politically, socially or commercially.

A glance over the files of the Graphic recalls many events of considerable importance to this city. Probably the most important items are those relating to the deaths of the year, and the total number of prominent persons who have passed on, is large and disheartening. Among them are noted men like Albert Metcalf,

dergo an operation for appendicitis.

cept a position in the Boston office of the Lowell-Saco Co.

—Mr. Edward Arnold and family who were guests of Mr. and Mrs. John Spencer of Williams street over Christmas, returned to their home at Winthrop Saturday.

—Mr. Thomas Roland Newton, a former well-known resident of this village, died December 13 at Jesi, Marche, Italy. Deceased was a resident here and was employed at the Newton Mills for 19 years. He returned to his home a year ago in September after retiring from active work.
He was 76 years of age and is survived by a wife, four sons and three daughters.

The Men and Religion Forward Movement received considerable support in this city early in the year and several men's organizations were formed to carry on the work. Two new church buildings were dedicated during the year, that of the United Church at Waban, in September and a new Hebrew Synagogue at Newton
in December. A new Baptist Church was organized at Newton Highlands under the leadership of Rev. George T. Baker in the fall and Rev. Charles F. Rideout D. D. retired from the pastorate of the Upper Falls Baptist Church in the spring.

Politically this has been an important year. The efforts of our city government were successful in the winter in defeating the obnoxious Metropolitan Planning scheme which would have eventually taken away our city independence. By a vote of the legislature, the presidential primaries held in the spring were under the direct election method, President Taft carrying the city by a vote of 2021 to 1200 for Col. Roosevelt. Senator Crane gave notice of his retirement from the national senate and Congressman John W. Weeks of this city, made a stirring canvas for the Republican nomination in a district
which has been almost entirely changed, won a clean cut victory and will be a candidate for Senator Crane's seat the present month. This will be the last senator elected by the legislature, as an amendment to the national constitution, providing for the direct election of senators in the future
was accepted by the Massachusetts Legislature in the spring. Another act of the legislature which created considerable stir was the granting of a location for a railroad across this city to the Grand Trunk railway. While the city was naturally aroused over this matter, subsequent events have vindicated the judgment of our representatives and in all probability the matter is dead.

In municipal affairs, the most important matter was the revision of the building ordinances, which was done
by a commission composed of Messrs
C. M. Goddard, James D. Colt, Lewis
H. Bacon, William J. Gannon and Alderman Higgin. The new Building Code was accepted and seems to be working in a satisfactory manner.
The tax rate, by a large increase in personal property valuations was lowered 20 cents and now stands at $17.40. The city government has authorized the granting of pensions to city employees, gave the laborers a half day holiday on Saturday during the summer months, established a new system of accounting, created the office of purchasing agent, only to have it vetoed by Mayor Hatfield, and the people voted at the last election to give the firemen one day off in every five.

There was a strong protest made in the spring by the church and temperance organizations to prohibit the granting of licenses to sell liquor by druggists but the aldermen by a close vote decided to continue the former custom.

Other interesting events include the establishment of the first trolley express by the Boston & Worcester Street Railway Co., the service of the local company of militia at the great strike at Lawrence and the retirement of Capt. C. W. Gould of that company
later in the year on account of business changes, the opening of the new Cambridge subway, constructed at a cost of $7,500,000 by which Newton
has a thirty minute service to Park street, Boston, the authorization of work on the new Boylston street subway, which when built will still further shorten the running time to Boston, the enlargement of the Free Library Building at a cost of $40,000,
the widening of Margin street at West Newton at a cost of $9,000, a supervision of playground instruction, a new auto patrol wagon in the police department and a new combination wagon for the fire department, the strike at the Saco and Pettie Mills,
a similar strike at the Saxony Worsted Co., the opening of the Newton Opera House, the relief of the street car congestion at Nonantum square
after years of agitation, and the protest made against the use of Farlow park as a playground.

Newton men were honored by fraternal organizations, three being chosen to the highest office in the gift of the state bodies. Mr. Frank L. Nangle being elected Grand Con-ducator of the Knights Templars of Mass.
and Rhode Island, Mr. Will C. Eddy,
the Grand Chancellor of the Knights of Pythias and Mr. George F. James being made the Grand Chief Ranger of the order of Foresters.

LOCAL HAPPENINGS

Several members of the Waban Woman's Club braved the storm on Monday afternoon but were greatly disappointed as Mr. Ellis, the lecturer, did not arrive. After a short business meeting and general discussion the meeting ended with a raising vote of thanks to Mr. William Saville, who had kindly offered his services and his stereopticon to portray the pictures illustrating Mr. Ellis' lecture on Russia.

The Monday Club of Newton Highlands met at the home of Mrs. G. A. Salmon, 999 Walnut street, on the 30th, and passed a most enjoyable afternoon in a musical atmosphere.

Miss Pope read a paper on the "Growth of Music in Massachusetts since 1815." Folk songs and War songs were sung by Mrs. Tewksbury and typical music of forty or more years ago was played by Mrs. E. C. Winslow and Mrs. N. C. B. Robbins. Mrs. Pope spoke of the formation of the various musical societies in Massachusetts in the last century, and of the influence some of the pioneers in music had on the growth of the science here. Dr. Lowell Mason was especially noted.

The second part of the program was given by the "Victrola," records chosen by the main from the beautiful vocal selections by famous artists of the world and representative symphony orchestra rather than from those of Massachusetts alone.

The Indian Song sung by Janet Spencer, of Boston, was a notable exception. Among the other singers were Madam Hoffer, Geraldine Farrar, Tetravlin, Lucy Marsh, New York City Trinity Choir. The Berlin Symphony orchestra also gave a fine record.

The annual visitation of the Monday Club of Newton Highlands to the City Home was made last Saturday afternoon, and the interesting program arranged by the club members proved very enjoyable to the inmates. The club members, numbering 20, met at the home of Mrs. Phillips, and from there, adorned with gifts, the inmates, proceeded to the home on Winchester street.

The guests were taken on a round of inspection by Mr. John Ewart, superintendent of the home, after which a program consisting of a sketch by the club children, Todd Wallace, Betty Fairchild, Marion Griswold and Edward Luitwieler, a recitation by Flora Barton, vocal selections by Mrs. M. S. Wallace and Mrs. F. S. Fairchild, and a sketch by Ruth Thompson and Todd Wallace, was presented in an enjoyable manner.

Refreshments were served during the afternoon, and each woman was presented with a scrap basket and each man with a necktie by the club.

On Tuesday morning, the Auburn-dale Review Club had a very enjoyable program on Home Economics in which Mrs. Sisk, Mrs. Cole and Mrs. Dike took part. The beginnings and later development of Home Economics were treated in one of the papers and the question of teaching the subject in the public schools. Household Hygiene including, ventilation, dust, flies and the disposal of waste was considered and household Appliances vacuum cleaners, fireless cookers, bread and cake mixers and paper bag cooking, were also discussed.

The monthly business meeting of the Social Science Club was held at the Hunnewell Club on Wednesday morning. After the routine business the Stamp Savings Committee reported through its chairman, Miss Georgia H. Emery, its work for the past three months. The most significant fact noted was that the children have during that time saved $158. The collectors are members of the committee who go to the schools each week. They have found very hearty cooperation on the part of the teachers in the Underwood and Stearns schools.

At eleven o'clock the meeting was given over to the Consumers' League committee, who presented Miss Mary C. Wiggins of the Massachusetts Consumers' League. Miss Wiggins, who is well known to the members of the club, is always an interesting speaker. She gave a report of the present conditions in bakeries, overtime work in factories, etc., and then told of her trip during August and September in France and Switzerland investigating conditions of the stitching trade and the work of the European leagues. Mme. H. Jean Brunhes caught the inspiration from American Consumers' Leagues and in 1907 founded the "Ligue sociale d'Acheteurs" on foundations so sound that we find today 24 branches in the French Federation, vigorous leagues in Germany, in Switzerland and in Belgium, and an increasing interest in Spain and in Italy. All these countries are sounding today another note of appeal to the American who takes his conscience with him when he goes abroad.

An account of the characteristics of these foreign leagues and some of the things which they have done may be found in a new bulletin sent out by the Massachusetts League. This bulletin and "white lists" of the French Leagues may be obtained at 4 Joy street, Boston.

The Newton Mothers' Club held its annual luncheon-bridge at the Braburn Club on New Year's Day. There was an unusually large attendance and all had a very enjoyable time. The proceeds will go as usual for the philanthropic work of the club, which will be determined later in the season.

SOCIAL SERVICE LEAGUE

Holds Meeting and Plans Work For The Season

The first meeting of the Social Service League of the Newton Hospital was held Tuesday morning in the New Church parlors.

Mrs. George H. Collier gave an interesting and detailed account of the work and there was a good attendance of members.

This league was organized on December 16th, 1912, for the purpose of establishing a Social Service Department at the Newton Hospital.

1st. To aid the physician in his diagnosis and treatment by investigation and relief of social conditions.

2nd. To make available the philanthropic resources of the community and to co-ordinate medical resources; for example, eye, orthopaedic, dental clinics, etc., in restoring a patient to complete physical efficiency.

3rd. And not the least in importance; to carry the educational influence of the Hospital to the homes of the community.

4th. To be the agent of the physician and the executive management of the Hospital. It rests upon the fundamental basis of medical need and moves into social action only as a fulfillment of that need, acting as an intermediary or connecting link between the patients and the helpful resources of the city.

This Department hopes to prove its usefulness as an aid to the Hospital, not only in its efforts at social betterment, but in securing more lasting and satisfactory results with patients by enlisting family and community interests.

The Social Service Department is to help people indirectly by directing them to the best source of assistance, one perhaps for temporary shelter, another for help in getting employment, another for investigation of his social and financial condition.

It is impossible for the busy matron or the doctor to adequately "follow up," even the most urgent cases, and this work, a finishing-up of a good work well begun, is the object of the Department.

A case must be seen through to a practical conclusion; if the patient's former employment requires great physical exertion, the Social Service Department's duty is not fully done until it has seen him installed in more suitable work, and supplied with good living rations until he has gotten fairly to earning. We may not need to do all these things for him ourselves, but we must see that they are done.

Often times patients are enabled to return home sooner if a Social Service Worker can see, and better, the conditions at home, thus affording room for another patient sooner at the hospital.

The work directly in mind, is convalescent relief, although the field of usefulness is limited only by the number of workers available to do the work, and the necessary funds for the carrying on of the workers.

This Department for the Newton Hospital will have at the start, one salaried Social Service Worker trained for this field of work, and a number of volunteers from the members of the League, who will assist the workers.

Maintenance The Social Service Department is to be maintained by the League thru subscriptions and funds obtained by entertainments, etc.

When you see the weak made strong; the discouraged "down and out" men and women raised thru counsel or material assistance, if need be, to working efficiency, homes that were tottering restored to a firm foundation, then you may be sure that "the effort," as Dr. Richard Cabot says, of some of us, is worth while and that the establishment of a Social Service Department in our Newton Hospital will bring gladness and satisfaction to physicians and patients, to the Corporation, and to the Community.

HUNNEWELL CLUB

The children's holiday party last Saturday afternoon was one of the most delightful affairs of the kind ever given by the club. About 200 children were present and they were amused and entertained by Mr. Robert P. McLanehan with his "Plixies," which consisted of dancing dolls and marionettes, with several imitation animals and birds, including a parrot which made quite a hit with the youngsters. Two Teddy Bears, Miss Helen Ganse and Miss Madge Flinn and a bunny, Miss Esther Wing, also created considerable amusement when they came down on the floor among the children. Dancing and refreshments were also enjoyed. The affair was under the successful management of Mrs. Howard M. North.

There was a record attendance at the New Year's dance on Tuesday evening, altho this dance is always a feature of the winter season of the club. The matrons were Mrs. Edward R. PLYMOUTH THEATRE—When Mr. George Artiss, who is starring in "Disraeli," began his Boston engagement at the Plymouth Theatre, more than three months ago, the management had little idea that the play would supersede its already phenomenal New York success. Yet this is just what the play has achieved, when you consider all things. In the first place "Disraeli" has established the longest and most prosperous run of the season. It is the sort of play that, not only appeals to all classes of the theatregoers, but one that draws you to it time and again. In fact during its long run there have been many repeaters to see the play. Moreover "Disraeli" has evoked the highest praise from press, public and poet. This is your last chance to witness a play, whose success has been unparalleled in the history of the American stage in the past decade. There is an established rule at the Plymouth Theatre, which by the way houses the most fashionable playgoers, that the most careful and strict attention be given to all matters. It is safer for you to just your check or money order for seats right now, rather than experience the unpleasant discomfort of waiting in line at the box office. Matinees at the Plymouth are held on Thursdays and Saturdays.

B. F. KEITH'S THEATRE.—The event of the season in Boston vaudeville will be the appearance of Ethel Barrymore, the famous legitimate comedienne, at B. F. Keith's Theatre the week of January 6th. In many respects Miss Barrymore is the most notable capture ever made for vaudeville. The wisdom of Mr. Keith's judgment in the engagement of this talented actress for his circuit has been proved by the crowded houses that have everywhere greeted her. For her vaudeville tour Miss Barrymore has elected to appear in J. M. Barrie's one-act comedy, "The Tenthousand Lock." Miss Barrymore's engagement will be positively limited to one week only. She will be surrounded by one of the strongest and best vaudeville bills ever put together. Ed. F. Reynard, the ventriloquist with a production, will present his famous "Sett Dusenberry and Jawn Johnson in A Morning in Hicksville," combining ventriloquial skill with some remarkable scenic and mechanical effects. Still another brilliant feature will be the Great Alpine Troupe of European wire walkers, late feature of the Ringling Brothers' circus in startling feats in midair. Armstrong and Ford, the Englishman and the cop, will tell some daffydille and contribute some entertaining chatter and other bits of fun. Will Campbell and Grady, two new comedians from the West; Linton and Lawrence, in a new act; Arline and Adler, in burlesque magic; Peppino, king of the accordion, and many others.

EMANCIPATION DAY

Editor of Graphic:—

I wonder if this little bit of ancient history will be interesting to any one? Extract from Diary, and letter, written Jan. 5, 1864, from Beaufort, S. C., giving account of the 1st celebration of the Emancipation Proclamation.

Beaufort, S. C., Jan. 1, 1864.
"Cold and windy. Celebration by the freedmen of Beaufort and vicinity in honor of the Proclamation of freedom issued Jan. 1, 1863.

Jan. 2
"Very cold. Colored woman froze to death last night on the dock."

Extract From Letter

"Since my last there has been quite an excitement here; the celebration by the darkies, of this and the adjoining islands. A procession was formed and led by the (1st South Carolina) a colored Regt. marched out of town to where a stand had been erected, and there awards were presented to Gen. Saxton and Col. Higginson, by the darkies, speeches made and songs by the children of the colored schools. It was so cold and windy that I did not stay there long, so cannot tell you much about it, but will send you a copy of the "Free South" with an account of it. It was a curious looking sight, so many wigs, all sizes and shades of color, from the blackest black, to those you could hardly tell from white persons. One I saw who had red hair. Just imagine a muster on Winter Island with all the soldiers and spectators, colored, and there were thousands of them. It was very cold for this part of the country, but while I was cold with an overcoat on, little nigas were running around barefooted. A colored woman froze to death last night here. She wanted to cross the ferry, but the sentry would not let her, as she had no pass. She went away and laid down out of doors and they found her frozen in the morning."

At the time I wrote this I was only 22 years of age, and had no thought of 1913 or perhaps I might have gone more into details. If I had known what my regiment was to go through the next year and a half in Virginia, I would not have expected to live the year out, much less living now. I do not remember that the colored people had any objection to be called darkies or nigas, for they used to call each other by those names, but for one of them to call another a "contraband" was pretty sure to bring on a fight. Beaufort is on one of the "Sea Islands," famous for its cotton, and it was of this place that the song,

"Say, darkies, have you seen the massa with the mustach on his face go long the road some time this morning like he's going to leave the place? He saw the smoke way down the river where the Lincoln gunboats lay, so he took his hat and he left right sudden and I specks he's run away."

When I was there I did not see but one of the native white people. He was a prosperous store keeper, and they said the reason he did not run away with the others was because he was drunk.

CLARA BUTT AND KENNERLEY RUMFORD

The concert at Symphony Hall next Sunday afternoon, January 5th, will be given by Clara Butt, the most sensational contralto of modern times, assisted by the distinguished English baritone, Kennerley Rumford. Clara Butt is an extraordinarily beautiful woman, over six feet in height with wonderful stately grace. She has a voice which is in every sense appropriate to her wonderful physique. It is a great, mellow, rich and noble contralto that is said to be more nearly akin to the diapason of the cathedral organ than any human voice now known. Madame Butt is today the best beloved of English singers. Every good Friday she sings to an audience of twenty-five thousand in Crystal Palace, London. Recently she made a tour of Australia and South Africa, where her audiences averaged four thousand for each concert, something that even Paderewski has never done. In her program she has placed by special request Liddle's beautiful hymn "Abide with Me," which she will sing with harp and organ accompaniment.

LITTLE DEMAND FOR LEECHES

Almost Nothing Compared With What It Used to Be Only a Few Years Ago.

Forty years ago there were in Paris alone 10 wholesale dealers in leeches, each of whom sold between 300,000 and 400,000 leeches monthly, for which they received on an average about $50 a thousand.

Today there is only one dealer in the capital and he gets from six to seven francs ($1.20 to $1.40) a hundred. His name is Leya and he handles about 130,000 per month, his best market being the United States. He has sometimes half a million in stock.

In former times the Paris poor law administration purchased 80,000 francs ($16,000) worth a year; this was in the '30s and '40s of the 19th century; the administration now finds itself amply supplied with $40 worth annually.

The great breeding ground for French leeches was the marshes around Bordeaux. A poor peasant named Bechade was the creator of the industry. He rented a tract of marsh land for about $60, and this, when properly stocked with leeches, became worth $5,000.

Bechade collected the leeches by buying all the worn out horses he could get hold of and driving them into the marshes five or six times a month, especially in April, May, June, October and November. Bechade's business flourished, and when he died he was worth 1,000,000.

After a while the French leech trade was ruined, not only on account of the great decline in the demand, but on account of the accessibility of other sources of supply brought about by the improved facilities of transport, fast trains bringing them in a short time from Turkey, Bohemia and Dalmatia, and to a more limited extent from Algeria and Russia.—Medical Brief.

KEEPING CUT FLOWERS FRESH

Water Must Be Changed Frequently and the Blossoms Should Be Sprinkled Every Hour.

Almost the first thought that follows admiration for a freshly picked bouquet is how it can be preserved the greatest length of time? Many experiments have been undertaken to prevent flowers from fading—such as placing salt in the water, or nipping them off and applying sealing wax. We have tried all methods, and have come to the conclusion that changing water in which the stems are plunged frequently and sprinkling the flowers hourly, will keep them fresh and fair longer than will other treatment.

The water used should be tepid. The cooler the temperature of the apartment the better. Never leave flowers under a gas jet, or they will immediately blight. The last thing at night, change the water on the stems and sprinkle the flowers thoroughly. Tie over the vase or basket tissue paper which has been soaked in water. Over this tuck a newspaper. In the morning the flowers will be found as fair as the night previous.

Roses fade sooner than almost any flowers. Heliotropes will wither and blacken with the tenderest care. It should be dipped from a bouquet as soon as it loses freshness. Lilies, tulips, narcissus, euphorbias, hyacinths and all flowers with succulent stems can be preserved several days.

Retarding Home Influence.

A writer in the Boston Transcript remarks upon the new factors which antagonize home relations and absorb so much time and attention that home is a less constant factor and seems to the child less important than it did a generation ago.

"The school, not only with its regular work, but with its athletics and affiliated social interests, demands an increasing amount of time. The church, with its many organizations, calls for many evening hours as well as for a large part of Sunday. In some communities the children seem to have about as few hours for free, quiet home life as the busiest of business men, and the mother needs the best methods as well as the finest of spirit in the ever lessening amount of time she has to exert those influences which are recognized as the most potent as well as the most uplifting in life. The church is making a mistake in pushing so vigorously missionary, philanthropic and social organizations for women, while relegating to a minor place that organization whose aim is to strengthen the very heart of the social organism—the home. More attention should be given to the honoring and helping of motherhood."

Proper Gymnastic Work.

Every person who has received gymnastic training is aware of the fact that an exercise which calls for painful effort on the part of the beginner is often performed almost without any conscious effort at all after a certain amount of training has been received. Again, it is perfectly well known that brute strength alone does not make a gymnast, and that even a simple exercise may offer great difficulty to a muscular and well developed individual who has not been trained in the gymnastic. The explanation for this is made plain in an article by professor Dr. Bois Raymond in Die Umschau, who points out that one of the essential functions of gymnastic work is not so much to build up muscle as to train nerves and nerve groups to work in proper unison and co-ordination.

At a council of generals early in the war, one of them remarked that Major — was wounded, and would be unable to perform a certain duty for which he had been suggested.

"Wounded!" said Jackson. "If that is really so, I think it must have been by an accidental discharge of his duty!"

"We want to go to Boston!" he said. "What every evidence of resentment at his manner, she picked up her basket and screamed back, 'Well, who's a hinderer! ye?' and walked on."

LARGE COAL MINES

There are 735 coal mines in the United States which are producing more than 200,000 short tons of coal each annually. In 1911, according to a statement by Edward W. Parker, the coal statistician of the United States Geological Survey, 269 bituminous mines and 168 anthracite mines in Pennsylvania produced in excess of this amount. The average production of these Pennsylvania bituminous mines was 321,773 tons and of the anthracite mines 444,697 tons. The largest anthracite mine had a production of 1,020,429 long tons (1,142,870 short tons). The largest bituminous production from one mine (a Pennsylvania operation) was 1,285,483 short tons. Thirty anthracite mines produced over half a million tons each. Illinois was second to Pennsylvania in large mines, having 93 mines which produced more than 200,000 tons; West Virginia was third, with 69; and Ohio fourth, with 38. The total production of these 735 first-class mines was 253,459,639 tons, or 51.7 per cent of the total production of the country.

An old Scottish shepherd, faithful to the traditions of his clan, still wore the Highland kilt. One cold, raw day he was tending his sheep. His plaid was wrapped closely about him, but his bare legs were blue with cold. A fellow-clansman, who had been away from his native hills, came by, wearing an English overcoat. Observing the shivering shepherd, he asked, "Sandy, are ye no' could wi' the kilt?" "Na, na," replied the loyal Sandy, "but A'm near kilt wi' the cauld!"—New York Times.

EUGENE TSAYE RECITAL

Eugene Tsaye, by common consent of his greatest colleagues like Kreisler, Elman and Zimbalist, the foremost violinist of our time, will give his only recital in Symphony Hall on next Sunday afternoon, January 12th at 3.30. Tsaye, in America after an absence of eight years, shows that his hand has lost none of its cunning nor his tone any of the wondrous beauty which has made it unique among violinists of the world. He is still the supreme master of his art.

He has arranged a remarkably interesting program and inasmuch as it contains much music by the old classical masters of the 17th and 18th centuries, it will be full of melody.

HUNTING WITH THE FALCON

Kirghiz, More Than Any Other People, Probably Carry This Sport to an Extreme.

All wanderers are lovers of the chase, but for sheer love of sport and daring exploits the Kirghiz take the palm. Central Asia is the home of falconry, which was not introduced into Europe until the crusaders brought back falcons with them from their eastern wanderings. But imagine the ambition of the men who fly their birds at wolves and foxes instead of at quails and partridges! Not content with hunting game birds with small falcons, the Kirghiz capture and train the great golden eagles, with which they hunt such game as gazelles, foxes and even wolves.

A well mounted Kirghiz falconer, carrying on his wrist one of these magnificent birds, is a fine sight. The weight of the eagle is such that the owner requires a support for his wrist, and the hunters are usually to be seen with a little wooden bracket that supports the arm against the hip. The eagles are hooded, as all falcons are, but can be used only in winter, when they are hungry and keen. In summer they are fed on marmots and live a restful life, sitting in the sun in front of the tent doors.

When gazelles or wolves are the objects of the chase the eagles are aided by long sleek greyhounds of a small breed, the dogs running in and pulling down the quarry when the eagles have sufficiently bewildered it.

HIS LOVE BEYOND A DOUBT

Surely Impossible to Ask Further Proof After This Really Sublime Declaration.

"Do you love me?" he asked.

In reply the modern young girl looked at the modern young man with eyes pervaded with emotion.

"Do I love you?" she repeated. "I do. I love you psychologically, sociologically, economically. From the psychological standpoint, I feel that our different organisms are so nicely differentiated as to form a properly articulated area of combined consciousness. Sociologically, our individual environment has been enough in contrast to form a proper basis for a right union. Economically, I feel sure that when we come to combine we shall be able to introduce into the management of our affairs the right financial balance to produce the scientific result which every well-ordered and conducted business produces. And now, how do you love me?"

The young man reached forward. He clasped her swiftly but surely in his arms. He hugged her and kissed her alabaster cheeks and her ruby lips.

"How do I love you?" he replied. "My dear girl, I love you just as much as if you really knew what you were talking about."

Gospel of Forgetfulness.

The gospel of forgetfulness is now being strongly advocated by persons interested in various new-thought movements. The theory is to get rid of your troubles by forgetting all about them—by substituting happy, hopeful thoughts for the sad, despairing ones. The adherents of this gospel go so far as to claim for it a physical potency. They declare that illness can be cured by forgetting all about it.

This doctrine, like all the other doctrines that assume the control of mind over matter, is a splendid one when not pushed to the excess to which fanatical adherents are liable. Like the other doctrines, too, is as old as the human race, and has been put into excellent practice in all periods of history. Proverbs and epigrams have been written about it. "Worry killed a cat," "Let the dead past bury its dead," "Things past redress are now with me past care," "We are never so unhappy as we imagine," and the like, and in his "Cure for Heartache" Thomas Morton, the dramatist, advised, "Push on—keep moving."—Indianapolis Star.

Following the Hounds.

Smith was a great cyclist, but had rarely been on a horse. One day, when staying with a sporting uncle he thought he would like to follow the hounds, which were to meet near by, so he borrowed from a young relative a horse which was not much accustomed to the hunting field. At first he went steadily until the horse, being startled by a rabbit darting from a clump of grass, broke into a mad gallop. The rider was flung forward on the horse's neck.

"What are you doing, my lad, with your arm there?" jokingly called out his uncle.

"I'm feeling for the brake," was the muffled reply, "but I can't find it!"

Another Name for Sunlight.

Insects are often susceptible to ultra violet light (which is, of course, a component of sunlight), as experiments by L. Raybaud have recently shown, this fact perhaps explaining the aversion of some species to strong sunlight. In the rays from a mercury vapor lamp, such creatures as snails, houseflies, and tadpoles soon became torpid, and in the course of a few hours were quite dead. Young grasshoppers perished in about two days. Adult grasshoppers showed no apparent injury after a week's exposure, and spiders and beetles were unaffected.

WORKINGS OF THE CAMORRA

How an Englishman Was Politely Mugged of $300 by Italian Society.

A paeon of rejoicings has gone up in print over the verdict on the Camorra prisoners at Viterbo, and it is stated—rather previously, I fear—that the great secret society of Italy has been scotched. That Naples will no longer be its headquarters is probable, but it is so widely spread over the whole of Italy that it can be no more killed by imprisoning its Neapolitan leaders than you can kill an octopus by cutting off one of its tentacles. The society has local branches in every town of importance, and it adapts its methods to the status of the people whom it bleeds.

How polite the Camorristi can be a true tale of how an Englishman subscribed to its funds will show. The Englishman in question, a married man, took a house in one of the seaport towns of Italy, not Naples, and brought his English furniture with him. A month or two after he had taken up residence, a very polite Italian gentleman called on him and presented him with a bill for $300 for furniture bought from an Italian firm. The Englishman said that there must be some mistake, for he had bought no furniture in Italy, and his visitor then explained that the bill was the means by which he might subscribe to the local branch of the Camorra, and thus obtain its protection. There was no hurry about the matter, said the polite Italian, and if the Englishman did not care to pay at once the matter might stand over for six months.

The Englishman went to his consul, who referred him to the local head of the police. The local head of the police, talking as an official, promised him every protection if he did not intend to give the money, but as a private individual, suggested to him that $300 was not very much to pay to avoid all the anxiety that was entailed by being in the black books of the Camorra. The Englishman paid his $300 and holds the bill, duly receipted, for purely imaginary furniture, bought from a purely imaginary Italian firm.

CLAIMED FOR NEW YORK CITY

Origin of Popular Expression, "Let Her Go, Gallagher!" Said to Have Originated There.

The expression "Let her go, Gallagher!" is in use in nearly every city of the United States, and has traveled to foreign countries, yet it is doubtful if many can tell the origin of it. A group of men recently met in New York city and soon were talking of events that happened many years ago.

One of them told the story of "Let her go, Gallagher," and vouches for the truth of it, as he was present at the time it began.

"A number of delegates," said the veteran, "representing the Chicago fire department came to visit the New York fire laddies in the early '70s. They were shown about fire headquarters and inspected the different systems. Then they desired to see some of the crack companies. Their escorts brought them to look and ladder No. 14, in East 125th street, and while examining the apparatus an alarm was sounded from the West Side. Capt. Henry M. Jones bade the visitors jump on the sides of the fire truck and accompany the fire fighters to the blaze."

"Peter Gallagher was the driver of the team, and he quickly got to his seat on the truck. It swung out to the street, and the driver guided the horses to straighten out the ponderous machine. When in a position to take full speed and dash to the place where the alarm was sounded Captain Jones yelled to the driver, 'Let her go, Gallagher!'"

"The visiting firemen never forgot the command, and thus began the famous old saying that is in vogue to day."

Human Hair-Nets.

The annual sale of nets of human hair, according to the report of the American consul at Kehl, estimated at 12,000,000.

Hair-nets are made almost wholly in the houses of Alsatian and Austrian peasants; the peculiar skill required to net hair has become in part hereditary.

The children begin first to tie the hairs together, and to end, to make one long hair. Then, with only a round piece of wood about six inches long and one-half inch in diameter and a needle, the older girls and women—sometimes the men—weave the nets. Each mesh is knotted in much the same way that fish-nets or hark-mocks are made. Only tying a single hair is a more delicate and difficult task than tying a string.

To make a dozen nets is a day's work of ten or twelve hours.

Fact About the Mushroom.

A well-known botanist says that mushrooms might properly be called vegetable meat and used as a substitute for animal food. "It is doubtful, however, if this is true," says the American Medical association. "The more we learn of mushrooms, the more it becomes apparent that they are scarcely different as regards dietary virtues from the general run of the green vegetables which have never achieved the distinction of any unique or superior nutritive properties. They belong rather to that large group of food materials which we consume for reasons quite apart from the yield of nourishment which they have to offer to the body."

PIKES PEAK NOT THE HIGHEST

What is the highest mountain in Colorado? "Pikes Peak," nineteen persons out of twenty will answer, and incorrectly. The twentieth may know that the two highest mountains of the State are Mount Massive and Mount Elbert, both in Lake County, in the Leadville district. The altitude of each of these mountains, according to the United States Geological Survey, is 14,402 feet above sea level. The height of Pikes Peak is 14,108 feet. Moreover, there are fifty or sixty other peaks in Colorado approximately as high—over 14,000 feet. The lowest point in Colorado is 3,350 feet above sea level. Of all the States Colorado has the highest average altitude, estimated by the Geological Survey at 6,800 feet.

Although not the highest mountain, Pikes Peak is probably the best-known peak in the United States. There was at one time a Weather Bureau station on its summit, and it now has a substantial railway station at the terminus of the highest railway line in North America. It can also be reached by an excellent wagon road and trail which connect the summit with Colorado Springs.

DANCING PARTY

Miss Marjorie Marvin entertained a company of friends at a delightful dancing-party last week on Thursday evening, at her residence on Chestnut street, West Newton. The reception room and living-room were converted into a ball-room for the occasion, and were very attractively decorated with evergreen and laurel. About twenty couples, participated in the well arranged order of dances, and Cole's orchestra was in attendance and furnished a pleasing program of music. At the conclusion of the dance, refreshments were served.

CASTLE SQUARE THEATRE—John Craig is always on the watch for novelties for Boston theatre-goers, and he has secured "The New Sin," one of the most talked-about plays of the day, for next week at the Castle Square. "The New Sin" has a plot that is best revealed by the action of the play and by its characters, and therefore there is no need of giving it a summary. It deals with salient features of the life of today, its characters are real living human beings, and it holds the persistent interest of the audience to the very end. The leading role of Hilary Cuts will be played by John Craig, with Wilson Melrose, Donald Meek, George Henry Trader and Walter Walker in the other principal characters.

UNDER THE GILDED DOME

The overwhelming subject of discussion this week is the senatorship and the Republican caucus to name a successor to Senator Crane. Congressman John W. Weeks of this city is admittedly the ablest man in the field,
even supporters of his opponents agree with this statement, taking refuge in the time-worn excuse of "expediency." Massachusetts has always been represented in the national Senate by able men, and in consequence,
has been among the leaders in national legislation. Captain Weeks would measure up to the high standard of Massachusetts senators, and Republican legislators should be glad of the opportunity to vote for such a man.

The printers have not been able to print the numerous bills which have been filed, and in consequence, the committees have not been able to get to work grinding out legislation.

The state auditor has filed his estimate of expenses for 1912 and the total of $15,253,707.70 is about a million and a quarter less than in 1912, although last year had special miscellaneous items amounting to over $1,280,000, and as the present Legislature may easily equal if not exceed that sum, the grand total will probably be about the same. The auditor estimates the excess of expense over income at $5,400,000, indicating that the state tax the present year will certainly not be less than in 1912.

The largest item in the expense
budget is for charitable institutions, amounting to about $4,000,000, while charitable expenses are nearly a million more. It is interesting to note that the total of these two items are just a million dollars larger than in 1910. A 25 per cent increase in cost in 3 years is certainly moving a little.
The second largest item is for interest charges amounting to $1,380,000,
and reformatory institutions is third with about $1,200,000. The judiciary costs the state about $650,000 besides the expense borne by the several counties. Military expenses are $627, 000, and other expenses resulting from wars total $794,000.

While the estimated expenses of the Metropolitan park commission do not enter the state budget, as they are defrayed by the metropolitan district, Newton has a decided interest in them, as we pay our full share. The figures for 1912 are $425,714.32, as compared with $358,258.46 last year, an increase of about 20 per cent. In addition the park commission want $204,000 for metropolitan parkways,
an increase of $15,000. Nantasket Beach expenses jump $5,000 to $31,000
and the Charles River Basin expenses are $123,000 or $18,000 more than last year. Taken all in all the metropolitan park commission spends a great deal of our money.

WHERE MR. WEEKS STANDS

The following statement clearly indicates where Congressman John W.
Weeks stands in regard to matters of legislation:

It cannot be possible that some legislative actions are not ill advised, necessitating their appeal, in which case, were one to favor such action
he would be a reactionary; it cannot be possible that all of the things which have been done in recent years are wrong, therefore, some of them should not be changed and if one opposes a change under such circumstances he would be a stand-patter; necessarily,
in order to meet new conditions as they develop advanced legislation must be passed. If one follows such a course and is favorable to such legislation he is a Progressive; the best results in government are obtained through party organization. Some times the needs of one's constituents

may require that a legislator break away from the course which his party
is to follow on some specific matter, in which case, he is an insurgent. A good legislator will at some time follow all of these courses. A man who follows only one of them would be absolutely ineffective and very largely useless to his constituency.

PROTECT THE BIRDS

This week's ice-storm, if not quickly followed by the snow, means starvation to many of our most useful birds. The seeds of the weeds, etc., which form
the principal food of many of our winter birds, are covered with a coating of ice which is impenetrable to most of our birds. Even the trunks of many of the trees are ice-bound, and the chickadees and woodpeckers, our insect-eaters, are badly handicapped.

If the school children will help in distributing an occasional meal, much suffering and death can be avoided.
Pieces of suet or bones tied to trees
will feed many birds, and a few cents
worth of cracked corn or other grain,
or even bread, scattered in the gardens, fields, and along the out-lying roads, will provide for many more.

Our Newton birds have been increasing in late years, do not let a hard winter decide them. They can stand the cold, but not reduced rations.

ALDERMEN DINE

The annual dinner of the retiring board of aldermen was held Monday evening at the Woodland Park Hotel, covers being laid for 21. Mine host Miller prepared one of his excellent dinners and the menu was elaborate and choice. President Gray acted as toastmaster and the guests were Mayor Hatfield, City Clerk Grant and Clerk
of Committees Brimblecom. Remarks were made by the Mayor and by the members who retired from the board of aldermen in the present year. Aldermen Higgins, Williamson, Miller, Chadbourne and Moore. A telegram was received from Alderman Calkins, who is on his wedding trip in California. Gifts were presented to each person by Alderman Chadbourne, and Alderman Cox gave the use of his special car to take the members home.

RECEPTION

Rev. Dr. and Mrs. William C. Gordon were tendered a New Year's reception
last week on Thursday evening, in the chapel of the Congregational Church.
The chapel was attractively decorated for the occasion with evergreen wreaths and laurel.

In the receiving line with Mr. and Mrs. Gordon were Deacon and Mrs.
Nathan W. Bennett and Deacon and Mrs. William H. Blood.

During the evening a pleasing program of music was rendered by the Christian Endeavor Orchestra.

It was a very delightful social affair, and a large number of the parishioners were in attendance.
Refreshments were served under the direction of a committee of ladies.

"Is this a High or a Low Church?"
some one asked the sexton of Christ Church, Poughkeepsie, once. He seemed a little puzzled by the question, so the visitor said, "Have you candles on the altar?" "Oh, no, no," he answered, "the church is lighted by electricity!"

WOMEN'S CLUBS

Miss Grace M. Burt, Editor.

When it becomes known that the women of Newton are preparing to present the name of a woman as a candidate for the school committee it seems the signal for unusual activity on the part of the men to find the most popular man to defeat the women's action. At least it seems so in the present case. Why there should be any such feeling it is hard to understand, for the board today and for a number of years past has had women upon it who have served acceptably. The present vacancy, that caused by the death of Captain Howard, will be filled by joint action of the board of aldermen and the school committee. The club women are proposing the name of Mrs. John T. Prince to fill the vacancy, a woman who has had wide experience educationally and in recent years intimate association with the work of vocational guidance, a subject that is fast coming to the front and one that must soon be reckoned with. It is rumored that the present woman on the committee, Mrs. Davidson, is to retire at the end of this year, so that the election of Mrs. Prince would insure the retaining of a woman on the committee and at the same time secure one who is eminently fitted to hold the position.

"The Jewels of the Madonna" will be the subject of the first and "La Fete Bleue" of the second. Mr. Hubbard is a former dramatic critic of the Chicago Tribune and is a very interesting speaker.

Local Happenings

At the last meeting of the Pierian Club held on New Year's day two papers on "Irish Literature" were presented by Mrs. Mills and Mrs. Easterbrook. There was the usual social hour following the program.

On Monday afternoon the Newton Model Club held its regular monthly meeting at the home of Mrs. F. E. Jones of West Newton. Rev. Richard T. Loring of St. John's Church spoke upon "The Emmanuel Movement."

Mr. Loring has worked with Dr. Worcester, so was able to give first-hand information, which proved very interesting. He explained the movement and gave advice as to how to live and how to keep cheerful and happy, which is the basis of the whole matter. Light refreshments were served during the social hour.

At the meeting of the Newton Highlands Monday Club on Jan. 6 Miss C. L. Cushing gave a paper on "Massachusetts Newspapers," Mrs. A. E. Martell on "Massachusetts Magazines," and Mrs. E. C. Winslow on "Massachusetts Books."

Mrs. Robert Clark as the hostess on Monday afternoon for the meeting of the C. L. S. C. of Newton Highlands. Mrs. Edward G. Swift was in charge of the work for the day and presented the French, Dutch and British Guianas. These countries, she said, are considerable least important of any of South America. They are tropical countries similar in climate and vegetation to Brazil. Every nation of the world is represented among its inhabitants, there still being a considerable number of Indians. The labor is performed by coolies introduced from India.

Gentlemen's Night was observed by the Newtonville Woman's Guild on Tuesday evening at the New Church parlors. During the first half-hour Mr. and Mrs. Irving O. Palmer and Prof. Bliss Perry, the speaker of the evening, received the guests, after which followed the address on "Local 'Yankee' American Story Stories." Prof. Perry described four distinct types of persons as he has found them in America and then pointed out how they have been treated in literature. He said that there is a greater bond between North and South at present than between New England and the West. At the close of the lecture refreshments were served under the direction of the social committee.

On Wednesday morning the Social Science Club opened its course on Socialism with a very interesting presentation of "Historic Socialism" by Miss Jessie M. Fisher. She began by saying that the solution of the social question has become the great task of the 20th century. It is a subject which concerns all classes, is a growing power throughout the world and is forcing its way to the front of all kinds of problems. In view of these facts let us seek to know the truth—to study socialism with good will and an open mind. The first use of the term, socialism, was in a paper called "The Poor Man's Guardian" in England in 1833.

In 1835 Robert Owen founded a society in England called "The Association of the Classes of the Nations." Soon after the term Socialism was borrowed by the French to express the necessity for social reconstruction and improvement. As generally understood, it means the most modern form of the revolutionary spirit with a suggestion of anarchy and dynamite. But every new movement of any moment has its revolutionary stage in which it upsets and disturbs existing beliefs and institutions.

The socialistic theory is based on the idea that the course of evolution has been for centuries tending to separate society into two classes, the wealthy and the dependent. While the basis is economic, the prevailing socialism carries with it a change in the political, ethical and artistic arrangement of society, which would constitute a revolution greater than has ever taken place in human history.

Miss Fisher then traced the growth historically touching upon the work and theories of Robert Owen, in England, Saint Simon and Fourier in France, Karl Marx in Germany and pointing out that socialistic ideas have gained credence in about every country of the world. It is to be noted in Zealand we must go to find a democracy which is in reality a government of the people, by the people, for the people.

The labor problems of the present day were considered. In conclusion she said that "To guide the vast and ever-growing labor movement of the world into paths which shall be wise, righteous, peaceful and happy, this is the task, and we hope, will be the achievement of the 20th century."

Literary Conference

On Friday of last week the department of Literature and Library Extension held a conference at the Boston Public Library. Mr. The Hon. Arthur White, the new chairman, was in charge. The general subject was "The Relation of Contemporaneous Literature to Contemporaneous Life." Mrs. White explained the emphasis will be given to contemporary literature that is related to contemporary life. She said it is necessary for club women to get away from the academic idea of literature—the idea that a book or a play must be very old to be good; that nothing modern has merit. This idea was illustrated by the two writers who followed. Mrs. Josephine Preston Peabody (Mrs. Lionel Marks) read from her own writings, giving "The Singing Man," and "The Open House." She was followed by Miss Angela Morgan, who recited her own poems, "Today," and "Answer." The latter addressed to employers who refuse to pay women a living wage, and in response to the applause of the company recited "Know Thyself," another of her poems.

Miss Alice H. Spaulding of the Brookline High School told of what is being done there in dramatic technique. "Children," she said, "will have entertainment. The influence of the theatre in setting up standards and ideals of life is recognized today as never before. In ten years from now these young people will establish the morale of the communities in which they live. We are studying the history of the drama and the children are finding out why it was a great force in one period and not in another. We are trying to fasten it to the present day by studying the best modern plays, getting away from the dry bones of literature. We also encourage discussions, but are very careful not to do anything that would seem like advertising or give offence to anyone."

Mrs. White, before the opening of the discussion on the topic, said we must get away from the idea that only the old in literature is good.

VETERANS DEAD

Mr. John Prior, for many years the night watchman at the City Hall, died last Monday at the Massachusetts Homeopathic Hospital, in Boston, after a long period of failing health. Mr. Prior served the City as night watchman for 18 years, retiring some months ago on a pension on account of his physical condition.

He was born in Rhode Island Nov. 7, 1844 and was 68 years of age. Mr. Prior had a splendid record in the Civil War. Enlisting when 17 years of age in Co. H 4th Rhode Island Volunteers, he served for three years and then re-enlisted in Co. C, 27th Mass. being discharged June 26, 1865. He took part in the engagements at Roonoke Island, Newborn, Camden, Fort Macon, Antietam and Fredericksburg, and was wounded in the foot at Newborn and in the hip at Antietam. He was also at Fort Fisher, and took part in Sherman's Carolina campaign, being wounded in the groin at South-west Creek and captured with his entire regiment and taken to Libby prison, from whence he was subsequently exchanged.

He is survived by a widow and one son, Mr. Andrew Prior, the sealer of weights and measures. He was a member of Charles Ward Post, G. A. R.

Funeral services were held yesterday morning, with prayers at his late home on Cherry street, West Newton, followed by a high mass of requiem at St. Bernard's Church, Rev. Fr. Cronin, celebrant. There was a large attendance, including many city officials. The bearers were Captain John Ryan, Thomas L. Dolan, John Ennis, Daniel F. Riordan, Martin and James Cahill. The interment was at Calvary Cemetery, Waltham.

Y. M. C. A. NOTES

At a meeting of the Bowling Committee, Tuesday night plans were perfected for a 12 team tournament to start next Monday evening. Tonight a roll off will be held between the teams captained by S. A. Poad and J. R. Frye to determine the championship of the previous tournament. At the close of the season Mr. Poad's team lead by 1 point, but it was later found out that six men rolled one night, giving the opposing team one point and tying the teams.

Horace A. Loomis, assistant physical director has returned from his home in North Adams, where he had been spending the Christmas holidays, accompanied by his bride. The wedding came as a secret even to the most intimate friends of Mr. Loomis. The bride was formerly Miss Jessie Bellows, and was a school chum of Mr. Loomis in his home town. The couple are now living at 3 Melville terrace, Watertown.

Newton defeated Brockton Wednesday night in a spectacular basketball game 23 to 13. The game attracted the greatest number this season and the game caused wild enthusiasm to be displayed by followers of each team. Capt. Jacobs, Cady and Miley displayed excellent form, always being in the middle of the fray. Many penalties were imposed on both teams, the visitors scoring 9 points and the home team 7 points from fouls.

The members of the Princeton team still lead the Junior A basketball league with 65 points. The Harvard team ranks second with 54 points, Yale third with 51 points and Dartmouth last with 45 points. In the indoor baseball league the Tigers are first with 5 victories and two defeats. The other teams rank as follows: White Sox won 5 lost 3; Browns won 5 lost 3; Athletics won 3 lost 5; Senators won 3 lost 5 and Red Sox won 2 and lost 5.

CRYSTAL WEDDING

A very pleasant occasion was the celebration of the fifteenth anniversary of their marriage, by Mr. and Mrs. John H. Manter of 1290 Washington street, West Newton. Friends and relatives to the number of seventy-five gathered at their home on Monday, January 6th, at 8 P. M., and spent a very enjoyable evening.

Mr. Manter is a Past Grand of Newton Lodge, No. 92, I. O. O. F., and Mrs. Manter is Past Noble Grand of Tenneyson Rebekah Lodge, and many of the guests were from the above orders. There were many beautiful presents of China, solid silver and cut glass. The entertainment consisted of readings by Mrs. Ala Farmer and Mr. Charles Potter and vocal and instrumental music by the Misses Anna, Cecilia and Frances Skelton. Refreshments were served, and the guests departed wishing Mr. and Mrs. Manter many happy returns of the occasion.

HUNNEWELL CLUB

The Hunnewell Glee Club has begun rehearsals. The club had a very successful season last year, being composed of 18 members of the Hunnewell Club, and from present indications, a much larger number will be enrolled this season.

The Lauriat Company are now busy re-arranging their entire stock after the Christmas rush and in preparation for the coming annual inventory. Books that for any reason they wish to close out—odd lots, small remainders, sample copies and sets, etc.—are all being set aside on special counters, to be offered at whatever prices are necessary for quick sale. This means bargains for book lovers such as are offered at no other season of the year.

Miss Lillian Brine entertained a company of friends on Saturday evening at a birthday celebration at her home on Harvard street.

The rooms were elaborately decorated with laurel, roses and cut flowers, and about thirty guests were present. A rather novel form of entertainment was introduced, when each gentleman was furnished with a needle and thread and requested to work a button hole. A prize was offered to the one who succeeded in first completing one. Mr. Jack Croke was the fortunate winner and was presented with a handsome platinum stick pin.

At the conclusion of the work the guests repaired to the dining room, where refreshments were served. A red and green color scheme was carried out in the table decorations and the centre piece was a large birthday cake, surrounded by red candles. Among the guests from out of town were Mr. and Mrs. James Brine of Cambridge, Mr. Louis Brine of Arlington, Mr. Arthur Brine of Brookline, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Brine of Watertown, Mr. Wallace Brine of Somerville and Miss Beatrice Brine of New Hampshire.

MRS. FISKE COMING

On January 20, Mrs. Fiske, on whose shoulders rests so gracefully the mantle of American stage leadership, is to begin an engagement of two weeks only, with Wednesday and Saturday matinees, at the Hollis Street Theatre. It has been two years since Mrs. Fiske was last seen in Boston and this added to the fact that she brings this time one of the greatest successes of her brilliant career, "The High Road," by Edward Sheldon, should make the engagement as memorable as was that of her revival of "Becky Sharp," which her last local appearances were made.

B. F. KEITH'S THEATRE—One of the biggest novelties of the season will be presented at B. F. Keith's Theatre next week, in "At The Movies," a spectacular comedy of life in the moving picture theatres, by Hamish McLaurin. The piece is in three scenes, showing in turn the exterior of the theatre with the crowd bustling about and preparing to enter to see the show; the rear of the theatre, and finally, the interior of the theatre itself. In this last scene is introduced a burlesque film taken especially for this production, and entitled, "For Love's Own Sweet Sake," which is screamingly funny travesty on the impossible and absurdly ridiculous love stories that form the principal attraction in the picture theatres. Other big features of a splendid bill will be Tim McMahon and Edith Chappelle, who have not appeared at this house in years, in their latest comedy sketch, "How Hubby Missed The Train." Linden Beckwith, the magnetic mistress of melody; Four Clowns, muscular marionettes from the Olympia, Paris; Rosa Crouch, and George Welch, Ilvest of singers and dancers; Bowman Brothers, the blue grass minstrel boys; Burr and Hope, in "A Lady, A Lover, and A Lamp;" Merlin and his pack of cards; Jed and Ethel Dooley, comedy cycling marvels; and Pathe's Weekly, with all the world's news in pictures.

BOSTON THEATRE—The biggest thing scenically ever attempted upon a stage is what is said about "The Garden of Allah," which will be seen at the Boston Theatre on Monday, January 13th, for the first time in this city. The play is a dramatization of the novel of the same name by Robert Hichens. The locale is the desert of Sahara and its environs to the north. The story briefly told deals with a trappist monk who becomes wearied of the monastery and yields to his natural impulses. He wanders off into Morocco and its environs, and at a dance hall in Biskra meets and falls in love with a wanderer like himself—but one of the female persuasion who confesses she is a gypsy. He constitutes himself her protector, which eventually leads to love and marriage. Their adventures in the desert and the discovery by the wife that her husband is a monk who has broken his vow to the church—her renunciation and his return to the monastery, form a story of absorbing interest. The pictures of the Orient, the caravans, horses and animals in the desert, its melange of Eastern peoples and Occidentals, its vision of the desert and its luxuriant gardens are fascinating, and far in advance of everything ever attempted heretofore upon the stage. The cast of players includes Dorothy Donnelly, Lawson Butts, Arthur Forrester, Bob Ruben, Frank Kingston, Franklin Hurlough, J. D. Walsh and Florence Johns.

HOLLIS STREET THEATRE—John Drew, the leading American exponent of light comedy types, may always be expected in one of the brilliant comedies that gladden his public. He is playing a two weeks' engagement at the Hollis Street Theatre in "The Perplexed Husband" by Alfred Sudo. This four-act comedy created a great sensation in London when it was first produced this year because of its satirical attack upon woman suffrage and the amusing situations that arise when "the new woman" is confronted with that almost unknown being, "the new man." It would not be quite correct to call "The Perplexed Husband" a problem play, but it is surely a problem comedy. When Mr. Drew first appeared in it at the Empire Theatre, New York, where each year he seems to quietly usher in the theatrical season, the dramatic critics were agreed in their opinion that Mr. Drew has not had in recent years such a sparkling and timely vehicle in which to demonstrate his fine ability as a polished actor.

Rev. Albert Hammatt gave the second in his course of lectures on Monday evening in the parish house at the First Universalist Church, to a large and appreciative audience. The lecture was on London, and Mr. Hammatt spoke graphically of the many historical points of interest and treated his subject with a keen appreciation, introducing many delightful touches of humor. No finer projecting has ever been seen in the city, as was done with the double-dissolving calcium stereopticon, and the pictures were shown with a great evidence. The same splendid stereopticon work will be seen on Monday evening, February 3, when Mr. Hammatt will lecture on England.

BOSTON OPERA HOUSE—"The Jewels of the Madonna," now definitely set for Friday evening, Jan. 17. Just as the composer, himself the offspring of a German-Italian marriage, combines the two nationalities in his temperamental makeup, so does the opera incline toward the rich modern harmonies of German opera in its orchestration, while at the same time retaining a flow of melody distinctly Italian. As was the case in "Louise" the street scenes call for a very long cast of characters and almost the entire strength of the organization will appear. The other bills for the week are: Monday, Jan. 13, "Pelleas et Melisande" with Mmes. Edvina, Gay and Fisher and MM. Riddez, Lankow and Mardones; Wednesday, Jan. 15, first subscription performance of "Carmen" with Mme. Gay in the title role, Miss Donner as Micaela and MM. Zonatiello and Mardones. "Hansel and Gretel" will be given on Saturday at the matinee in conjunction with "Cavalleria Rusticana." Mmes. Swartz and Fisher again will impersonate the children and Mme. Molis and MM. Gaudenzi and Rosel will be the principals in the Margari opera. The popular performance on Saturday evening will be given over to "Aida."

LASELL NOTES

A new office of registrar has been established at Lasell Seminary for Young Women at Auburndale. This office was made necessary through the large increase in students during the past year. At present there are 210 students enrolled in the institution. Miss Nellie M. Packard, for the past twenty-five years instructor in mathematics, has been selected as registrar and she will devote all of her time to her new duties. Miss Edith Collins of Baltimore will succeed Miss Packard in the mathematics department.

A movement has been started to form a San Francisco Lasell club. There is at present one Lasell club in Southern California but on account of the large number of former students in the vicinity of San Francisco the movement has been started. At present there are Lasell clubs in all sections of the country.

The Christmas number of the Leaves, the school publication, has made its appearance. Among the features of the new number are four special Christmas stories written by the students. The cover design in colors was drawn by Miss Gwendolyn Nelson. During the past year the Leaves has been much improved and enlarged so that it now compares very favorably with the publications of the larger colleges.

AUTO ACCIDENT

Mr. Herbert E. Smith, treasurer of the Burnham Soluble Iodine Co., met with a serious automobile accident on Saturday evening while driving his car on Commonwealth avenue. The electric lights were out of order and while near the corner of Cheever road he became confused by the lights of an approaching car, and accidentally ran the machine into a tree, breaking the fly-wheels, lamps and spring and cutting the tires in two.

Mr. Smith sustained a fracture of two ribs, and his daughter Dorothy was thrown through the glass wind shield, breaking a tooth and cutting her face so badly that six stitches were taken. The other occupants of the car were Mr. Smith's father, who escaped with slight injuries, and his niece, Miss Gertrude Goff, who was thrown violently into the gutter and rendered unconscious. They were carried to the Smith residence on Hawthorne avenue and attended by a physician.

NEW BOARD OF ALDERMEN

Elects Alderman Blakemore President and Hears Address from Mayor Hatfield

The inauguration of the new board of aldermen of 1913 last Monday afternoon, was attended by the smallest crowd in many years, notwithstanding the fact that one-third of the membership was entirely new.

abnormally high tax rate of 1910. As a result that year for the first time in the history of the city this Board passed a budget less than that for the preceding year, and during the whole of the year 1911 our city ex-

PRESIDENT ARTHUR W. BLAKEMORE

Courtesy Newton Times.

The old board of aldermen held its final session at two o'clock, unanimously sustained the mayor's veto of the ordinance establishing a purchasing department, received a report from Expert Accountant Amos D. Bee on his annual examination of the books of the city treasurer, ordered unfinished business referred to the next meeting, and then adjourned.

The new board was called to order at three o'clock by City Clerk Grant. Alderman Thomas J. Sullivan was chosen president pro tem. The roll called showed but one absentee, Alderman Miller of Auburndale. Alderman Parker, Early and Bartlett were appointed a committee to inform His Honor the Mayor that the board was ready for the inaugural ceremonies and Mayor Hatfield soon appeared accompanied by Rev. J. Edgar Park, pastor of the Congregational Church at West Newton, who offered prayer.

The oath of office was then administered to the members elect of the board of aldermen and to Mr. Oscar Nutter of the school committee, after which Mayor Hatfield made an address to the board.

At the conclusion of the Mayor's address, Alderman Arthur W. Blakemore was chosen president, and the board retired.

President Blakemore took occasion to thank the board for his election, saying in part, as follows:—

"The presence of many new faces among us today impels me to revive old custom in this Board by saying a few words at this time regarding the condition of the city and the work before us."

"It will be remembered that steadily increasing expenditures for a long series of years resulted finally in the

penses were kept within conservative limits.

Last year the dam broke and everybody who wanted anything from the City Treasury got what he wanted. The result is that the amounts already charged to the 1913 tax levy exceed those of last year at this time by $120,000. As each $1,000 which we spend means that the assessors must find taxable assets of over $56,000, this increase of $120,000 means that the assessors must this year increase assessments to the amount of $6,900,000 in order to keep our present high tax rate from going higher. Our average increase however in valuations is only about $2,000,000 a year, and the tax rate for 1912 was only held down through an abnormal increase of over $4,000,000, due in large part to the death of wealthy citizens, thus exposing their estates to valuation in the Probate Court. All this money will be in all probability withdrawn from taxation before April 1st, and the task that faces the assessors is a heavy one. I suggest that the Board keep closer in touch with the Board of Assessors than they have in the past.

I beg to suggest that there is grave danger arising from your considering only the merits of each particular appropriation laid before you without considering the total expenses of all departments. It is possible that all of the various expenditures suggested to you may be meritorious in themselves, but that the adoption of all might be disastrous to the city.

I beg to further suggest to you the danger arising from the courteous practice of this Board of unanimity on

DR. BOTHFELD DEAD

Well Known Newton Physician Dies After Short Illness

Dr. James F. Bothfeld, one of the best known physicians of this city, died last Sunday night at a private hospital in West Newton. Dr. Bothfeld had been critically ill for the past two weeks, with a malignant type of the grippe, and was first taken to the Massachusetts Homeopathic Hospital in Boston where an operation was performed for mastoid. He had somewhat recovered from the operation and resultant pneumonia and was brought to West Newton, where it was hoped he would fully recuperate.

He was born in New York City on Oct. 14, 1885 but the family came to Newton in 1868, and he had resided here practically all his life. He received his education in the Newton schools, and the Boston University, where he graduated from the medical school in 1887. He was first associated with Dr. J. H. Gallinger, now Senator Gallinger, at Concord, N. H., and later became assistant superintendent at the Westboro Hospital. In 1895 he began to practice in Newton and soon built up a large and successful business, as his ability and skill became known. For thirteen years he was one of the surgeons on the staff of the Newton Hospital. He was a member of the Massachusetts Homeopathic Society, the American Institute of Homeopathy and the Hunnewell and Newton Golf Clubs. He was also a member of Channing Church. Dr. Bothfeld married Miss Jennie F. Smith, the daughter of the late Judge Isaac W. Smith of the New Hampshire Supreme Court, and is survived by her and one daughter, Frances.

The funeral services held at the Mt. Auburn Crematory Chapel at noon on Wednesday were attended by many friends, including a large delegation from the medical fraternity and trustees of the Newton Hospital. Rev. Harry Lutz, pastor of Channing church, officiated at the simple but impressive services, and a male quartet sang "Crossing the Bar." "Abide with Me," and "Gathering Home." The pall bearers were Dr. William O. Mann, superintendent of the Mass. Homeopathic Hospital, Dr. Charles A. Davenport, Mr. William G. Soule, Mr. Mitchell Wing, Mr. Samuel H. Uhler of Newton, and Mr. William Crosby of Harvard. Mr. Fred H. Loveland and Mr. Charles N. Young acted as ushers. The body was cremated and the ashes placed in the family lot in the Newton Cemetery.

MY OFFERING

Dear friend, what can I send to you? I faint would offer something new, At Christmas time, but I have naught, Not even one new wish or thought.

Only the same old love; you know I sent it to you years ago. Only the memories of old, That never have grown changed or cold.

No, I have nothing new, and yet, I scarcely think I need regret That it is so, for you and I, Have precious things from days gone by.

And if good wishes good can bring, Mine are with you in everything. So take the old love tried and true, On from the old year to the new.

While calling on an old lady 80 years old yesterday, bed-ridden with a broken hip, she read to me the above lines and said that they had come from an old school mate friend 84 years old who was almost blind with cataracts.

I wonder if any of your readers received a better New Year's offering than this?

NEW TREASURER

Mr. Charles H. Clark Elected by Newton Savings Bank

At the annual meeting of the corporation of the Newton Savings Bank on Tuesday, George J. Martin was made a trustee, all of the old Board being re-elected. The Trustees subsequently chose as Treasurer, Charles H. Clark, formerly Vice-Treasurer, and as Vice-Treasurer, Herbert E. Currier, formerly Teller. The annual rate of dividend, which for several years has been 3 1/2 per cent, was raised to four per cent.

Mr. Charles Henry Clark, the new treasurer, is 33 years of age and was born in Watertown, Mass. He has been connected with the bank for the past 13 years, and has been vice-treasurer for the past 7 years. Since the death of the former treasurer, Mr. A. J. Blanchard, he has been acting treasurer. Mr. Clark is married and resides on Nonantum street, Newton.

Mr. Herbert E. Currier, the new vice-treasurer, has been connected with the bank for the past 7 years. He resides on Elm road, Newtonville.

MR. MCINTYRE DEAD

Mr. James William McIntyre died of pneumonia at his home, 151 Franklin street, Newton, late last Thursday, aged sixty-four years. Mr. McIntyre had been ill since Christmas, when he contracted a severe cold. He was one of the best-known men in the publishing and bookselling trade of the country and a member of the well known firm of Little, Brown & Co., of Boston.

The son of William Henry McIntyre of Boston, he was born in Boston on Nov. 1, 1848, was educated in the public schools and at the age of seventeen entered the employ of Little, Brown & Co., then located at 254 Washington street. With the exception of one year spent in the West, he had been with the firm continuously. When in charge of the retail book department, he was regarded as one of the best-posted men in the United States on old and rare books. He afterward became the firm's principal travelling salesman and subsequently the chief of the publishing department.

Mr. McIntyre became a member of the firm in 1897. Possessing remarkable business judgment and rare literary ability, he had been in a great measure responsible for its development and progress in recent years, both in the law and miscellaneous book publishing departments. He was active in the publishing of translations of Dumas and other French authors, and his own literary work included the editing of Daniel Webster's letters and speeches.

Mr. McIntyre leaves a wife and one son, Alfred R. McIntyre, who is a member of the firm of Little, Brown & Co.; also three sisters and a brother. The funeral services were held from his late home on Franklin street on Sunday afternoon, and were attended by a large delegation from the firm of Little, Brown & Co., and by representatives of all the publishing concerns in this part of the country. There were many beautiful floral tributes. Rev. Harry Lutz, pastor of Channing Church officiated, and the interment was in the family lot at Forest Hills Cemetery.

DANCING PARTY

Members of the Young Woman's Club of St. John's Church gave a delightful dancing party on Friday evening at the Newton Club. The hall presented an unusually attractive scene, with its decorations of palms and bay-trees and the merry company of dancers.

About 60 couples enjoyed the well arranged order of dances, a pleasant feature of which was the two German waltzes which were given. Russell's Orchestra was in attendance and furnished an exceptionally fine program of music. The matrons were Mrs. Richard T. Loring, Mrs. John B. Hebbard, Mrs. Edward P. Hatch, and Mrs. George B. H. Macomber. The ushers were Messrs. Condit, Gammons, Brown, and Reed.

The committee, under the chairmanship of Mrs. Hebbard, included Miss Edith Park and Miss Grace Clark.

A chance that comes but once a year is that offered by the Charles E. Lauriat Company in the January Sale of new and old books. The annual inventory takes place February first and January is the time of general "cleaning up," in preparation for it and after the strenuous days of the fall and holiday business. Shrewd book buyers are picking up some rare bargains.

CENTRAL CHURCH

Holds Its Annual Dinner and Business Meeting

The annual church supper and business meeting was held Friday evening in the parlors of Central Church. Supper was served at 6:30 and more than three hundred members were present.

Owing to the very large attendance that has always characterized this supper and makes it one of the chief social features of the church year, it was found necessary to secure the assistance of a caterer. The supper was in charge of a committee of forty ladies, under the chairmanship of Mrs. George F. Kimball.

Following the supper the annual church meeting was held and brief reports from the various departments of the church activities were read by Professor Boyden, clerk of the church, and Rev. J. T. Stocking, the pastor.

There is a general feeling of satisfaction among the parishioners, that the church is about to continue its earnest campaign of righteousness with such an able leader as Mr. Stocking, who is entering upon his eighth year as pastor, the longest time any minister has been associated with the church.

At the close of the meeting, Mr. Stocking presented brief memorials to Commodore Sawyer, Mr. Henry F. Ross, Mr. C. E. E. Strout, Ewart Caldwell, Mrs. Sherman and Miss Abbie Sherman, members who had passed away during the year. The following officers were elected for the coming year: Albert M. Lyon, Moderator and Member of Standing Committee; Wallace C. Boyden, Clerk and Member of Standing Committee; Joseph B. Robson, Treasurer and Member of Standing Committee; William E. Strong, Deacon and Member of Standing Committee; Mrs. William E. Strong, Deaconess and Member of Standing Committee; H. Philip Patey, Superintendent of Sunday School and Member of Standing Committee; Charles W. Hardy, Jr., Auditor and Member of Standing Committee; E. Earle Wakefield, Jr., Collector and Member of Standing Committee. Members of Standing Committee, ex-officio include: Albert M. Lyon, deacon for one year; Dr. David E. Baker, deacon for 2 years; G. Lyman Snow, deacon for 3 years; Mrs. George F. Kimball, deaconess for 1 year; Mrs. Wallace C. Boyden, deaconess for 2 years; Mrs. Walter A. Corson, deaconess for 3 years. Members of the standing committee from the church include: William H. Allen, Dr. William Otis Hunt, Mrs. Edward W. Greene and Robert A. Anderson. Members of standing committee from congregation: William L. Puffer, Shepherd M. Crain and Irving O. Palmer.

Murray Crane. This result came as the result of four days' caucus of the Republican members of the Legislature, Captain Weeks being opposed for the Republican nomination by Congressman Samuel W. McCall. Thirty-one ballots were cast by the caucus before Captain Weeks received the requisite number to nominate. The action taken by the caucus on Monday was promptly ratified by the votes of the House and Senate, cast separately on Tuesday and by the joint convention held Wednesday noon. Captain Weeks' term of six years will begin on March 4th next.

Mr. Weeks was born in Lancaster, N. H., April 11, 1860, and is a son of William D. and Mary Helen (Powell) Weeks. His early boyhood was passed on a farm. In 1881 he was graduated from the United States naval academy and for the following three years he performed sea duty as a midshipman. From 1886 until 1888 he was assistant land commissioner for the Florida Southern railroad, and in the latter year he formed the firm of Hornblower and Weeks in Boston with which he has since remained.

Because of his naval training and his active participation in coast defense work in the war with Spain, Gov. Wolcott made him a member of

began to show commanding influence in that body. Although lacking in polished periods as an orator and showing little or nothing of brilliance in debate, he became recognized as a man who could contribute in a businesslike way, exact and accurate information on pending legislation.

His second term saw him promoted to the ornamental post of chairman of the committee on expenditures in the state department, a committee without duties, but a chairmanship that carried a private office in the Capitol and a suggestion of leadership.

During the session, when Speaker Cannon was receiving general criticism from New England because of his opposition to the White Mountain forest reserve bill, he appointed Captain Weeks to the committee on agriculture. Contrary to general expectation, the Newton member succeeded in getting the bill out of committee. Then, on the speaker's promise to let him alone, he pushed the bill through the House.

In the 60th Congress Capt. Weeks re-drafted the bill, induced President Taft to endorse it in his message, got it before the House under a special rule in the closing days of the session and carried it through against the opposition of majority and minority leaders.

When the 61st Congress opened, the genius of the Massachusetts member was recognized by his appointment to the chairmanship of the committee on postoffice and post roads, perhaps the second in importance of the great committees.

The business ability of the new chairman was shown by the passage through both houses of his first great appropriation bill without substantial change. He was an opponent of the first suggestions for postal savings banks and declined to support the legislation until it should be drafted on lines fundamentally sound. The existing system, although unnecessary, in his opinion, may benefit some sections of the country without harming any vested interests.

As a member of the national monetary commission he has given painstaking and expert service to the epoch-making task of reforming the country's currency system.

With the revision of control of the national House to the Democrats Mr. Weeks was relegated to leadership (Continued on page 8)

USE OF MOURNING BORDERS

There Are a Few Set Rules, But Individual Taste Practically Decides the Question.

The average person chooses her mourning borders by individual taste rather than by rule and rarely changes the width until second mourning.

Good taste avoids the flaunting of grief and rarely countenances a border wider than a quarter of an inch, even for a widow. Even this is a trifle wide; three-sixteenths of an inch is a better width for widows, parents or children, and an eighth of an inch for a sister or brother.

The paper used is dead white linen of plain weave and lustrous. It is had from to have a mourning border on striped or fancy paper, even though the color is kept white. Where a transparent paper is liked, as for foreign correspondence or to save postage, besides the border there is a separate lining of black tissue paper for each envelope.

Addresses and monograms are often stamped in unrelieved black. Some persons prefer them embossed in relief without color, especially if there be telephone and telegram numbers in addition to the address. When these are all in black they look less overpowering if a miniature receiver and telephone pole and lines are used instead of the word telephone or telegram.

As mourning borders are expensive, the stationery of grief is costly. It can rarely be had by the pound as other papers, but sometimes is cheaper by the box, containing several quires. As there is usually a reduction for getting a large quantity, it pays to lay in a supply.

Correspondence cards carry the same borders as writing paper. When there are no engraved acknowledgments these cards are quite large enough for a few words of appreciation. Sometimes a sentence is written across the top of the visiting card.

Black bordered envelopes to fit the visiting card should be bought by the hundred, as the card will do social duty during the entire period of mourning.

HAS A LARGE VOCABULARY

Number of Words Used by Small Child Will Surprise One Who Is Not a Close Observer.

How many words does the ordinary child know? Fifty? Wrong. A hundred? Wrong again. Five hundred for a wild guess? A little nearer, but not much. The truth is that people underestimate the number of words their children can speak.

Take a paper and pencil, follow the child for several days, several weeks putting down every new word that is uttered. You'll find out some things that will surprise you. And when the word "child" is used, it does not refer to a boy or girl of seven or eight, but one of three.

An investigation recently made by following a child at that age and noting every word that was used, showed that it had memorized 1,771 different words. They covered practically everything with which the child came in contact, and were words the child had never heard before.

Another investigation of words used by children between 1 year and 15 months old showed that the lowest vocabulary that was reported included the use of 60 words. The highest was 232 words. From two years on, the vocabulary of a child increases rapidly, until at three years the average child has a vocabulary of at least 1,000 words.

"The Brave Old Oak."

Whether its branches show greener against a dark-blue sky—gold where the sunlight touches them—whether its leaves show magenta in the light of the setting sun, or black and silver in the moonlight, there is no tree on them all to compare with the oak.

All a summer's day you may lie stretched beneath it, so strong and so friendly, not to you only, but to all the little lives that swarm about its roots. All kinds of busy creatures, ants, spiders, daddy-long-legs, beloved of your childhood, go scurrying over you on this errand and that, as an afraid, almost, as if you were dead.

A feeling of kinship comes to you: a knowledge that all this life about you in oak and grass and insect, and the good dog lying at your feet, is but a little part of the ageless flux and reflux, soothingly as a cool hand on an aching head, there comes to you the realization that moon, stars, fates, loves and loves forgotten, your tired body shall rest under the trees all the day and all the nights.—Atlantic.

Looking Ahead.

The hotels in the west end of London were somewhat crowded—some what—during the busy summer months, and service in some of the restaurants was slow.

One morning a big well-dressed man walked into one of the hotel dining rooms and pounded on the table. A waiter came over.

"Breakfast bill of fare!" ordered the big man.

The waiter gave him one and stood at attention, whereupon the guest proceeded to order a most ornate breakfast. When he had finished he looked over on the waiter's record of the order and approved it.

"Well serve it right away, sir." "Serve it right away!" roared the big man. "Who asked you to serve it right away? I'm ordering this breakfast now for tomorrow morning."

A NEWTON ARTIST

Mr. Paxto's Mural Decorations for a Washington Club House

William M. Paxton's decoration for the Army and Navy Club of Washington was first shown last week at a private view held at the gallery of the St. Bonaparte Club. This large panel, measuring twenty by four and one-half feet, represents Neptune giving a "joy ride" to a blue-jacket.

Neptune, who is conceived as an old man with a flowing beard and hair of gray, armed with his trident, in driving his nautical trio of plunging and prancing horses, and is seated on a car composed of a boat-shaped sea shell. Fellow-passengers with the sea god, a sailor of the United States Navy in his white uniform, with blue rolling collar and loosely knotted tie, a blond Nereid and a smiling Cupid, are being propelled swiftly and joyously along the surface of the agitated sea. Another jolly little god of love is flying along above and slightly in advance of the car. Behind it are a mermaid and a triton swimming along as a part of the escort; the latter blowing lustily on a conch-shell horn. The sea horses are attended by two mermaids, one of them also blowing on a sea-shell horn, the other holding onto one of the steeds by a wisp of his mane. In advance of the whole brilliant cortege swims a fabulous sea monster whose head just emerges from the water.

This splendid group moves buoyantly and with an undulating, wave-like action, from right to left. The sea is of a deep blue, with green shades and foam in the foreground where it is stirred up by the sea god's flying chariot. In the distant background are the mountainous lines of islands, forming a rugged horizon of purple tones in a flat silhouette against the sky, which is blue aloft, with greenish passages as it approaches the horizon, and a faint rose tint below.

The exhilarating, animated, gay abandon of the cortege, its spirited and rhythmic movement, the luminosity and brilliancy of the coloring, with the beautifully rich and delicate flesh-tints of the mermaids, tritons and cupids as the predominant note in the scheme, combine to give an impression of glorious vitality and freedom. The color key is held very high, with intention, as it is adapted to the particular place in the Army and Navy Club's great hall that it is to occupy. Necessarily, also, it does not appear to the same advantage in the gallery, because of the low position, the difference in the lighting, and the different tone of the surrounding walls. It is a magnificent piece of decorative painting, dashing, abounding in life and spirit, and with many exquisite passages of fine workmanship.

The excellence of the design is also to be most emphatically pointed out. The disposition of the figures in the group, the spacing, the relations of the various bodies to one another and to the whole group, the outlines of which could hardly be bettered, have been studied and wrought out with meticulous care.

Mr. Paxton is to make a companion panel to this one, for the same room in the Army and Navy Club. While this completed decoration is dedicated to the idea of the navy, the other one, which has not yet got beyond the stage of the small preparatory study or sketch, will be, in its subject, dedicated to the idea of the army. It will depict Mars, the god of war, instructing a young soldier, Mars, seated, will occupy the center of the composition, naturally. At his side will be the young soldier in the picturesque blue and white uniform of 1812, with a shake on his head, all attention as he gives him the elements of his military education. To the right and left of these principal figures will be grouped the figures of horses, nymphs, cupids, etc., and Delona will be shown reclining at the side of Mars.—Transcript.

GREAT SUCCESS

First Entertainment Given By Gethsemane Commandery Knights Templar

The first entertainment of the present season given by Gethsemane Commandery, Knights Templar, was held Wednesday evening in the Masonic Building, Newtonville, and attracted a large and brilliant assemblage. A pop concert, whist and dance was announced as the attraction and Temple Hall, with its bunting, decorations and tables, about which gathered the Sir Knights in uniform and their ladies in full evening costumes, was indeed, a gay and festive scene. For over an hour, while the Sir Knights served their guests with sandwiches, soft drinks, ice cream, cake and candy, an orchestra, under the lead of Mr. Charles F. Atwood, rendered selections of popular music which were received with great applause, and a solo by Past Eminent Sir Knight Chase, of the "Good Old Summer Town" and a competition in the chorus work, aroused considerable enthusiasm.

While the tables were being cleared from the hall for dancing, an exhibition of floor work and drill was given by the commandery escort, under the direction of Adjutant A. E. Billings, in the asylum. The work of the escort was marked with a snap and precision, which met with the hearty approval of the audience. Mr. A. L. Walker sang two solos, which were also well received.

The grand march to the dance hall was led by Eminent Commander and Mrs. William L. Church, followed by the Grand Commander, and Mrs. Frank L. Nagle and other dignitaries. Dancing was enjoyed until midnight, music being under the direction of Mr. Charles F. Atwood.

There were ten tables of whist in the anterooms, under direction of Sir Knights W. H. Bliss and C. E. Conant, the beautiful prizes of cut glass being won by Mrs. R. C. Bridgman and Mrs. C. J. Gilligan and Mr. A. W. Kellaway and Mr. Charles L. Anderson.

Every guest was presented with a handsome souvenir of the entertainment, bound in flexible seal leather, with a Knights Templar seal and the words "Gethsemane Commandery" in gilt on the outside.

The souvenir contains the program of the entertainments of the season, consisting of a Grand Knights Templar ball on Feb. 19, and another Pop Concert, whist and dance on March 19, the organization of the Commandery for the present year, the committees in charge of the entertainments, and the itinerary which the Commandery will follow from August 6 to August 18 while attending the 32nd triennial convocation of the Order at Denver.

The book also contains other information of a general nature and will form a most interesting memento of the entertainment course of 1918.

The committee in charge of these entertainments consists of the Eminent Commander, William L. Church, chairman; A. Sidney Bryant, treasurer; George T. Coppins, chairman of the entertainment committee; D. Frank Lord, chairman of the program and program advertising; A. E. Billings, chairman of the refreshments committee; Horton S. Allen, chairman publicity committee; A. Sidney Bryant, chairman of the decorations; C. I. Flye, chairman of the tickets; W. H. Bliss and C. E. Conant, committee on whist, and C. W. HOLLIS STREET THEATRE.—Mrs. Flske and the Manhattan Company, under the direction of Harrison Grey Flske, are to come to the Hollis Street Theatre in "The High Road," on Monday, January 20, for an engagement of two weeks which, contrary to Mrs. Flske's usual custom, will include midweek (Wednesday) as well as the regular Saturday matinees. In "The High Road," his latest work, Edward Sheldon, is said to have felt the pulse of the moment and to have written a play with a purpose but without preachment. It is a story, so to speak, of soul progression. From the ignorance and sordidness of her early surroundings, Mary Page starts upon an uphill journey and education, broadens and develops a naturally great mind and heart. Dramatically, the greatest interest in "The High Road" lies in the triumphant battle waged by one woman against powerful men and powerful interests, with her own happiness and the political future of her husband as the issues that hang in the balance. Mrs. Flske has probably never had a more wonderfully human or more appealing role than Mary Page and the presentment of it is conceded to be one of the most brilliant triumphs of her brilliant career.

BOSTON SYMPHONY HALL.—The succession of splendid Sunday afternoon concerts at Symphony Hall is being brilliantly maintained. Next Sunday, January 19th, the concert will be given by Elena Gerhardt and Vera Barstow. Elena Gerhardt is the greatest singer of songs of our age. A lovely German woman, the possessor of an unusually beautiful voice, she has been one of the reigning sensations of the world of music in America. Vera Barstow is a young violinist who is making her Boston debut at this concert. Reports have it that she is easily a rival of the wonderful Kathleen Parlow. Miss Gerhardt will sing three groups of songs and Miss Barstow will play twice.

ILLUSTRATED LECTURE

The public is cordially invited to attend an illustrated lecture by Rev. R. J. Floody of Worcester, to be held in the Classical High School Hall, Newtonville, Tuesday evening, January 21, at 7.45 o'clock. Subject: "A Good Citizen Factory." The boy problem is always of interest to parents, teachers and public officials. Mr. Floody tells in an interesting and suggestive manner how he solves this question in certain districts of his own city. About five years ago he started the "Garden City" movement for boys in Worcester and the results have amply repaid all his efforts. The lecture will be given under the auspices of the Newtonville Improvement Association and will be free to all.

CASTLE SQUARE THEATRE.—The production of "Believe Me, Xantippe," at the Castle Square next week will be an event of no little importance. For the third time, the John Craig annual Prize Play will be offered to the public, and all signs indicate that the latest one will repeat the success of "The End of the Bridge" and "The Product of the Mill." It is a strongly effective and original comedy from the pen of John Frederick Ballard, and it touches American life and manners with a light and sure hand. It never oversteps the bounds of legitimate humor, and its dramatic moments are on a high and perfectly rational plane. All its happenings are possible, and the dialogue is lifelike and brilliant. The scenic features of the play will be graphically portrayed by effective scenery, and the rough and ready costumes of the Rocky Mountains will give it an added picturesqueness. Mr. Craig will appear as the hero; Miss Young will be seen as the heroine, a sheriff's daughter; and in the other leading roles will be Wilson Melrose, Donald Meek, Walter Walker, George Henry Trader, Al Roberts, Mabel Colcord and Lauret Brown.

ADDRESS TO ALDERMEN

City Affairs Presented to New Board By Mayor Hatfield

Gentlemen of the Board of Aldermen: The inauguration of the Board of Aldermen marks a new era in the affairs of the City, and for the fourth time it becomes my duty and pleasure to address the Board regarding the affairs of the City during the preceding year, and to point out some of the things worthy our attention during the coming year.

During the year 1912 the conduct of the affairs of the City has proceeded along the usual lines without any startling changes. As in 1911, the year 1912 has shown a lowering of the tax rate from $17.80 in 1911 to $17.40 per thousand in 1912. The assessors' department is entitled to a great deal of credit for this reduction.

It behooves us to look closely into expenditures in order that the tax rate may not be increased during the coming year. A low tax rate is undoubtedly one of the magnets that attract new residents to a city.

(The mayor then presented figures showing that the net debt has been reduced from $4,331,233.94 in 1902 to $3,089,401.24 in 1912, and that the borrowing capacity of the city was $871,420.29).

The bonds payable during this year are all Serial bonds so that the Gross Debt will be reduced only a small amount, but the Sinking Funds will increase materially, so the Net Debt at the end of this year will be reduced accordingly. Commencing with 1913, the Gross Debt will be reduced in 1913 $68,000.00; in 1914 $433,000.00; in 1915 $464,000.00; in 1916 $211,000.00; in 1917 $358,100.00. Total in next five years, $1,533,100.00, while in the next succeeding five years the reduction will be $1,411,700.00.

Out of the items of Interest, Bonds, etc., the following amounts were paid on account of schools in 1912:

Interest on School Debt	$51,010.03
Sinking fund requirements	22,000.00
Used from Dog Tax	3,570.38
Used from Tuition on non-res. pupils	3,303.50
Repairs on School Bldgs.	20,925.20
	142,809.11
Add appropriations for current expenses	325,118.79
Total spent on Schools in 1912	$467,927.90

This equals 36 per cent of the total appropriations of $1,303,774.96 for City expenses in 1912. It also equals 33.1-3 per cent of the $1,402,813.94 levied as direct taxation and on polls in 1912.

Tax Rate
 The Tax Rate of 1912 was made up as follows: Pro Rata per $1,000, State Tax $1.53; Metropolitan Parks, Sewers, State Highways, etc. $1.35; County Tax, 84 cents; Grade Crossing Assessment, 13 cents; City Tax $13.57; Total $17.40.

During the year various bills were introduced into the Legislature for a metropolitan district of which Newton was to become a part. None of these, however, became a law, largely through the instrumentality of your Board, joined with the boards of aldermen and selectmen of the various cities and towns in the district. This matter, however, is likely to come up again and will receive the attention of the City Solicitor and the Mayor.

The question of the Charles River Improvement was again brought to the attention of the Legislature. The Metropolitan Park Commissioner was requested to report to the incoming Legislature in regard to this matter. It is hoped that something will develop from that report, as the sanitary question is becoming more and more acute each year.

School Department
 The School Department has during the year completed the furnishings and fittings of the Technical High School. In November the School Committee lost through death the Chairman of the Board, Captain Howard, who had devoted much time and thought to the interest of the schools. He was a man whose position it will be hard to fill; one whom the City loved and honored.

Auditing Department
 On petition of the City, the Bureau of Statistics of the Commonwealth began an investigation with the thought in view of an improved system of accounting. The report of that department was accepted by the Board and the improved system of accounting will go into effect during the year. This necessitated the petitioning of the Legislature for permission to change the character, in order that the work might be carried on properly.

Treasury Department
 The City has been fortunate in being able to place its loans and bonds at a very low rate of interest.

Forestry Department
 This department during the year took up more thoroughly the question of mosquito destruction. Some of the low, marshy places have been drained and filled in, and others sprayed with oil. At the suggestion of the Forestry Department we have petitioned the Legislature for legislation authorizing and requiring the suppression of the elm leaf beetle, the leopard moth, and the San Jose scale nuisances, placing them in the same category with the gypsy and brown-tail moth.

This department has prepared several skating places in the various wards of the city, and only cold weather is necessary to have these ponds in active operation.

On December 23d the City was offered by J. Duncan Edmonds, Wiley E. Edmonds, the Estate of Frank Edmonds, and Horace Edmonds, thirty acres of land on Mill and Blake streets and Colby road, in memory of their father, the late J. Wiley Edmonds, and of their brother, the late A. Lawrence Edmonds, who were the former owners of the land. The offer is made with the following restriction: If the gift is accepted it is desired that the use of the land north of Colby road should be restricted to park and parkway purposes, and the use of the land south of Colby road to park and playground purposes.

It seems to me this is a most generous offer and I trust the Board will accept it.

Public Buildings Department
 The Committee for the revision of the building laws, appointed in the year 1912, have made their report, which was accepted by the Board and is now in full operation. Under the new law a Board of Appeal of three members was created, and I have appointed to this Board Stephen H. Wilder, George Royal Pulsifer and Lewis H. Bacon. The buildings of the city are being put in excellent condition, and by the end of the present year ought to be in better physical condition than they have been for a decade.

The necessity for additional vault room, and the substitution of fire-proof fixtures and furniture for the present wooden ones, has been called to our attention by the Record Commissioner of the Commonwealth. Before the end of the year I trust these will be put into condition satisfactory to the Commissioner.

Police Department
 The salaries of the officers and members of the police force have been increased and this ought to be an additional incentive for good men to join in the police department. Captain John Ryan, who has served the city for thirty-five years, retires this month. He has been a faithful and efficient official, and I trust will live to enjoy the leisure that he has so well earned.

Street Department
 The wear and tear on our streets, due to increased traffic both by horse-drawn vehicles and automobiles, is something that causes this Department a great deal of thought. The increased use of heavy motor trucks also is one of the questions that confronts us. Modern roads are not built to carry such heavy loads at the rate of speed at which these trucks are able to go. The State of Massachusetts Highway Commission reports one or two bridges that have been broken down by heavy motor trucks. Kenrick Bridge between Newton and Dedham will not be able to stand long the traffic which comes to it. Once more I call to the attention of your Board the condition of the Weston bridge at the end of Commonwealth avenue. During the year the City Engineer, with outside assistance, drew up a scheme for widening and straightening this bridge. It was not acceptable, however, to the town of Weston and was not carried out.

Hammond street between Middlesex road and Brookline line I believe to be too narrow and crooked to handle properly the traffic, and in addition it is dangerous to pedestrians. A plan for widening this street has been made by the City Engineer, and I understand is acceptable to the abutters. This work I believe ought to be done early in the spring.

In this connection I would recommend that your Board appoint a special committee to study the question of city planning. I believe that some such committee would be able to make a comprehensive study and plan of the city, which would be of great value.

Playgrounds
 The Playground Commission, consisting of William C. Brewer, Charles F. Johnson, Jr., Mrs. George H. Wilkins, Albert P. Carter and William F. Garcelon, has accomplished great results. They were fortunate in securing the services of Mr. Hermann, who has succeeded in interesting the children and developing a good play spirit among them. Another year ought to show even greater results than those of 1912. We can well feel proud of the playgrounds in our City. I believe the future will show the wisdom of establishing them when we did. With regret I have accepted the resignation of Mr. William F. Garcelon as a member of this Commission.

Fire Department
 The citizens of Newton at the election in December accepted the act providing for one day off in five for the firemen, and your Board has already granted them an increase in salary. The new auto combination wagon has been put in commission at Munroe road, Chestnut Hill. The acquisition of a new automobile engine placed at the station in Ward 3 will, I believe, protect the residents on West Newton Hill and Auburndale more adequately than has been done heretofore.

Engineering Department
 In the past year, eight streets have been laid out by the city and ordered constructed under the betterment act at an estimated cost of $14,815. Street widenings during 1912, entailing cost to the city, have been ordered constructed on five different streets at an estimated cost of $17,744.80.

The widening of Margin and Chestnut streets affords greater facilities for traffic in the vicinity of the West Newton depot, which will be further enhanced when the bridge over the lower roadway of Margin street and the changes in the depot now being constructed by the railroad company are completed.

A regulation providing for traffic in one direction only through the driveway to the Newton depot has been established, and in this connection a widening at the intersection of this driveway with Centre place is recommended.

Work on the widening of Pearl street in Newton and of Washington street in Lower Falls has been started. These were wise improvements, I believe, and if postponed longer, would have been much more expensive. The length of sewers constructed this year has been greater than any year during the past five years.

Board of Health
 There were 486 deaths to December 20th. This shows an annual death rate of 12.002 per one thousand, against 11.17 for the year previous, based on the same population. There were sixteen cases of diphtheria and no deaths, and no case of diphtheria since July, which is a very unusual record. There were fifty cases of scarlet fever and one death, against sixty-three cases and one death in 1911.

The State Board of Health has called to the attention of the City the necessity of establishing a hospital for tuberculosis. I have taken this matter up with the Board of Health and with the Newton Hospital and the Hospital trustees have appointed a committee to consult with the city in regard to this question. I will report to you later the conclusions arrived at in the matter.

Water Department
 In November last there was appropriated $11,355, for a line of 12-inch pipe from the Reservoir into the Chestnut Hill district, now dependent on a single main of inadequate size laid when the section was sparsely populated. This new line will increase by 100 per cent the water now available for fire protection and furnish in addition the safeguard of a second supply line.

The winter of 1912 was the most severe ever known in Eastern Massachusetts, but Newton fortunately had little trouble from frozen hydrants, and service compared with most of the communities about Boston.

Charity Department
 In December I accepted the resignation of Ernest R. Lowe, Overseer of the Poor, and appointed Oswald J. McCourt as Acting Overseer of the Poor.

Library Department
 The addition to the library at Newton is not quite completed. I am informed that it will be entirely completed and furnished within thirty days. The trustees believe that with better facilities in the branch libraries, circulation in the various wards would be materially increased. It is hoped that the city will have a new branch library building donated to it in Ward 3 in the near future.

Early this month, Mr. John Prior, who had served the City faithfully as night watchman at City Hall, passed away. Since the new year came in the City lost through death Mr. Joseph D. Wellington, who has served as City Messenger for 34 years.

And finally, gentlemen, I believe that frequent informal meetings of the Board with the Mayor, such as we hold on Field Day in the Fall, would be of great service. I think at those meetings matters are discussed with a more open mind.

I feel sure that we shall all work together for the good of the City of Newton.

B. F. KEITH'S THEATRE.—Cecilia Loftus, the greatest of all mimics, who has not appeared in this country for several years, comes to B. F. Keith's Theatre next week at the head of one of the strongest and best vaudeville bills ever arranged for this popular playhouse. Miss Loftus is one of the biggest stars ever brought to this country by Mr. Keith for his circuit. Another big feature of the week will be May Wirth, the Australian equestrienne, and the greatest bareback rider in the world. Little Miss Wirth is only eighteen years of age, yet she is the only woman who has ever been able to perform the feat of throwing a backward somersault from one galloping horse to another. Dan Quinlan and Vic Richards, who have just completed a triumphant tour of the world, will present their uproariously funny sketch, "The Quack Dentist;" and another act of a different type will be Dorothy Brenner and Joe Ratliff, in "At The Water Stand." Eva Taylor, the comedienne, will appear in her merry comedy success, "Just Married;" and Cartmell and Harris present a lively terpsichorean specialty. Marie Fenton is a charming singing comedienne; the Zylfonas are a company of skilled musicians, and the Three Gladdenbecks have a unique gymnastic pantomime.

PARK THEATRE.—This evening I went to the Park Theatre again, and I find I am always safe in going there, and I passed one of the pleasantest evenings I have ever spent in the theatre. There is no man in America, or anywhere else for that matter, who can equal Mr. Belasco as a producer and nothing he has ever done has held more of an appeal than "The Woman" which is now at the Park and which bids fair to remain there for a long time. There is a whole lot about politics in the play, but don't let that frighten you. For no play of recent years has contained such a tremendous appeal to women as does this. I am not going to tell you the story of the play, for I want you to have all of those thrills that I had tonight and if I tell you the story it will interfere with your pleasure. I don't often go wrong on these things and I tell every woman of your right now that you are going to have one of the most enjoyable evenings of your life when you see this play. And the funny thing about it is that the men like it just as well, only for a different reason. In the company are such players as Jane Peyton, Mary Nash, John W. Cope, Edwin Holt, Cuyler Hastings, Carleton Macy, Harold Vosburgh, William Holden, Stephen Fitzpatrick, Eugene Stockdale, Jose Rossi and James Gerson.

MARIE DASCOMBE.

BOSTON OPERA HOUSE.—Mme. Frieda Hempel, from the Royal Opera, Berlin, and in Europe considered the greatest coloratura soprano of today, will make her debut at the Boston Opera House on Monday evening, Jan. 20, singing Rosina in "The Barber of Seville." Her first appearance will be made an auspicious occasion, for associated with her will be John McCormack, the great tenor, as Almaviva and Vanni Marcoux, the most eminent of French baritones as Don Basilio. When sung for the first time in Boston last week, "The Jewels of the Madonna" scored the most remarkable success in the history of the Opera House and so great is the interest taken in this truly melodious work that it will be sung twice next week, on Wednesday night and again at the Saturday matinee with the original cast headed by Mme. Edvina as Madama. On Friday evening "Carmen" will be given its second subscription performance, with Mme. Gay in the title role, a part which seems to be hers alone today, as there is no other impersonation comparable to it. On Saturday night when the prices are halved, "Rigoletto" will be given its first hearing for the season. Mme. Evelyn Scotney will sing the role here.

TREMONT THEATRE.—Unquestionably the most notable dramatic hit of the season is "Milestones," the delightful play of three generations, which Klaw and Erlanger and Joseph Brooks presented on Monday night at the Tremont Theatre, Boston, with a company of distinguished English players. "Milestones" deals with the love affairs of three generations, and although the various acts are all set in the same room in the same house, the curtain rises each time upon a different setting—representing the periods of 1860, 1885 and 1912. There is a steady transformation as the play progresses not only in the furnishings of this room and the costumes of the people, but also in the methods of expression, ideas and language. There are matinees on Wednesday and Saturday and patrons are requested to be in their seats promptly at 2 o'clock for these performances and at 8 o'clock evenings.

CAPTAIN AMUNDSEN

Gives Illustrated Lecture at Tremont Temple

Captain Roald Amundsen, the Norwegian explorer who discovered the South Pole will relate his remarkable experiences on the evening of Tuesday, January 21, at 8.15 P. M., at Tremont Temple illustrated with lantern slides and motion pictures of his memorable journey. Seldom has a more thrilling story been told than this one of the little company headed by Captain Amundsen who braved the terrors of the Antarctic ice barriers, the yawning crevasses, and the trailless mountains, and planted the Norwegian flag at the Southmost extremity of the earth.

Reserved seats are now obtainable at the Tremont Temple box office. The proceeds of his illustrated lecture will be devoted to fitting out his sturdy vessel the "Fram" for a four or five years drift across the North Polar sea from Behring Straits to Greenland.

DIED

GEORGE.—In San Bernardino, Cal., Jan. 10th, Nettie E. daughter of the late Lyman Morse of Newton and wife of W. Scott George of San Bernardino.

CLAFIN GUARD NOTES

We are glad to note a steady improvement in the company and under the present management it is safe to assume that a normal high standard will be maintained.

As the Guards are to attend the inauguration with the 6th regt. in March every member is living in anticipation. Lieut. Daniels, the company commander, has announced the expense per man to be about $20.00; one half will be borne by the man himself and one half by the company fund. The lieutenant expects to take every man on this trip.

Sergeant John P. Tierney has been appointed 1st Sergeant. Here's to John, he was always a good fellow; we look for his future success.

The company is fortunate in its new armorer, Sergt. Joseph R. Neaves, U. S. A., retired. Sergt. Neaves has had an honorable record of 30 years' straight service in the U. S. Army, having served during the troublesome times in the west during the Indian campaigns. He took part in the capture of Geronimo, the Indian Chief, in the early eighties, and bears the scar of a wound received in the service. The Sergeant's last service was as a member of the General Staff, U. S. A., during the Spanish War, he was on duty connected with the mining of the Atlantic coast.

The bowling alley has been put in first-class condition; and the drill shed has a new attraction in the shape of a basketball court: Lance-Corp. Barrows is busy forming a basketball team, which he claims will shine.

New Year's Eve was enlivened by a hot base ball game.

In the pool tournament, Mrs. March defeated Priv. Bennett and Priv. Turner. The bowling alley has been put in first-class condition; and the drill shed has a new attraction in the shape of a basketball court: Lance-Corp. Barrows is busy forming a basketball team, which he claims will shine.

The State has recently purchased the army wagon, formerly the property of the company. The company commander has subscribed for several newspapers, weeklies, and magazines.

Mrs. Downs, through Mr. Alfred Kershaw, formerly of the Clafins, has presented the company with one of the private uniforms formerly worn by the company. Mrs. Downs is the widow of Captain Downs, an early company commander. Former members of the company will recognize the white broadcloth uniform purchased with the proceeds of the fair held a number of years ago in Eliot Hall.

Lieut. Daniels responded for the company at the annual dinner of the Clafin Guard Veterans Association held at the City Club last month.

Pete Butler and Andy Donnelly dropped into the armory last week; it looks like old times to see them again; Pete is strong for re-enlistment.

With his usual foresight, the company commander has taken up an innovation which has for its purpose the recruiting of the company to a war strength of 150 men in case it is suddenly ordered into service. It is intended that their shall be filed at the armory at least 200 names, of able-bodied men of Newton and its vicinity, who will have signified their desire to become members of this organization in case of war. It is believed that their are many patriotic young men, who, perhaps adverse to peace service would flock to the colors in case of necessity.

The attendance is holding well and the men seem to be entering into the new spirit.

Many applications for enlistment are being made, indicating a healthy organization.

It is rumored that an election for a Captain will shortly be held to fill the vacancy caused by the retirement of Captain G. F. Guilford in June. To date the election of the present company commander seems assured; he has been a member of the company for eleven years, is a hard and conscientious worker, and the interests of the company at heart.

The following is the roster of the non-commissioned officers: 1st Sergt. John P. Tierney, Q. M. Sergt. Howard P. Fessenden, Sergts. Arthur L. Keylor, John E. Whitteley, Henry A. Libbey, Curtis Delano, Corpls. Harold R. Weil, George B. Wentworth, Eugene D. Henry, Kirke B. Everson, Charles H. Carpenter, Weston O'Leary, Musicians, Harold H. March, Simon L. LeBlanc; Artificer Edward G. Cambert; Cooks, Edward J. Mahoney, Edward Edmunds, Jr.; Lance-Corps, Chester Belding, Walter G. Barrows.

SUPPER AND MEETING

The annual church supper and business meeting of the West Newton Congregational Church was held Friday evening in the parish-house with an attendance of two hundred and twenty-five.

Supper was served under the direction of the Woman's Guild, and the pastor Rev. J. Edgar Park was toastmaster. Mr. George N. Heathcote of New York gave an address, and reports of the various church activities were read by the following gentlemen: Dr. N. E. Paine, Mr. H. G. Perry, Mr. Henry B. Day, and Mr. Charles Swain Thomas, superintendent of the Sunday School, who stated that the average attendance during the past five years had increased 64 per cent. It was also stated that the membership of the church is the largest in its history. Allen and Collins of Boston were announced as the architects selected for the new church. Interesting reports were also received of the work being done in the church basement for the Italian and Boys clubs.

Y. M. C. A. NOTES

Mr. E. T. Colton, Asst. Secretary for the Foreign Department of the Y. M. C. A. with John R. Mott, writes as follows, regarding the amount contributed by the North American Associations for Association work in Foreign lands during the past year.

"Looking at the work done and money given by undaunted groups of loyal friends over the two countries, I designate it deliberately the largest, most successful and most truly unselfish service yet performed by the North American Associations. Of more than $250,000, almost $150,000 were produced after December first. Fully $20,000, were made available by the acceptance of drafts since January first."

The members and friends of the Newton Association who took part in this great work should feel gratified that they had a part in what Mr. Colton calls the "largest and most truly unselfish service yet performed by the North American Associations."

If any would like to help during the coming year in this great work join the Twenty-four Hour a Day Club and send in your contribution whether large or small.

A new shuffle board has been purchased for the use of the members of the Association. A ping pong table will be placed in the men's game room in a few weeks for the use of the members. By the addition of these games the Social Committee is hoping to make the lobby and game room more attractive to the members.

The Bowling Tournament started out with twelve teams enrolled. The captains of these teams were determined to make this the best tournament ever conducted at the Association. We are glad to have three teams from Newton Highlands who have already shown that they are expert bowlers.

Newton has been signally honored
this week, by the election of Hon. John W. Weeks, one of its most distinguished residents, as the United States senator, in succession to Senator Crane. The election of Captain Weeks, not alone honors the man, but also honors his neighbors and his friends. It also emphasizes the honor of serving this community in its city government, for Senator Weeks began his distinguished political career as a member of the board of aldermen from West Newton. It is inconceivable that the gentlemen who induced Captain Weeks to accept the nomination for the board of aldermen fourteen years ago, could have foreseen, the future which laid before him at that time, but his immediate success as a member of the board of aldermen, led to his election for two years as mayor of the city, and this in turn pointed to him as the man to succeed Congressman Powers when he retired. His work in Congress has been of such character as to make him the successful candidate for the Republican nomination for United States senator, the highest office in the gift of the state.

We, who know the new Senator, are certain that in his new and highly responsible position, Senator Weeks will continue his work as an able, earnest, conscientious legislator, and add new lustre to the grand old Commonwealth, which has been honored by the names of Webster, Sumner, Hoar and Crane.

It is interesting to note the cynical utterances of our former Republican friends, the Progressives, over the election of Senator Weeks. The new senator is painted as a "standpatter," as a "reactionary," and from the language used, one who did not know
Mr. Weeks, would imagine that he combined in his person all the vices of the political decalogue. As a matter of fact, Mr. Weeks, is not a stand pater, except on things which are right, he is not a reactionary, except on things which are proved to be unsound, he has successfully fought the so-called machine elements in Congress when he has been proved to be wrong and has stood by the same persons when he believed them to be right. Senator Weeks is perfectly capable of forming his own opinion,
and when that opinion is formed of acting in accordance therewith, regardless of machines or machine politicians. Our Progressive friends will have another "think" coming to them
when Senator Weeks gets right down to business at Washington.

The election of Senator John W.
Weeks has done the Republican party in this state a world of good. It has shown, for one thing, that the party is not disintegrating, that it is not disheartened, and that it has considerable recuperative powers. The friendly contest for the Republican senatorial nomination has stirred things up, interested many men in party affairs who otherwise would have continued indifferent, and, by presenting a united front to the common political enemy, the Republicans have learned that in union, indeed, there is strength. The Republican party needs confidence, harmony, and union, these three, and the greatest of these is harmony. The senatorial contest has aroused the sluggish political blood. Let us keep it moving until the party is again in power, not only in the Commonwealth, but in the nation as well.

Saturday, Jan. 18, 1913

Mayor Hatfield has touched a popular note in arranging for a public reception to be tendered Senator-elect
John W. Weeks of this city at the City Hall next week Saturday evening. The entire community is honored by the selection of one of its residents for this high and important political office,
and when to this appreciation of the honor to the city, is joined the general popularity and esteem of the man,
there should be a large and distinguished gathering to do him honor.

The nomination of a Newton resident as the Republican candidate for Congress to succeed Captain Weeks,
would be a great political mistake.
Altogether it is generally conceded that the strongest men, so far mentioned for that honor, live in this city. The party, however, needs harmony. Just now, more than any other factor, and even the locality argument has been known to create some discord.

MENTIONED FOR CONGRESS

Many will be called but few will be chosen, to succeed Senator John W.
Weeks, as representative from the 13th district in the Congress to come into power on March 4th.

As soon as the election of Mr.
Weeks as senator was conceded, the air was filled with the names of candidates and possible candidates, some circulated with and some without the consent of the person most interested.
Among the names heard were those of Mayor Hatfield of Newton, who has since stated that he was not a candidate, Hon. Seward W. Jones, of Newton Highlands, former president of the Boston Chamber of Commerce,
George S. Smith of Newton Centre,
Hon. George Hutchinson of West
Newton, former representative William F. Garcelon of Newton, Mr.
Frank W. Stearns of Newton, ex-senator Charles H. Pearson, Mr. Norman H. White and Hon. Joseph Walker of Brookline, Col. George H. Doty of Waltham and ex mayor J. H. Gleason of Marlboro, and before the week is out there will probably be as many more.

UNDER THE GILDED DOME

Of course, the chief event this week
at the State House, was the nomination on Monday of our own neighbor
and friend, Congressman John W.
Weeks as the next senator from Massachusetts and his subsequent election on Tuesday to that high office. The Newton delegation, Mr. Bothfield, Mr.
Ellis and Mr. White were important factors in securing the nomination for Captain Weeks and worked hard and loyally, as indeed did all his friends,
for his ultimate success.

The Great and General Court has done but little thus far this session
on account of the senatorial contest,
but now that the number of new bills
has made a new record, the plea of work for every member and for all the committees.

While these bills cover about every subject under the sun, I have been unable to make a careful enough study of them to give even a hint of the scope and nature at this time.

SAMUEL BARTLETT MILLIKEN

The younger circle of Newtonville
has again been broken by the death of Samuel Bartlett Milliken, who passed away Sunday afternoon, January 12th. He was a member of the class of 1907, Newton High School, and was in his twenty-fifth year.

A childhood illness undermined his strength and for several years his health has been seriously impaired.
Yet the indomitable spirit of youth
kept him hopeful and full of courage.
To the last he never let go his hold on the future.

At the time of life when it is hardest to live, on a slender store of strength, he recognized and accepted
his limitations with unfailing cheer and patience. There was no complaining against his hard lot. He did his best to ignore his weakness and to make other people forget it.

During those years when a young man is supposed to be fighting some of life's sternest battles in the physical world he was vindicating the strength of youth by winning a series
of great moral and spiritual victories.

Mr. Milliken united with the Central Congregational Church at the age of seventeen, desiring, as he said at that time, to get such help as the church could give, and give such help
as he could to the church. His best contributions have been seven years of splendid moral courage.

DEATH OF SAMUEL B. MILLIKEN

Mr. Samuel B. Milliken, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry N. Milliken of Newtonville, passed away Sunday afternoon at his home, after a long and painful illness, extending over a period of ten years.

The funeral took place Wednesday afternoon at the family residence on Russell court. A very impressive service was conducted at 2 o'clock by Rev. J. T. Stocking, pastor of the Central Church, of which Mr. Milliken was a member, assisted by Rev.
Robert W. Van Kirk, of the Lincoln Park Baptist Church, West Newton.

Following the service the remains were cremated at Mount Auburn.

COMMITTS SUICIDE

Mr. John W. Coffin, a patient at a private hospital in West Newton, committed suicide last Friday afternoon,
by throwing himself under the wheels
of an automobile which was passing on Commonwealth avenue. He was so severely injured that he died at the Newton Hospital within an hour. Mr.
Coffin was taking a walk with his nurse about 5 o'clock and as the automobile, owned by Mr. C. A. Harwell of Natick, and driven by H. E.
Cunningham of South Natick, approached he suddenly sprang from the side of his nurse and threw himself directly in front of the machine. He was about 46 years of age and was a resident of Newburyport.

PAGEANTS AND PAGEANTRY

European literature is rich in description of amateur amusement in which scholars, poets and artists of world-wide fame have been concerned.
Salvator Rosa at Rome; Voltaire at Genève; Madame de Staël at Coppet; Goethe at Weimar; Madame de Genlis
at the French Court; Washington Irving at Dresden and Madrid; Dickens
at Tavistock and Devonshire House,
all patterned after the pageant arranged by Calderon de Barca for the marriage of Philip IV and Maria of Austria at Madrid in 1669.

"America wearing for her device
The silver image of the ocean
That bore the Holy Cross to the New World."

The American public of late has expected from "romantic" representations of an advanced character; young people outside as well as inside the great centres of population are now providing their friends with intellectual and artistic entertainments equal to those produced by the old world artists.

The recently published book, "Pageants and Pageantry," by E. W. Willard Bates, is a distinctive contribution to American literature along that line.

Replete with practical thought as well as poetic imagery it compels attention. From the opening chapter,
"The text of a pageant" throughout its
"making," "costuming," and "final presentation," the subject-matter is vivid with life.

The Roman, Medieval, Colonial and other pageants devised by the author
are graphic portrayals of certain periods of intense historic charm and the brilliantly interesting way in which the knowledge of the life of these periods is imparted, recommends Pageants and Pageantry not only as a text-book for students, but to lay men who are intent upon "acting a history not a fable."

The exquisite illustrations are in keeping with the text and the musical numbers most timely; one of the melodies copied from a manuscript 600
years old. Ginn & Co., publishers.

seven were present from Brockton, Waltham, Somerville, and the Newtons.

WEST NEWTON MUSIC SETTLEMENT

Prominent Residents Interested in a Splendid Work

The history of our School up to the present time is the story of a natural development, determined at each step
by the meeting and providing for "a condition—not a theory," as well as we could with the equipment at hand.
There were in the beginning no preconceived ideas—no idea, indeed, of any school at all; but only a personal effort to get in touch with a few children who might need, but who could not afford, good musical instruction, and to provide for them at rates which they could afford to pay. In April 1911 application was made to the West
Newton Day Nursery for information
as to any such children who might have come to their notice. This application resulted speedily in a demand which was wholly unforeseen, entirely beyond one person's ability to meet,
and too insistent to be ignored,
once it was aroused, and from the effort to meet this demand, our School arose. A few friends generously provided money for the experiment, and the teachers, though in most cases professional, volunteered a large number of lessons. For the first few months the work was confined to pupils from the Day Nursery, whose management co-operated with us enthusiastically and generously. But soon the demand grew, and the possibilities of their hospitality and during the last School year—1911 and 12—the work had to be done at the homes of the various teachers. In these circumstances and general oversight and any attempt at unity were very difficult. The most that could be done in this respect was to have each pupil pay monthly to the Director; to gather the pupils together in a self-organizing class to give them and their friends a regular monthly recital of good music, at which our audiences grew from 15 at the first to over 200 at the last Recital;
at these Recitals, a few of the children who were ready with a simple piece, well studied in the ordinary Newton School work, gave a short Pupils' Recital for the first year of the Program, and as a reward for good and faithful effort, some children were taken to good concerts in Boston. Notwithstanding the handicaps the work grew and prospered
and at the end of the year it was evident beyond a doubt that there was a demand, and a real necessity for the work, accordingly in April 1912, the Executive Board was formed and a general appeal for funds was sent out. It was decided not to limit applicants to West Newton, as the experience of other Schools had seemed to show that one well equipped and properly run School gains in effectiveness over several smaller Schools, covering the same ground. The response to our appeal, while still not very general,
was large enough to enable us to make modest plans for the present School year. While we were considering the choice of a house that would be suitable and central, so that the pupils
from the near-by towns could easily reach us, the Chairman of the School Board, Captain Howard—whose death the School has met with the loss of one of its best friends—and the Superintendent of the Newton Public Schools, Dr. Spaulding conferred with the Director, and offered
the use of the Public School Buildings for our teaching purposes. This was the ideal solution of our problem, and besides many other practical advantages, co-operation with the Public Schools provides the best possible basis for proper selection of pupils. The Public School teachers have an opportunity to observe the individual pupils
in their music work done in the Schools, and can often direct our attention to deserving cases. The records of the Schools are at our disposal, and teachers are uniformly helpful and often enthusiastic in their co-operation. Besides this, we are saved the expense of a separate
"plant" and the School buildings are utilized for the children in hours when else they are idle. There are plegal and financial advantages, and in the Peabody School where our present headquarters are, we have a large library and office, for social and business purposes. While so far we have had to subordinate the social side of our work to the first purpose of the School—music instruction—this matter too, is gradually taking shape of itself, and the pupils are forming the habit of coming to sit at their library
table to read the books and magazines that are there, and on rainy days
the room is full of children sitting quietly reading. We are greatly in-debt of good reading matter—on musical subjects, and of a general sort as well.

Another great advantage that arises
from our connection with the Public Schools will be that the music pupils
will be graded as for other studies;
and in the cases of pupils who may show exceptional talent that would justify such a course of study, it will be possible to arrange that the music work, done under strict conditions will count as "poise" for the diploma for graduation. This would allow a talented child to put an adequate amount of time upon his music,
and still not be obliged to stop his general education. This would, of course, only be allowed, as it would only be asked, for pupils whose ability

may become undoubtedly apparent,
and no pupil will be advised to take such a course until strict tests of his ability show that it would be justified.
At present the pupils are largely from West Newton, where the work is now well known; but there is a fair proportion from Abundant, Newton-ville, and even Newton; and we expect more from the other towns as the School becomes known farther afield.
There are about 15 High School pupils.
There are many applicants for night
work, and we have an evening for violin and one for piano pupils at the Technical High School, and other School buildings may be used as they are needed. Of our 65 pupils now being taught, 22 are violin, and the rest piano pupils, provision will be made for the study of other instruments and for vocal culture. The charge is 25 cents weekly, and all but two or three get two lessons a week
—a lesson from a professional teacher, and a "practice lesson," which may be given by someone who, while a trained musician, need not have the experience of a professional teacher,
but will see that the lesson is understood and properly practiced. We need much volunteer work of this sort, as we could provide for nearly double the number of pupils if it were possible to follow this plan more widely. Our policy has been to take only so many pupils as can be given two lessons a week, as it is felt that the most important thing is to teach them to make the right effort, as such training is beneficial in a broader way.

The managers of many of the Boston concerts have been very generous in sending us tickets for concerts, and each week ten of the pupils are taken to the Sunday concert at the Opera House, and others to different Recitals,
so that all will go at least once to some important concert. Our monthly Recitals will be held again;
Orchestral Classes will be formed within the next few weeks, and Singing Classes meet this week. A singing class for young men is held one evening each week at the Congregational Church, West Newton.

Owing to the large field before us,
our waiting list is very long, and the children hunt our office and beg to be taken. We cannot enlarge our classes this year, but when vacancies arise
there are always children eagerly awaiting the opportunity to begin, and we are try g to provide for the most urgent cases. Many children have come to us who are able and willing to pay the cost of their lessons, or
as much as 75 cents a lesson, in order to study in the School, and to be eligible for its opportunities in the way of classes, and group work. We are at present obliged to refuse such applicants because so many are waiting who cannot afford the larger lesson fees. For pupils who cannot afford to pay at all, two scholarships are available.

Whatever may have been the advantage of our initial development—by force of circumstances, and from day
to day almost—the present circumstances of our work make it very advisable and even imperative, to make our plans in advance, and to thoroughly consider our future activities and policies. We still intend to avoid letting our growth outrun a normal development, but we should be in a position to meet the most urgent of the work that comes to us and to take up its broader aspects, and for the current year we need many things to make it as effective as it ought to be. We need more volunteer teaching; more pianos; (we have five pianos at present, in the Peabody School at present, and one at the Technical High School); books
and music for the orchestral and singing classes; books for our Library;
personal help in "field work" and in the many details of running the School. But our most important need is an early and general pledge of support for the work of next year,
and we hope that this may be forthcoming in time for us to consider and mature a well thought out plan, and a broader activity. Contributions may be sent to the Assistant Treasurer, Mrs. L. A. Kimberly, 72 Perkins street, West Newton, and we hope for a large number of small contributions.

In the following article, the Aims and Influence of Music Schools Settlements will be discussed, and an endeavor will be made to meet some typical questions and objections and to give a better understanding of what these Schools stand for—a point
upon which there is some general misapprehension.

The officers of the school are Director, Miss Elizabeth Fyffe; Assistant Director, Miss Elsie S. Kimberly; Treasurer, H. L. Burrage; Assistant Treasurer, Mrs. L. A. Kimberly; Secretary, Mrs. H. L. Burrage.

Executive Board, the above officers
and Mrs. D. E. Baker, Mr. Richard B.
Carter, Mrs. H. B. Day, Miss Mabel Egger, Mrs. H. H. Haskell, Miss Pauline Howard, Mrs. John T. Prince, Mrs. G. R. Pulsifer; Secretary at the Peabody School, Miss Marion Chidsey.

JORDAN-MURRAY

Miss Sara Claudia Murray, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. P. A. Murray of Newton, and Dr. Sebastian Jordan of Munich, Bavaria, were married Tuesday noon, the ceremony being performed by Rev. James E. Kelly of the Church of Our Lady. Miss Alma Murray, a sister of the bride was the maid of honor, and Mr. Paul Murray, a brother, was the best man.

The bride is a graduate of Radcliffe College, 1906, and then studied in the University of Munich receiving the degree of Ph.D. in 1908, and honors
for her work in classical literature.
She has taught German in the Fitchburg Normal School and in the Newton High School.

Dr. Jordan met his bride while studying in Munich. He is a reserve Lieutenant in the Infantry and a lawyer by profession. The wedding was delayed for over a week by the failure of the steamer Manitou, on which he sailed to reach Boston. Dr. and Mrs. Jordan will sail tomorrow from New York on the Chicago, and will make their home at Traunstein, Bavaria.

Miss Grace M. Burt, Editor.

The Music Department of the State Federation is anxious to assist the clubs to raise the standard of music presented at club meetings and will be glad to answer any question or to make suggestions when desired. For a long time the department has urged the fitting in of music to the subject of the day and thereby making it a component part of the program. Too often the music has been regarded merely as an ornament, like a vase of flowers, with no consideration of its appropriateness. The Club Editor recalls an instance of this sort, when the serious subject of Teaching the Bible as Literature in the Public Schools was to be considered, that for music that afternoon a chorus rendered some light glee, good in itself, but entirely out of keeping with the occasion. How much more delicacy of feeling was displayed by the soloist who rendered a group of MacDowell songs at a meeting when Mrs. Edward MacDowell was to be the speaker. That was the touch of the artist and that is what the Federation Music Department is striving to attain.

And now, having secured the artist's feeling and presented the appropriate selection, what about the attitude of the audience. It seems a reflection upon club women to have to print on a Federation program the request for the audience to remain silent during the musical numbers. Yet, that has been done and even then during fine piano solos the sound of lips was heard. Is it ignorance, carelessness or selfishness that is responsible? Is it any less rude to carry on a conversation while music is going on than when a speaker is making an address? It is, doubtless, largely due to habit and thoughtlessness, but as serious minded club women let us mend our ways. With the increasing number of Pop Concert entertainments let us remember that the music as well as the speaker is performed to be listened to and not as at the theatre merely as a background for conversation.

STATE FEDERATION MEETING

On Tuesday evening, Feb. 11, a Peace Meeting will be held at Tremont Temple under the auspices of the Massachusetts State Federation of Women's Clubs. Dr. Charles Reynolds Brown of Yale University will be the principal speaker with others of equal reputation. This meeting will be open to the public, both men and women, and a large and enthusiastic meeting is anticipated. Let Newton be well represented.

The Mid-Winter Meeting of the Federation will be held on the following day at Arlington Street Church. The morning session will be given up to Legislative Matters and kindred subjects. The program for the afternoon will be announced later.

CIVICS CONFERENCE

All club women are urged to attend. Admission by the usual card with name of club. Train leaves North Station at 1.38 P. M. Trolleys from Sullivan Square pass Memorial Hall.

LOCAL HAPPENINGS

The Waban Woman's Club's annual entertainment for the gentlemen took place last Monday evening at Union Church vestry and proved most successful. A delicious dinner, in charge of Mrs. Florence Kimball, was followed by a pleasing musical program well rendered by the Ivy Quartette with solos by Miss Ruth Ivy, violinist and Miss Gladys Berry, cellist. The festivities were then brought to a close by an amusing farce entitled "The Gentle Jury," prepared under the direction of Mrs. Esther Davis. The characters were delightfully portrayed by Mrs. Johnson, the Fore lady of the Jury; by Mrs. LeClear, Mrs. Marsh, Mrs. Turner, Mrs. Vose, Mrs. Pier, Mrs. Conway, Miss Grace Miller, Mrs. Lamont, Miss Gould, Mrs. Durbin and Mrs. Becker, all club members, and Mr. Alfred Turner, a very able but harassed sheriff.

The Pierian Club held its regular meeting with Mrs. Ryder on Wednesday afternoon. Mrs. Temperly was in charge of the program, which included a paper on "Education in Ireland." There was the customary social hour at the close.

At the meeting of the Newton Highlands C. L. S. C. at the home of Mrs. W. T. Logan on Monday afternoon an account of "Venezuela" was given by Mrs. W. S. Richards, who was in charge of the work. The country covers a very large tract of territory larger than five or six of our Western states put together. The climate is either "eternal summer or perpetual winter." There is no rainfall from November to May. While the country has many rivers the Orinoco is the only one navigable for large steamers. Its agricultural development and possibilities are boundless. Coffee, its chief product, is of a quality unsurpassed. Tobacco, rice and cocoa are close behind in importance. There is considerable mineral wealth, and some coal, but it is at present inaccessible. The people being naturally indolent are behind the times, they have no modern appliances and outsiders going there for business are obliged to bring with them all implements as well as their laborers. The natives are, however, showing some signs of waking up in the last few years. While there is some negro population, there is no intermarriage with the natives. The country declared its independence July 5, 1811, and has always maintained a republican form of government.

"The Socialistic Theory of Capital" was the subject of the paper given before the Social Science Club on Wednesday morning by Mrs. Jesse C. Ivy. Mrs. Ivy in presenting the theories of Socialism pointed out its defects and stated that it is a criticism upon the existing conditions of society and Christianity. Anarchy, she said, is not a part of Socialism. The socialist sees that the present competitive system has resulted in great waste, misery and disease. It is not wise, scientific, nor economical. It would see on the contrary a system of co-operation whereby the benefits may be shared by all, rather than a system controlled by trusts, who want all the benefits shared only by themselves. Of the counts against the competitive system she named, overproduction, unemployment, child labor, prostitution and the results of these have been strikes and lockouts, adulteration.

Industrial and Social Conditions Conference

A large number of visiting club women attended the conference of the Industrial and Social Conditions department of the State Federation held at Stoneham on Tuesday afternoon. In the afternoon Mrs. Clark, chairman of the department, called the meeting to order and presented the president of the hostess club, Mrs. Ella A. Hovey, who welcomed the guests in the name of her club.

Mrs. Clark in opening the conference stated that after the re-organization of the department in 1910, it decided to take up the work of Child Welfare and to that end the first Questionnaire was prepared and sent to the clubs. The results of that investigation were summed up by Mrs. Caroline S. Atherton, who said that the answers had been tabulated by experts and their comments had been that many of the answers were stereotyped. For example, in reply to the question, "What is the child's breakfast?" in many instances was "The usual breakfast." The desire on the part of the committee, of course, had been to ascertain of what the "usual breakfast" consisted. There were, however, many individual returns that were excellent and 523 were found to be usable. The families investigated were divided into three groups, the first, including those having an average annual income of $1500 or more, the second, from $15 a week to $1500 a year, and the third, all below that amount. Many interesting facts have been secured as to the proportion of persons owning their own homes, how often these families in question have moved within the last five years, whether or no the children have rooms to themselves, the hours that the mothers are at home, their recreations, etc., etc. Of the recreations music ranks first. The children seem to have few home duties and the least in the third class. Efforts to teach thrift and economy seem to be "by precept and example." The majority of the children have no allowances. In the first group they vary from five cents to $10 a week. In almost all cases the contributions for church and Sunday School must be taken from the child's allowance. These questions related to the Child in the Home. A second set treated of the Child on the Street. The answers to these were not as full nor as satisfactory as those to the first set. One very important fact, which has been brought out by these questions, is the very large number of children, who go to the theatre and to moving picture shows. More than two-thirds of the children in the first group go frequently, less than two-thirds of the second group, while again it is more than two-thirds in the third group. Mrs. Atherton felt that there is crying need to have this matter regulated and the whole question thrashed out in the near future. She stated that the committee will present at a later date definite conclusions drawn from the results of this Questionnaire and expressed the hope that the knowledge gained thereby may be used to make the surroundings of the child sweeter, saner and more wholesome.

Miss George A. Bacon then presented the new Questionnaire, which in a similar way treats of the Child in School, at Work and at Play. She bespoke for it even greater interest and response than that given the first one. The arrangement is similar to that of the former one, the clubs are asked to take ten children in each of three walks of life, so that there may be thirty answers for a community and it is desired that all the questions may be answered for one child. The child is designated by a number so that only the one filling out the blank knows who the child is. Returns were received for the first Questionnaire from 48 clubs representing 42 communities. With 250 clubs in the Federation it is hoped that this time every community in the state may be covered. From the information received the department will be able to judge where the work is needed and where the emphasis should be placed, all being done with a view to making better citizens for the future state and country.

Mr. Hollis R. Bailey, one of the U. S. Commissioners on Uniform State Laws, told of the origin and growth of the Uniform Child Labor Law. The committee of which he is chairman has been at work since 1909 trying to get something which could be approved by all. This year two bills will be introduced instead of combining everything in one, as was done last year. He felt that there is a good chance of some advance this year. Last year the opposition came from school superintendents, from the manufacturers, and even from the parents. The eight-hour day seems to be the stumbling block at present. The suggestion of having two shifts he thought would not be the final solution of the problem, but rather something in the line of vocational education. He urged those present to help on legislation by interesting legislators and senators in the matter.

Mr. Richard K. Connor, secretary of the Massachusetts Child Labor Committee the next speaker, said that he felt the results of the new questionnaire would be very valuable. He stated that at present Arizona, Maryland and Mississippi have practically uniform laws in this matter. The lowest age limit in any state is 12 years. He was of the opinion that children leave school to go to work, not so much from necessity as from lack of interest in the school work as it has been given.

The conference closed with an urgent appeal from Mrs. Henry C. Muligan, president of the Federation, for every club to do its utmost to make the Uniform Child Labor Law a law of this Commonwealth. She pointed out how all of the Federation work is really related to the home, and felt that there is much needed to be done for the children of the so-called protected class. She, too, deplored the attendance of children upon indiscriminate performances at the theatre as being detrimental to the future citizens.

A social hour with the hostess club closed a very valuable afternoon.

The regular meeting of the West Newton Woman's Educational Club was held on Friday, January 10, at 7.30 P. M. at the home of Mrs. A. H. Clifford, president, pro tem.

After a short business meeting the afternoon was in charge of the Social Science Committee. Mrs. Robert Gordon, chairman. A brief summary of what is being done by the W. C. T. U. of Newton was given by Mrs. Samuel L. Eaton, who then presented the speaker of the afternoon, Mrs. Katharine Little Stevenson. Mrs. Stevenson's subject, "The Woman Question of Yesterday, Today, and Tomorrow," was treated from a logical as well as christian point of view which would mean an ideal social condition.

The musical program was thoroughly enjoyed by all present. The singer, Miss Margaret Palmer of Boston, was accompanied by Miss Agnes. A social hour followed in the tea room which was in charge of the Hospitality Committee, Mrs. Chas. Anderson, chairman.

The pourers were Mrs. G. B. Young and Mrs. William Bell.

The travel class of the West Newton Woman's Educational Club held its semi-monthly meeting on Thursday, January 2, with Mrs. Chas. E. Quinn of Newton Centre.

Mrs. John R. McLean gave a most instructive paper on the geographical, and topographical features of South America, which was followed by a brief history of the rubber industry by Mrs. Emma Dimond.

A paper on the cultivation of coffee by Mrs. Geo. W. McGee was greatly appreciated by the class.

Mrs. George D. Byfield and Mrs. Sidney Sargent, respectively, reviewed the commercial and social life of Rio de Janeiro, and the principal cities of Brazil.

A FINE SHOW

The annual dramatic entertainment of the Hunnewell Club is one of the events of the social season in this city and the production of the three-act comedy, "Because She Loved Him So," this week, was certainly the best ever given by the club, and would rank well with many a professional performance. The play was given to crowded houses on Wednesday and Thursday evenings and will be repeated this evening. It is laughter and applause are any criterion of appreciation, the players have every reason to be pleased with their efforts, for as one of them remarked yesterday, "there couldn't have been a laugh left, after that third act."

It is difficult in a cast of almost uniform excellence to differentiate between the players, but it seems to be the universal opinion that Mrs. R. W. Bartlett and Dr. L. H. Naylor, possibly because of more experience on the stage, or because they had the better parts in the cast, gave just a trifle the better performance. Excellent work was also done by Mrs. H. D. Dexter, Jr., and Mr. George Owen, and indeed by the entire cast.

The cast included Mrs. Harry L. Dexter Jr., Mrs. Ralph W. Bartlett, Mrs. Edward E. Hayward, Mrs. Edward P. Tuttle, Miss Dorothy Wellington, Miss Dorothy MacLure, Mr. George Owen, Dr. L. H. Naylor, Mr. Clarence C. Colby, Dr. H. C. Spencer, Mr. Harry F. Estabrook and Mr. Goldwin S. Sprague. Mr. Hubert W. Pierce was the coach and Mr. Bancroft L. Goodwin, stage manager.

The affair was under the general direction of the entertainment committee consisting of Mr. Charles N. Pitts, Mr. Edward E. Hayward and Mr. G. S. Sprague.

CLAFIN CLUB

Forty men gathered at dinner in the parlors of the Newtonville Methodist Church, Wednesday evening, observing the twenty-sixth regular monthly communication of the Clafin Club.

Mr. Donald B. MacMillan, Commander Peary's First Lieutenant, was the speaker of the evening, and his subject, "Beyond the Arctic Circle," was copiously illustrated with a hundred or more lantern slides portraying the life and incidents pertaining to the

PROTEST STRAW VOTE

Newton Equal Franchise Association Wants Constitutional Amendment

Newtonville, Mass.,
January 20, 1913.

Dear Sir:—
At a special meeting of the Executive Board of the Newton Equal Franchise Association, called for the purpose of protesting against the Drury Straw Vote Bill, it was voted to address to our legislators the following statement—and to send copies thereof to the several Newton newspapers.
The only way in which the ballot is legally given to women in Massachusetts is by an amendment to the State Constitution. Such an amendment must pass two successive Legislatures, and then be ratified by a referendum to the voters at the Polls. In place of this legal and constitutional method, opponents of equal suffrage are pushing a bill to take a raw vote which will have no legal validity and will give the women nothing, although it goes in their favor. The Drury Bill is misleading, for while it seems to work to ascertain the sentiment of the voters on the suffrage question, it is really planned to water effort, and is an old trick of the anti-suffragists.
Every political party in Massachusetts—except the Republican—is now pledged to the submission to the voters of the constitutional amendment. The Republican plank was ambiguous and might mean either an honest amendment or a straw vote. We demand that the Suffrage Question be submitted to the voters of the Commonwealth in legal form.
President N. E. F. A., Mary Atherton Howe.
A. Grant,
Corresponding Secretary N.E.F.A.
People in the 1st Middlesex senatorial district who are interested in man suffrage are being urged by Mr. Walter Channing, Jr., representing this district in the general committee of the Massachusetts Political Union, to attend a monster mass meeting at Tremont Temple, Boston, next Saturday evening, Jan. 25, at which the workingwoman's need the ballot will be emphasized. Miss S. S. Ripley of Newton Centre is one of the Executive Committee of the Union.

ANNUAL BANQUET

Street Railway Men Elect Officers For 1913

The annual meeting and banquet of the Suburban Railway Club, composed of employees of the Middlesex & Boston St. Ry. Co., was held at Dennison Hall, Newtonville, January 22nd, 1913, with an attendance of 115 members and friends present.

An elaborate dinner was served in the banquet hall by Caterer Ross of Waltham. During the dinner music was furnished by Mr. Anderson.

After dinner those present gathered in the main hall and in a few well-chosen words, Vice-President Jos. Campbell of Lexington, bid every one welcome.

Following this a musical entertainment was given by a quartet composed of the McDewitt Bros. and Chandler, singers, accompanied by Mr. Wiggins, pianist, from Boston. Mr. Chandler recited, with cleverness, several stories which entertained the crowd immensely.

The musical program was indeed one of the very pleasant features of the evening.

Then followed the business meeting during which the election of officers took place and resulted as follows: President, Jos. Campbell, Lexington; Vice-President, Wm. Hartigan, Waltham; Secretary-Treasurer, Clarence F. Cormier, Waltham. Executive Committee, Geo. M. Cox, Newtonville; Pitt P. Drew, Newtonville; M. S. Drew, Waltham; P. O'Keefe, Lexington.

The annual report of the Secretary-Treasurer was read and approved, which showed the Club to be doing excellent work in the way of helping out the members during illness. Since the first of February, 1910, when the Club established a sick fund the amount of $6,200.00 has been paid out for sick and death benefits. The members pay 10 cents per week only to this fund and are guaranteed $7.00 per week sick benefits, with free medical service.

Before the close of the meeting a rising vote of thanks was given to the management of the Middlesex & Boston St. Ry. Co. for their kindness in assuming the expense of the banquet and entertainment for this meeting, and the four meetings to follow, during the present season.

Besides this, the railway company

Mr. Charles L. Berry Dies Suddenly At His West Newton Home

Mr. Charles L. Berry for twenty-two years an assistant superintendent of streets of this city, died suddenly about midnight Saturday, at his home on Cherry street, West Newton. Mr. Berry had entertained friends that evening and his death was entirely unexpected.

He was born in Kennebunk, Me., and was 61 years of age. Mr. Berry was appointed a member of the Fire Department Feb. 1, 1875, and for 16 years was the driver of Engine 2 located at West Newton. He resigned Jan. 3, 1891, to accept the position of assistant superintendent of streets, the title of which was later changed to that of division foreman. He has had charge of the work of the street department in Wards 3 and 4 and has served the city with ability and honesty.

He was a member of Waban Lodge, I. O. O. F., Tennyson Rebekah Lodge, Waltham Encampment, Massachusetts Highway Association, Newton Veteran Firemen's Association and of the A. O. U. W. He is survived by a widow.

Funeral services, which were attended by a large number of friends, including city officials, a large delegation from the Odd Fellows, and by the men of his division of the street department in a body, were held Tuesday afternoon at his late home on Cherry street. Rev. J. Edgar Park of the Congregational Church officiated and the Mendelssohn quartet sang "Crossing the Bar," "Beautiful Isle of Somewhere," and "Passing Out of the Shadow."

The pall bearers were Street Commissioner Charles W. Ross, Deputy Commissioner George E. Stuart, Superintendent of Streets Richard A. Jones of Waltham, Chief W. B. NOTED PIANIST DEAD

Prof. Carl Baermann Dies At His Home On Centre Street

Prof. Carl Baermann, the Boston pianist, for many years a member of the faculty of the New England Conservatory and distinguished for his long and illustrious career, died at midnight Friday at his home, 734 Centre street, Newton, after an illness of six weeks.

Mr. Baermann enjoyed the intimate friendship of Liszt and Wagner and was of a renowned family of musicians.

He was born in Munich, July 9, 1839, and studied early in the conservatory in that city. Before he was 15 he made his first public appearance, playing Mendelssohn's G minor concerto. Later he studied piano with Liszt, and composition with Franz Lachner and Peter Cornelius. In 1867 he became professor in the "King's Music School," of which Bulow was a director. He gave the first performance in Munich of Liszt's A major concerto. During his residence in Munich he became the friend of Richard Wagner, and remained such until Wagner's death.

In 1881 he obtained a year's leave of absence to visit America, which was reluctantly granted him. His first appearance in Boston occurred at a Philharmonic concert Dec. 22, 1881, and created unbounded enthusiasm. He then resigned his position in Munich and took his residence in this country, although he has played since in various European cities. Earlier in his career he had accompanied his father on various tours on the Continent.

Mr. Baermann had an international reputation as a teacher. He was unexcelled as an exponent of the classic traditions, and his interpretations of Beethoven were notable for their reverence and beauty. His pupils and all who knew him loved him for his lofty ideals and for his sweetness, kindness and generosity of spirit. He lived and taught in these latter years quietly. He always had been averse to publicity. His wife, to whom he was married 48 years ago, was Miss Beatrice von Dessauer, who was a member of a noble German family. She was his constant attendant to the hour of his death.

The funeral services were held from his late home on Sunday afternoon and were attended by a host of friends, including many prominent musicians, and present and past pupils.

Rev. S. M. Sayford, an intimate friend and neighbor, conducted the services and said in part:

"The tribute paid our friend's memory by these flowers and by this company of friends and neighbors speaks for the friendship so many were privileged to share with him in other days. Some of us may live in the realm of letters, some in the social realm, others in the realm of commerce and politics, but Carl Baermann lived literally in the realm of music. His devotion to the piano was akin to his devotion to his wife. These three were bound together by cords of affection which nothing but death could break."

"In his profession he was both a genius and an artist. As a teacher he had few equals, and as a pianist he ranked easily among the greatest. In his art or profession he achieved signal success and in his home he lived in the love of a devoted wife."

"He taught without charge pupils in whom he discovered talent and who had no means with which to pay so great a teacher as he, and spent himself in imparting to others something of his delicate touch of the keyboard, of his unique skill in bringing harmony from the piano."

During the service the quartet from the Old South Church, Beverly, rendered three of Prof. Baermann's favorite hymns, the music of which was composed by him. Lee M. Patterson of Des Moines, a pupil of the professor, accompanied the quartet on the piano. A poem composed by Louis C. Elson, and contributed on the occasion of Prof. Baermann's 70th birthday, was read by Edward R. Warren, a member of the Baermann Society, which was organized by the deceased.

Many beautiful floral tributes surrounded the casket from musicians, friends and pupils. The remains were cremated at Mt. Auburn.

CAPTAIN RYAN RETIRED

Completes 35 Years of Service in Police Department With Two Others

Police service in this city was discontinued for a short time Wednesday morning when the members of that department gathered at police headquarters to honor three members who had each completed 35 years of service as police officers. The men who had this well deserved honor, were Captain John Ryan, Lieutenant Robert S. Harrison and Patrolman Noah F. Bosworth, who were all appointed by Mayor Fowle on January 21, 1878.

It was a special occasion for Captain Ryan, for by vote of the board of aldermen, he was retired at that time from active service, and will receive a pension of $1000 a year for the remainder of his life.

The officers assembled in the police court room at nine o'clock and when Mayor Hatfield and Judge Kennedy had taken their places, Clerk F. W. Sprague summoned Captain Ryan, Lieutenant Harrison and Officer Bosworth to the bar and charged them with the crime of having rendered 35 years of faithful service to the city of Newton, to which they each pleaded "guilty." Mayor Hatfield then addressed them, making particular reference to the service of Captain Ryan and closed by presenting the Captain with a handsome leather arm chair, foot rest and table. Judge Kennedy also made a few remarks, contrasting the police department at the present time with that of 1878. Captain Ryan responded thanking the department for the gift. Mayor Hatfield then presented Lieutenant Harrison and Officer Bosworth with bouquets of 35 carnations, and both made brief speeches of appreciation.

At the close of the formal proceedings, Captain Ryan held an informal reception.

Capt. Ryan was born in the house he now occupies on Aug. 25, 1845, and when 16 years old enlisted in Co. C.

PUBLIC RECEPTION

Elaborate Preparation Made in Honor of Senator-Elect and Mrs. Weeks

The public reception to be tendered tomorrow evening at the City Hall to Senator-elect and Mrs. John W. Weeks promises to be one of the most interesting affairs ever given in this city. Mayor Hatfield has arranged for a large attendance of ladies and gentlemen, ample coat rooms being prepared on the first floor of the building, the reception taking place in the aldermanic chamber on the second floor, which will be appropriately decorated, and light refreshments being served on the third floor in the drafting room of the Engineering department. Members of the board of aldermen will serve as a reception committee, and every citizen of Newton and ladies will be cordially welcomed.

FATHERS AND SONS' DINNER

The Father and Son Banquet held Tuesday evening at Elliot Church was a very interesting and enjoyable affair. The guests assembled at 6.30 and five long tables were attractively arranged in the chapel, covers being laid for 200.

Each gentleman was accompanied by a boy, as his guest, and they were seated alternately at the tables.

Mr. Lewis C. Stanton gave the opening address for the fathers, and welcomed the boys, and Mr. Feaster Brown responded for the boys.

Mr. H. W. Gibson, State Boys' Secretary, delivered a very interesting address.

Wilson's five-piece orchestra was in attendance, and furnished a finely rendered program of popular music during the evening.

It was very much regretted that owing to illness, the pastor, Rev. H. Grant Person, was unable to be present.

GOOD CITIZENS

Interesting Lecture by Rev. R. J. Floody at Newtonville

An appreciative audience gathered in the Classical High School Hall on Tuesday evening to listen to an illustrated lecture by Rev. R. J. Floody of Worcester. The lecture was under the auspices of the Newtonville Improvement Association, and was one of the best on its long list of good entertainments.

Mr. Floody took for his subject "A Good Citizen Factory" and dealt in a most convincing way with the great problem of making the so-called "Bad Boy" over into a thoroughly reliable and valuable member of the community. According to the lecturer's statement there are no "bad" boys and listening to his earnest stories of the many unfortunate youngsters he had made better and happier, his audience gained a new light on this vital topic of our day.

The normal boy is full of life, vigor and energy—he can't sit still. But he can be guided to the right channels for the expenditure of his energies and when that has been done, patiently and with loving persistence, the boy bates his old evil ways and becomes anxious to reform his companions also.

Tilling the soil, making beauty take the place of ugliness in neglected parts of the city, Mr. Floody has found the best work for reclaiming the boys under his care. Several years ago he started in his home city, Worcester, the "Garden City Movement for boys." A number of dumping grounds have been transformed into beauty spots and the good influence of the change has extended in many cases to the home life of the young workers, so that families have purchased little places for homes outside the city where they may have gardens. In connection with the gardening carried on by his boys, Mr. Floody has also a small "zoo" where the boys learn the needs of little animals such as Guinea pigs and rabbits, and the feeding and care bestowed on their pets prove one of the greatest influences for good.

After a boy has loved a pet he will never show cruelty to animals again. If Mr. Floody's earnest account of the solution of the boy problem were not in itself convincing, his fine collection of slides showing so vividly the contrast in localities and boys "before and after taking" the Garden cure leaves no room for doubt. The luxurious beds of vegetables and flowers, and the alert, radiant health and happiness in the forms and faces of the workers make an impression that will keep his hearers thinking long after the lecture is over.

This lecture was given by the Association to keep alive the interest of the community in the cause of good citizenship. The officers of the Association are President, Geo. W. Ayrvaant; vice presidents, Charles D. Cabot, Albert M. Lyon, William Price; treasurer, Louis E. G. Green; secretary, Harry D. Cabot.

UNDER THE GILDED DOME

The Legislature is now fairly under way with the committee bulletins showing many hearings scheduled for the next week or ten days. The petition of the city of Newton to establish the office of comptroller of accounts will be heard by the committee on Cities next Wednesday. As I have noted in the editorial column this week, I believe the bill as drawn should be amended so as to provide that this highly important official should be elected by the aldermen.

The variety and extent of the petitions and subjects presented to the Great and General Court is a consideration seem endless and prove beyond any doubt that there are many men and women, too, of many minds. Some of the contrasts are amusing. One bill allows farmers out late (thickly settled districts to keep one dog without a license fee, while another petitioner wants the license fees for dogs made considerably higher. One man wants the poll tax abolished, and another would impose a higher poll tax on voters who fail to cast their vote on election day. One man wants all cooks and bakers licensed, another would prohibit the use of meters for measuring water, another would make New Year's Day a legal holiday, while another wants Patriots' Day abolished and May 30th made Patriots' Memorial Day. There are bills to prohibit the use of the present cars by street railways, to abolish the elevated railway between the North and South stations in Boston, to prohibit liquor advertising in cars, to abolish the office of county commissioner, and many others of like tenor. Petition after petition this city has been asked by Mayor Hatfield, to suppress the elm leaf beetle, the leopard moth and the San Jose scale and was heard yesterday, with several prominent persons in favor and no opposition. The mayor also asks permission to lay a sewer in Waltham to reach Adams avenue in West Newton, for an appropriation to maintain our Independent Industrial Park Commission to improve the sanitary condition of Charles River. Ex-Mayor Hutchinson petitions for the repeal of the recent amendment to the city charter to give the mayor unlimited power of removal of city officials—a bill which ought to pass, without question—City Solicitor Silem asks for a change in the law relative to service in the collection of taxes, Mr. W. C. Brewer wants certain vessels exempted from taxation, General W. B. Emery has a bill to aid the Quartermaster General's department of which he is the head, and Mr. F. H. Burt desires pensions for court stenographers who become disabled.

In addition there are some of the more serious matters of legislation, such as changes in our railroad laws and policy—the Ellis Milk bill, which, by the way, is to be debated tomorrow at Barry by Representative Ellis of this city and Mr. J. Lewis Ellsworth, secretary of the state board of Agriculture—and other subjects which are of general interest.

—On Sunday morning the Rev. Henry L. Winston of Boston will occupy the pulpit at the Methodist Episcopal Church.

—The Mohawk Boat and Canoe Club held a bowling party at the Newton Highlands Alleys on Thursday evening and will hold a whist party and dance at Foresters' Hall on Friday, Jan. 31.

—The Misses Helen and Louise Randall of Elliot street held a tea at their home on Saturday afternoon from 4 to 6 in honor of their guest Miss Winifred Storer of Cleveland, Ohio. About 30 guests were present from the Newtons and vicinity.

—Rev. William C. Gordon of Auburndale gave an interesting talk on "Memory" at the Stone Home on Sunday, followed by a musical program consisting of solos by Miss Steele, from Jamaica Plain, and other selections by several young ladies from Lasell.

—The second of a series of lectures which are being given under the auspices of Court Crystal Lake, 238, F. of A., was held at Foresters' Hall on Monday evening. The subject, "The Telephone; its Operation and Some History," was ably handled by W. C. Bamburg of the New England Telephone and Telegraph Co.

TREMONT THEATRE.—No play of recent years has met with greater praise on the part of the Boston critics than "Milestones," the delightful comedy, presented at the Tremont Theatre, Boston, by Klaw & Erlanger with a company of distinguished English actors. "Milestones" appeals to all ages and all conditions of theatre-goers. It portrays the lives of its characters through three generations but throughout the play the spirit of Youth and Romance is ever dominant. It is a sequence of exquisite love stories, unfolded by artists who, although comparatively unknown to Boston audiences, have already gained lasting fame by the marvellous delicacy and truthfulness of their delineations.

HOLLIS STREET THEATRE.—The second week of Monday, January 27, will be the second and last of Mrs. Fiske's engagement at the Hollis Street Theatre. In her striking and highly successful "The High Road," which in its first week put the breath of life into Boston's attitude toward virtue, prejudice—effacing and up-to-the-moment stage treatment of vital American questions, as it has not been in many a day. Mrs. Fiske has rarely appeared to better artistic advantage than as the ill-treated child of the farm who at 17 starts upon her eventful pilgrimage, and she surely has never appeared to more appealing or sympathetic advantage. The production is a beautiful one and the cast excellent throughout. Matinees will be given on Wednesday and Saturday.

CASTLE SQUARE THEATRE.—The second week of the John Craig Prize Play, "Believe Me, Xantippe," will begin at the Castle Square on Monday. The interest in it is by no means confined to Boston and its vicinity. Playgoers are coming from miles around, as they did also a year ago and year before last, to see the play with which a young dramatic writer gained a prize of $500. "Believe Me, Xantippe" is a genuine comedy from beginning to end. Its scenes, its dialogue and its incidents are humorous, and in fact it is designed for laughter. Its action takes place mainly among the mountains of Colorado, and it is filled with quaint turns of speech. Moreover, the plot keeps the audience continuously in suspense, and there is no guessing what the outcome will be. It is a complete surprise.

BOSTON OPERA HOUSE.—One of the most notable weeks of the entire opera season will be that beginning Monday, Jan. 27, at the Boston Opera House. The coming of Felix Weingartner, the eminent composer and pre-eminent operatic conductor of the day, who has obtained a brief leave of absence from the Royal Opera at Vienna. Mr. Weingartner's initial bow will be made on Friday night when Wagner's great love drama and masterpiece, "Tristan und Isolde" will be sung with Carl Burrian and Olive Fremstad, both from the Metropolitan Opera House in the titular parts. Mr. Weingartner will conduct again at the Saturday matinee, when good old "Il Trovatore" with its familiar melodies will be sung with an extraordinarily famous cast, for as Azucena Mme. Ernestine Schumann-Heink will make her first appearance as a member of the Boston Opera Company. Monday evening will bring the farewell of Mme. Louise Edvina, and for her last appearance this season, Director Russell has chosen Puccini's "Tosca," in the title role of which Mme. Edvina has conquered the public of Paris and London. On Wednesday evening Verdi's "Otello," by many considered the greatest of all Italian operas, will be given its first hearing. Mr. Zenatello will find in the title part a most grateful opportunity. The Desdemona will be Mme. Frances Alda, the noted Metropolitan soprano. Saturday night's popular performance will be one of Rossini's "The Barber of Seville," a work which abounds in sparkling melodies and unctuous comedy.

Sunshine of Life.
 The sunshine of life is made up of very little beams that are bright all the time. To give up something when giving up will prevent unhappiness; to yield when persisting will chafe and fret others; to go a little way around rather than come against another; to take an adverse look or word quietly rather than return it—these are the ways in which clouds are kept off and pleasant, steady sunshine is secured.—Alkin.

George Meredith's Belief.
 "Let nothing flout your sense of a Supreme Being, and be certain that your understanding wavers whenever you chance to doubt that he leads to zood. We grow to good as surely as he plant grows to the light. The school has only to look through history for a scientific assurance of it."—George Meredith, writing to his son.

Many Languages Spoken.
 At the entrance of a New York City department store is a placard announcing that twelve foreign languages are spoken by employees. These are: French, German, Italian, Russian, Polish, Hungarian, Danish, Swedish, Norwegian, Spanish, Portuguese and Romanian. Can any foreign store offer equal inducements, in the polyglot line, to its customers?

Unfortunate Situation.
 Wilkesd Magistrate (to a woman who complained that her husband would not work): "You cannot make a man work if he is determined not to do so. There are so many wives willing to work in these days to keep their husbands that the wives who will not do so are apt to become unpopular."—London Mail.

Value of Garlic.
 The scientific name for the active principle of garlic is allyl sulphide, which is a powerful germicide. For this reason, people who are in the custom of eating garlic are far less subject to any form of tuberculosis than those who refrain from the odorous vegetable.

Models of Teeth in Wood.
 An Indian carpenter in Uganda has sent to a dentist in Nairobi cedar wood patterns of a couple of teeth which he wants made to order. It is stated that when the work is completed the cedar models are to be sent to the British museum.

Writing Pad.
 A compact traveling case is a book-shaped writing pad which folds over flatly, and when opened reveals compartments for all the correspondence necessities, as well as a calendar and narrow slides holding memorandum slips. One of these fits nicely into a sandbag.

To Wipe Out Finger Marks.
 Rub the finger marks on doors with a piece of clean flannel dipped in kerosene oil; afterwards wipe with a cloth wrung out of hot water to take the smell away. This is better than using soap and water, as it does not destroy the paint.

Willing to Be Good.
 "You children are not all obedient," "Well," said the sadly precocious youngster, "we are willing to be obedient, only paw and maw and grandpa and grandma haven't yet come to an understanding as to which is boss."

Labor Poorly Paid.
 Palermo, Italy, produces quantities of outfits for brides, principally in muslin. The girls who do the work get from 12 to 25 cents and the skilled workers from 30 to 60 cents a day.

Improved Capstan.
 A capstan is built into a new block and tackle with which one man can handle loads of one thousand pounds and two men, loads of four thousand pounds.

Uncle Eben's Philosophy.
 "I likes to hear a young gemman say he's tryin' to keep up wif de times," said Uncle Eben, "provided he uses an alarm clock to help him."—Washington Star.

Excellent Reason.
 "I suppose you know why you are here?" "I asked the magistrate severely. "Yes, sir," answered the cheerful prisoner, "I woz brung 'ere."

Necessities From Japan.
 For each person in the United States a dozen paper napkins and a third of a pound of tea are imported from Japan every year.

Unappreciated.
 "Miss Screecher is chuck full of music, isn't she?" "I guess she is. I've never heard any of it coming out yet."

Evidently Not a Success.
 "How did you like the actor who played the king?" "Ever since I saw him I've been in favor of a republic."

Where Honesty Is Worthless.
 Many a man would have turned rogue if he knew how.—William Hazlitt.

INTERESTING EXHIBITION

The First Grade of the "Pianoforte and Theory Students' Association" entertained their parents and friends Saturday afternoon at their Studio, 20 Foster street, Newtonville, with an exhibition of their class work.

The first drill consisted in reading the notes, also ledger lines and spaces on the chart, and finding them on the keyboard.

Then a chart was placed before the class containing various meter marks, metronome marks, different value notes, rests, etc., and the pupils explained the meaning of each.

There was also an interesting discourse on the lives of the famous composers. Interspersed with the drills were exercises played on the piano by the pupils.

The facility manifested by the children and the progress they had made in mastering the rudiments of music, was especially noticeable.

FEDERATION MEETS

Pleasant Social Affair at Grace Church

The meeting of the Federation of the Auxiliary Branches of the Newton Churches took place on Tuesday afternoon at Grace Church, Newton, and was a very delightful social occasion.

A large gathering of members, numbering fully 75, assembled in the church parlors, representatives being present from Chestnut Hill, Auburndale, Lower Falls, Upper Falls, Newtonville and Newton Highlands.

The meeting opened with devotional exercises, followed by vocal selections. "I Lift Mine Eyes Unto the Hills" and "How Beautiful Upon the Mounts," which were beautifully rendered by the Ladies' Choir.

A very entertaining discourse on "Japan" was given by Mrs. Sturges of Boston, secretary of the Foreign Missionary Department; also an address by Miss Lucy Sturges.

At the close of the meeting tea, coffee, and refreshments were served. The tables were very attractively decorated with pink carnations and cressias and Madam MacLure and Mrs. Kenway poured.

The sensation of the reading world today. The book from which the play was made is as wonderful as the play itself. To read the book is to doubly enjoy the play, which is now staged in Boston.

The novel is the crowning work of Robert Hichens. It is an intense glowing epic of the great desert, sunlit, barbaric, with its marvelous atmosphere of loneliness. In word painting, the book reaches poetic heights.

Not to have read it is to have missed a treat of the literary world.

THE NEW LIFE THEORY

(By Rev. Frank Sewall, President Swedenborg Scientific Association.)

It is significant as bearing upon the present trend of natural or physical science that the radical announcements of President Schaefer before the British Association at Dundee concerning the artificial "production of life" should have created so little stir as it did in any circles, scientific or theological; and especially that the most emphatic rejection of the so-called new theory of life should have come not from the religious, but from the scientific critics, as represented especially by Sir Oliver Lodge and Alfred Russell Wallace.

It would be going too far, perhaps, to call the presidential address a fiasco but if that term means a large promise followed by a meagre fulfillment, it certainly describes Professor Schaefer's effort for instead of giving us a new theory of the origin of life or the process of producing life, he doesn't even define what "life" is and much less does he venture to describe a condition of all things before any "life" began. Similarly with Matter, whether organic or inorganic, the President's address falls entirely to show what the fundamental relation is between this and Life. He speaks of changes from the inorganic to organic as if this were somehow the production of "life"; but he nowhere shows that the inorganic, or that matter in its infinitesimal, its least and invisible and imponderable forms is without "life"—in the sense of a motive and selective and so intelligent energy. If then life is everywhere in the universe, why waste words and arguments in endeavoring to show its "production" by some particular processes of its transformation?

The hopelessness of discussing a writer's statements about changes from "dead matter to living matter," when he has not at the outset defined what he means either by "life" or by "living" or by "matter"—must be apparent whenever one wishes really to get at the essence itself of this question and not to invent some new form of verbal gymnastics about it. Has one a right any more at this day, to pretend to discuss scientifically either "life" its origins, its production, or its transformations without at least defining at the outset, if only for all, what "life" is, or at least what he means by it, and then holding consistently to that definition throughout his entire discussion?

It will not be so great a surprise after all to see before long a candid acknowledgment among our most enlightened scientists—of the truth of the stupendous and magnificent utterance of Swedenborg that "Life is Love" and that accordingly the universe itself is love in its most essence and origin. Far from being a sentimental or a mere psychological interpretation of the most profound scientific and philosophical analysis of Swedenborg's system from the great cosmogony of the Principium to the "Angelic Wisdom" of the theologic presentation, will find herein a persistent, unbending, logical tracing of all things in the universe back to an End, to a first Motive or Purpose, without which nothing whatever, literally no "thing" or entity with "forms" or relations, could be conceivable. Here and here only, in this End we find a "motive," which means in whatever application, physical or psychical, what sets in motion. This is, says Swedenborg, in his work "On the Divine Love and Wisdom," (which by the way is one of the latest additions to the Everyman's Library)—love, as a primal will-activity.

The reason why this divine and infinite "love" is the primal life and origin of the universe is that love is the only thing that, in order to BE, requires an object. For "love" is inconceivable without an object existing or contemplated, to be loved. The concept of God as love, therefore, implies the creation of a universe as the object of love; and all the universe is but an exhibition of that love working by processes of an adequate therefore infinite wisdom, producing that which God may love as the object of divine desire; and this object in order to attain to such a love must be, not a machine but a being of will and intelligence, capable of loving in return, and loving freely and intelligently. Hence man is the culmination and completion of creation; and man not as an individual only, but in society as the larger man. For it is in human society that the divine love and life find their highest exercise and fruition: viz.—in man's love of his neighbor or of the larger man for the sake of this larger and highest love of God. Swedenborg in his Principium, about which work Emerson went into such raptures and which just now has been issued in a superb new edition in England, sets forth a theory of the production of the world out of the infinite by a series of forms beginning with the first "conatus" or energy-unit, an effort of motion in the infinite itself and so by a series of points, flutes, and actives and passives, down into the successive elemental auras, ethers, and atmospheres of a physical world; all of which being from the beginning inspired or actuated by the inmost and original motion or life from the infinite—directed therefore always by the divine end of infinite Love and never proceeding at random or without a power of "selection" and "direction," the whole world becomes a divinely "animated mechanism" so that there is not a particle of "sand on the seashore" that has not in itself a certain motion and even intelligence of selection. In other words, that is not a receptacle in some degree of life. Man is not life but a receptacle of life," says Swedenborg. "Life is in the universe by a constant inflowing from God who is the only life in itself—and the only source of life: and life is primarily Love, proceeding by Wisdom into effort or work."

These three terms express the three planes of the Divine and so of all created being. Swedenborg calls them the "Three Discrete Degrees": Love, Wisdom: Work or Use.—Theologically they are termed in revelation Father, Son and Holy Spirit. Metaphysically they are the degrees of End; Cause; Effect. Cosmologically they are God; the world of Mind or Spirit; the world of nature. The degrees are discrete because while the higher reside in the lower by succession yet they never are merged into or become the lower, but retain their eternal distinctness or discreteness. Thus there is no Pantheism. End is in all cause, and both are in all effect; but end never is cause, and cause never is End. Love is in wisdom and both love and wisdom are in act; but love is not wisdom, and wisdom is not act. God is in Spirit and Spirit is in nature. But God is not the spiritual world nor the mind or spirit of man; but is even infinitely distinct; and spirit, or mind, is not nature or the physical world in however ethereal or astral form, nor will it ever become so, however much it will illuminate, inspire and elevate nature and enable man in all his natural instincts to recognize, look up to, worship and love the Divine Creator.

It is interesting to note in this connection that Sir Oliver Lodge, Principal of the Victoria University, writes the preface to the edition of Swedenborg's "Divine Love and Wisdom" now recently added to the Everyman's Library, in which series the same author's work in "Heaven and Hell" has had an immense sale;—and it is in this newly added work that Swedenborg's doctrine of Life, of Creation and of Discrete Degrees is set forth in systematic form and with fullness—also that the new edition of the Principia of Swedenborg is issued with a laudatory preface by Sir William F. Barrett of the Royal Society, and that the venerable scientist, William Russell Wallace has spoken of Child's "Root Principles"—a Swedenborgian work, as the most complete refutation of Haeckel's and other theories of modern materialism that has been produced.

NEWTON CLUB

Members and guests to the number of rising 250 enjoyed the Dance and Bridge of Wednesday last. It was one of the best yet held. In charge of the dancing were Mrs. Alfred E. Vose, Mrs. Arthur H. Whitney and Mrs. G. W. Washburn. Receiving at Bridge were Mrs. Henry R. Nash, Mrs. Alex. D. Salinger and Mrs. Hubert C. Ripley. The prizes were won at Bridge by Mrs. Edward P. Crave, Mrs. Horton S. Allen and Mrs. Chas. A. Cotton. Gentlemen winners were Mr. Chas. E. Conant, Mr. E. P. Crave and Mr. Hubert G. Ripley.

An unusually enjoyable program has been arranged by the entertainment committee of the Newton Club for its first musical of the season, which occurs on Tuesday evening next, January 28th. The artists will be Lilla Osgood, Contralto; Howard White, Bass; Cantante; Walter E. Loud, Violin, and Ernest W. Harrison, Piano. The concert will be under the direction of Mr. A. H. Handley.

Miss Osgood, contralto, possesses a most excellent contralto voice and will be heard to great advantage in a group of songs, one in French and one in English.

Walter E. Loud, violinist, was, for several years, the head of the famous Schubert string quartet and toured the United States, not only as its leader, but also as the soloist. He was Ysaie's favorite pupil and studied with him abroad for many years. He has also appeared as soloist with all of the leading Boston musical organizations and upon this occasion he will play the famous Vieuxtemps "Fantasie Caprice" and a group of smaller numbers, one of the group being a composition of his own, "Tarentelle."

Howard White, who is so well known as the bass soloist at the First Unitarian Church, West Newton, will not only sing at this concert but will also give the well-known dramatic reading of Longfellow's "Robert of Sicily" from the Tales of a Wayside Inn. This reading will be accompanied by the piano, and Ernest W. Harrison will be the soloist. This reading has met with much approval wherever given and is bound to please those fortunate enough to hear it upon this occasion. Mr. Harrison will also accompany all of the soloists.

McGUIRE-GALLAGHER

Miss Bridget Gallagher and Mr. Patrick McGuire, both of Newton, were united in marriage last week Wednesday, at 7 P. M., the ceremony being performed by Rev. James F. Kelly of the Church of Our Lady.

Miss Mary A. Gallagher, a sister of the bride, was maid of honor, and Mr. Thomas Matley, a cousin of the bridegroom, was the best man. The bride's dress was of white satin, trimmed with Irish Point Lace, and she carried a bouquet of pink.

The maid of honor wore a white silk with white lace and carried a sweet peas. The bride couple will make their home at Gardner street, Newton.

FOR THE GIRL WHO WEARS FLOWERS

"When purchasing violets, pansies, sweet peas, daisies, or any flowers which are worn with a tin-foil wrapping about the stems, suggest to your florist that he wrap a small amount of moist cotton or dampened moss about the stems under the tin-foil. Thus the cry, 'I love to wear flowers, but they die so soon,' is silenced, for flowers protected in this way can be worn on the warmest day with little signs of withering."—Suburban Life for February.

With the closing meeting of the board of aldermen of 1912, the city has lost the services of seven members, who have retired from that body.
Two of these members have served five years each, one four years, three for three years and one for two years,
and two of them had been chairmen
of the most important committees of the board.

Alderman Calkins of ward 1, who has served but two years, had, in that short time, proved an extremely valuable member. He was a thorough and had a concise, logical manner which carried great weight. The agitation last spring over the matter of granting druggists' licenses was due, in part, to his initiative.

Alderman Higgins of Ward 2, who has served for three years, has also been of great assistance, as his knowledge of local conditions has been more intimate, probably, than that of any other member of the board. Mr. Higgins was also of great service in the recent revision of the building ordinances of the city.

Alderman Williamson of Ward 3, who has served for five years, and as chairman of the Public Works committee for two years, was one of the most valuable members of the board.
Mr. Williamson has been a thorough and painstaking in his civic work and matters before his committee were handled with businesslike precision and skill.

Alderman Moore of Ward 5, had also served for five years, and was chairman of the committee on Public Franchises and Licenses, and was also vice president of the board. Mr. Moore had given a great deal of time and consideration to the problems of liquor selling and liquor transportation in Newton, and probably is the best posted man in the city on those subjects. His has been a thankless task, but he can carry with him in retiring from the board, the conviction that his work has been appreciated by all who understand the local conditions of this city.

Alderman Chadbourne of Ward 5, who has served for three years, has been a valuable member of the Finance committee, and many matters of considerable importance to the city have been first suggested by him. The city of Newton needs the services of busy business men like Mr. Chadbourne.

President Gray of Ward 6, who was defeated for reelection on five years of faithful service, deserved better treatment at the hands of his constituents. During his years of service,
Mr. Gray has been chairman of the committee on Public Franchises and Licenses and was also president during the past year. Mr. Gray was a most conscientious alderman giving
the utmost consideration to the problems before the board and his conclusions were the result of careful deliberation. He was one of the most active members of the board in seeking the utmost restriction of liquor selling, and his attitude on druggist licenses (which was one of the alleged reasons for his defeat) was sound and logical.

Alderman Heard of ward 7 had served for three years, being a member of two important committees during that time. Mr. Heard was thoroughly independent in his investigation and treatment of city affairs and the speeches he has made in the open board have been admirably expressed.
It is seldom that the city loses the services of so many valuable members of the board of aldermen, and their retirement must emphasize the thoroness and painstaking character of the work which is being accomplished at our City Hall.

The bill pending before the Legislature to establish the office of comptroller of accounts and to abolish the present office of city auditor, is a step towards a more elaborate and efficient accounting system at the City Hall.
The proposed bill, however, in my opinion has one grave fault, in that the new official is to be appointed by the mayor and confirmed by the aldermen, instead of being elected by the board, as the office of city auditor is now filled. Under our city charter
the legislative and executive departments are distinctly separated, the aldermen electing the administrative officials and the mayor appointing the executive officers. The comptroller of accounts should be the official eyes
and ears of the aldermen, authorized to see that the appropriations made by the board are expended in the manner designated by that body. He should be entirely independent of the mayor and the executive officers, for it may become a part of his duty to oppose their methods and their acts.
He is entirely an administrative officer and should be responsible solely to the board of aldermen.

In addition, the broad power recently given the mayor to summarily remove any executive officer, should not include such an important official as the comptroller of accounts is intended to be.

A curious contrast is noticed in the respective remarks of Mayor Hatfield and President Blakemore at the opening session of the new city government last week. The mayor calls attention to the satisfactory financial showing of the city, with a substantial decrease in the net debt and a very large borrowing capacity. Mr.
Blakemore on the other hand notes
that the tax levy of the present year
is already burdened with something over a hundred thousand dollars more than that of last year and urges the board to the utmost economy. Both gentlemen are right, strange as it may seem, for the tax levy and the debt statement are not in the least related.
The splendid showing in our debt account is due to the policy of the past few years of charging as much as possible to the current tax levy and issuing bonds for only the most important matters. This policy has inevitably affected the tax levy and the tax rate, and while the rate dropped a trifle last year, it was far from good business to do so. The 1913 rate must show a large increase and the new board of aldermen should go extremely slow in making extraordinary appropriations.

The members of the Police Department should be commended for honoring the completion of 35 years of faithful service of three of its members, Captain Ryan, Lieutenant Harrison and Officer Bosworth. For more than three generations, these men have served
the city in sunshine as well as storm,
have given honest and efficient service in protecting the community from all kinds of law breakers, and have won the esteem and respect of their associates and many citizens as well.
In these days of apparent superficial-
ity, it is refreshing to note that service
of this kind is recognized and appreciated. It should prove an inspiration, and set a standard for every member of the department.

Every lady and gentleman in the city is urged to show that the city of Newton appreciates the honor done
this community by the recent election
of one of its citizens to the important office of United States senator.

BOYS' NIGHT

Central Club Holds Interesting Meeting

Last week Thursday evening was
"Boys' Night" at the Central Club.
Following the reception at the Central Congregational Church, Newtonville, 160 men and boys sat down to supper in the dining room, where an excellent supper of hot roast turkey
with all the "fixins" was served.

A short entertainment followed,
consisting of a reading by Mr. H. P.
Patey and a cornet solo by Richard Hunt.

Two unusually interesting speakers had been engaged for the evening. Professor E. M. Lewis, Dean of the Massachusetts State College of Amherst, formerly pitcher on the Williams College baseball team, and for four years a pitcher with the Boston Nationals in the days when they were winners, gave a talk on "Playing the Game," which appealed strongly to his boy audience.

Mr. George I. Farley, superintendent of schools in Brockton, followed with an address of much interest and value on "The Choice of Books and Value of Reading."

The meeting closed with the singing of a hymn written by the pastor, Rev. Jay T. Stocking, and sung on this occasion for the first time. The hymn is given here:

Master-Workman of the Race.
By Rev. Jay T. Stocking.

O Master-workman of the race,
Thou man of Galilee,
Who with the eyes of early youth,
Eternal things dost see;
We thank Thee for Thy boyhood
faith,
That shone Thy whole life through,
"Did we not know it is my work,
My Father's work to do?"
O Carpenter of Nazareth,
Builder of life divine,
Who shapest man to God's own law,
Thy self the fair design;
Build us a tower of Christlike height,
That we the land may view,
And see like Thee, our noblest work,
Our Father's work to do.
O Thou who dost the vision send,
And givest to each his task,
And with the task sufficient strength,
Show us Thy will, we ask;
Give us a conscience bold and good;
Give us a purpose true;
That it may be our highest joy,
Our Father's work to do.

Y. M. C. A. NOTES

Fitchburg Y. M. C. A. defeated the local team at Fitchburg last Saturday night, 26 to 21, in a rough game. Fitchburg kept the lead from the start, the Newton tried hard to win in the last half. The referee had to give frequent warnings to the players because of rough playing and many fouls were called.

The next entertainment in the Newton Young Men's Christian Association Entertainment Course will be next Tuesday evening, Jan. 28. The players will give a very interesting program part of which will be of a humorous nature. Those who come will enjoy an evening of rare entertainment.

Arthur W. Blakemore, President of the Board of Aldermen, will speak to the Fellowship Club of the Association Monday evening. Any who are not members of the Fellowship Club and would like to hear Mr. Blakemore will be welcome to come. Mr. Blakemore will speak at 7 o'clock.

At the next meeting of the Woman's Auxiliary on Wednesday, D. M. Claghorne, director of Social Work of the Boston Y. M. C. A. will speak on "New Phases of Social Work."

SILVER WEDDING

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph E. Reinhalter entertained a large company of friends on Monday evening at their residence on Henshaw street, West Newton, the occasion being a celebration of the 25th anniversary of their marriage.

A very pleasing program of vocal and instrumental music was furnished
by Messrs James Ogle, Frank Langill, Joseph Hart Jr., Emil Reinhalter, Miss Irene Reinhalter and Edward Reinhalter. Mr. and Mrs. Reinhalter were the recipients of many beautiful gifts,
guests were present from Waltham, Braintree, Quincy, Boston, Brookline
and the Newtons.

Charles E. Lauriat Company has recently concluded a very unusual purchase of remainder lots of special editions, special styles, etc., from the stock of two leading American Publishers, the purchase including both standard sets and miscellaneous volumes. These are all being added to the numerous other bargain offerings
of their January Clearance Sale, so that their attractive store is a veritable mecca for booklovers these days.
The annual inventory takes place February first and the few remaining days
are times of exceptional bargain offerings.

NEWTON CATHOLIC CLUB

Holds Its Annual Banquet

The fourth annual banquet of the Newton Catholic Club was held at the clubhouse on Washington street, West Newton, last week Thursday evening, with about 250 members in attendance.

The occasion was rendered still more enjoyable by the presence of a number of prominent speakers as guests of the club. The guests also included representatives from several other clubs, the St. Alphonsus of Roxbury, St. Mary's of Cambridge, East Boston Catholic Literary Association
and the Canton Catholic Club. Alderman Thomas J. Sullivan of Newton
Upper Falls was toastmaster.

After the introductory remarks by Mr. Joseph J. Curran, president of the club, the members and guests had the pleasure of listening to Lieutenant Governor David I. Walsh, subject was "Citizenship." Mayor Charles E.
Hatfield, who spoke on "Our City," Rev. Benjamin F. Teeling on "The Church," Rev. John F. Keleher, spiritual director of the club, spoke on the work accomplished by the club
during the past year. Daniel J.
Gallagher, a former Newton boy,
spoke on "Our Country and Our Cred," and William Cahill, Jr., a young member of the club, spoke on the work of the club from a member's standpoint.

The Newton High School advisory committee on athletics, consisting of the members of the faculty, Dr. A. D.
Browne, physical director, and Alfred
W. Dickinson, instructor in athletics, met Tuesday afternoon and talked over various matters appertaining to athletics.

Dr. Browne and Coach Dickinson suggested to the other members of the committee the advisability of organizing senior, intermediate and junior divisions in track sports similar to that system now in vogue in the Boston High Schools. They were authorized to go ahead on the project and accomplish whatever they can this winter.
Next winter, however, track athletics will probably be made compulsory for every boy in the Newton High School, unless he is physically unfit to compete. Eventually the School Committee may pass a rule to give the boys credit for track work, as in gymnastics and physical training.

Coach Dickinson intends to have separate class meets for the sub-freshmen, freshmen, sophomores, juniors
and seniors some time before the regular interclass meet, which will be held on Washington's Birthday.

When the seniors hold their meet none of the regular candidates for the Newton High School team will be allowed to compete. Mr. Dickinson contending that they would have an advantage.

Dual meets will be arranged with several of the Boston High Schools, Brookline High and Cambridge Latin for the various classes just as soon as they round into condition. Captains and managers will be chosen in a few days, and Dr. Browne and Mr. Dickinson will supervise the training.

The committee also decided to allow Mr. Dickinson to organize a midday relay team, which will run its first race at the interclass games, Feb. 22, against Roxbury Latin, B. A. A. or Noble & Greenough midlets if those teams can be secured.

The track schedule approved by the committee is as follows:
Jan. 25—Newton High vs. Boston College High at Coast Artillery meet.
Feb. 1—Lowell High at Lowell (dual meet).
Feb. 1—Cambridge Latin at Newton (dual meet).
Feb. 22—Newton High interclass
meet.

March 1—B. A. A. indoor school
meet.

The opening game in the Triangular Hockey League series for the Newton
High and the Cambridge Latin School
seven, scheduled for tomorrow afternoon, has been postponed to Jan. 29
and will be played at the Boston Arena. Richard Roquemore, point, and Ray Stanley, forward, who recently gave up hockey to join the track team, notified Capt. Louis Forte and manager Donald Brooks that they will return to the seven for the Cambridge Latin game.

FORMER RESIDENT DEAD

Friends of Mr. Edgar F. Billings
were shocked to hear Wednesday evening of his sudden death from heart disease. Mr. Billings was taken ill at his office in Dorchester and carried immediately to his home on South street, Brighton, where death took place almost immediately. Mr.
Billings was born in this city on May 4, 1871, and was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Billings of Franklin street, Newton. He was educated at the Cutler school and graduated from Harvard in 1893. Later he studied chemistry and subsequently re-organized the Billings-Clapp Company, manufacturers of chemicals, a company which his father had established.

He is survived by a widow, four sons
and one daughter, also by his mother and a younger brother, Mr. Charles O.
Billings, both of Newton.

The Annual Parish Gathering of the First Baptist Church was held last Wednesday. The number present is said to have been the largest for many years and required the setting of tables
in the chapel as well as in the dining room. The evening's exercises included, after prayer by Rev. Galusha Anderson, D. D., greetings from many absent members, a statement by Mr.
E. R. Kimball, Jr., Chairman of the Prudential Committee and short addresses by Mr. Henry H. Kendall, Mrs.
R. R. West and Pres. George E. Hor-
r, D. D. These addresses were all fraternal and in a happy vein and gave the occasion the atmosphere of a family gathering. The evening's program was enriched by several musical selections by Mr. John Hermann Loud and Mrs. Marcia West Lewis, contralto in the church quartet.

The annual meeting of the Unitarian Society, held in the church parlors on Friday evening, was one of the most successful and enjoyable meet-

dinner was served in the vestry by the ladies of the Stebbins Alliance,

ing the prosperous condition of the society. Mr. James Kingman president of the Unitarian Society, presided
with his usual dignity and grace.
There were impromptu addresses by Mr. F. S. Melcher and Mr. George F.
Spaulding, and excellent singing by Messrs Quinlan and Drowne, accompanied by Mrs. E. J. Smith.

The opening of the Dental Clinic, which is promised in the near future, is one more step taken by the Newton Federation to bring Newton into line with other cities in its facility for social betterment. When any radically new measure is being proposed there are always the doubters. If there be any such in regard to this matter, the following extracts from Dr. Francis Leo Curtis of the Board of Health may serve to allay their doubts:

"I wish to express my hearty endorsement of the proposal to establish a Dental Clinic for the school children. We have felt the need of such a clinic ever since the beginning of medical inspection in the schools, and it is universally conceded by those who are familiar with school work that dental hygiene is the most important branch of the service. During the last year the (school) nurses have taken the worst cases to Boston clinics at a great expense of time.

"The establishment of a clinic in Newton will enable the nurses to save much time, as well as to care for our own cases within our own boundaries, always a desirable thing.

"In conclusion permit me to express the appreciation felt by the Board of Health for this addition to the means placed at its service for the important work of making the schools the means of sending out into the world strong, healthy children well fitted to take their places in the struggle for existence and to be the progenitors of normal descendants."

State Federation Announcements

On Saturday, Feb. 8, at 2 P. M., the Legislative Department will hold a conference at the New England Woman's Club rooms, 585 Boylston street, Boston, to consider the bills now before the legislature which the Federation will endorse. A new plan is to be tried this year with a view to a better understanding of matters before the bills are presented to the club women for endorsement at the Mid-Winter meeting of the Federation. The bills to be considered are those which have first been selected by the legislative department and approved by the Executive Board of the Federation. At the conference both sides of these bills will be presented by those competent to speak for or against them and there will be time for discussion. In this way it is hoped that the endorsement of the Federation will be intelligent and not a perfunctory matter. All club women are earnestly invited to attend the conference and it is suggested that the clubs appoint their delegates to the Federation meeting early enough so that they at least may also be present at this conference.

Tickets for the Peace meeting to be held at Tremont Temple on the evening of Feb. 11, have already been sent out to the clubs. Those holding tickets will be seated first and at 7.45 the doors will open to the public.

On Wednesday morning, Feb. 12, comes the regular Mid-Winter meeting of the Federation at Arlington Street Church with an interesting program, announcement of which will be given in a subsequent issue.

Local Happenings

The Parliamentary Law Club is continuing its study under the direction of Mrs. Elsie M. Sherman as in for-er years. At the last meeting a review of amendments was taken.

At the meeting of the Newton Centre Woman's Club last Thursday a very large number were present taking the seating capacity of the hall. Mrs. Mary Chittenden Bradford's account of Diarrhoea and his Contemporaries was most interesting, doubtless being increased on account of George Arliss's portrayal of the great man in the play which she did feel with them that the "capitalist system is responsible for the increasing burden of armaments, the poverty of the slums, child labor, most of the insanity, crime and prostitution, and much of the disease that afflicts mankind." She was also in agreement with them in the statement, that "since all social necessities today are socially produced, the means of their production and distribution shall be socially owned and democratically controlled."

On Monday afternoon the Newton Highlands C. L. S. C. met at the home of Mrs. Richards of Brookline when the club completed the South American countries under the leadership of Miss Josephine A. Ayers. Ecuador and Colombia were the two countries considered. The former, Ecuador, sometimes called the Switzerland of America, possessing some of the finest mountain scenery in the world. It has many rivers of commercial importance. The soil is very fertile and the country is rich in vegetation. The century plant is cultivated abundantly and every part of the plant is for some good purpose. Pure coffee is raised and a large part of it is sent to Spain. There is also some mineral wealth. The chief occupation of the people is the making of Panama hats.

Colombia, the most northern of the countries has both Atlantic and Pacific seacoast. Its climate is said to be perfect, a sort of perpetual spring. Bogota its capital is called the Boston of South America. Its altitude is so great that students can endure but four hours of study.

As a whole the people of the country are illiterate and lawless. For government there is the lowest form of a republic that exists anywhere. They make laws but they are not enforced. In fact both countries have less wealth and are farther behind than any others of South America.

At the last meeting of the Monday Club of Newton Highlands at the home of Mrs. J. E. Peckham, a paper was read by Mrs. C. T. Bartlett on the "Modern Drama."

She spoke of current plays, touching on the good points of "Madam X" and "Every-woman" of Massachusetts authorship, as also was its music. "Milestones" was noted, and many others by Massachusetts playwrights as those of Josephine Preston Peabody, Beulah Marie Dix, Florence Lincoln, David Cobb and Mr. Bullard. At Harvard there is a band of men standing for the betterment of the drama. We are advised by psychologists not to stifle the dramatic instinct in children and with this end in view the children's plays are written. The Educational and Industrial Union has played some of these.

Mrs. Bartlett spoke of the far-reaching effect of the drama. Moving picture shows of censored films were held to be a vivid mode of interestingly educating youth.

In Boston we have in "Bijou Dream" a fine example of the modern moving picture house sponsored by Mr. Keith of national fame. There one may see a clean show, pictures and a one act playlet. This is no vulgar theatre for violet light does not interfere with the film.

After Mrs. Bartlett closed a group of songs was sung by Miss Bartlett, Mrs. W. E. Bowen read the story of the theatrical production of Maeterlinck's "Bluebird" and Mrs. M. M. Griswold read that of Louisa Alcott's "Little Women."

On Tuesday morning the Auburndale Review Club held its usual mid-winter business meeting when reports were submitted and routine business transacted. Plans for next year were discussed.

The members of the Newtonville Woman's Guild had a most delightful program presented to them at the meeting Tuesday afternoon. Miss Mary Bartlett in elegant evening dress included songs by Mrs. L. E. Moore and Mrs. A. L. Wakefield with Mrs. Cabot as accompanist. Mrs. F. E. Menn gave two recitations, which were followed by a shadow pantomime, "Lord Allin's Daughter," the poem being read by Mrs. A. D. Sullivan. A bright sketch entitled "A Difference in Clocks," in which the parts were taken by Miss Basset and Mr. George Bridges closed the afternoon. A very large number were in attendance crowding the hall to overflowing.

A new club has been organized within the last few weeks in which a number of Newton women are interested. It is to be known as the Boston Parliamentary Law Club. Mrs. Anna L. Bailey has been elected first vice-president and Mrs. James I. Whitgate, the recording secretary. Mrs. Elsie M. Sherman, who drills the Newton Parliamentary Law Club, will be the parliamentary critic. The club has already about eighty members enrolled, a large number of whom were present at the first meeting held in the parlors of Hotel Buckminster, on Tuesday evening.

Professors Vida Scudder of Wellesley College addressed a large and interested audience at the meeting of the Social Science Club on Wednesday morning. Her topic was "The Socialist Program" with special references to their theories of property. She began by saying that she laid no claim to professional knowledge, her department was that of literature, and that she came as an amateur, but with the cause of the people close at heart. There is great need today of persons with strong convictions, she said, she is afraid of the lukewarm. Copies of the Socialist Party Platform adopted at the convention at Indianapolis in May, 1912, were distributed and Miss Scudder proceeded to discuss some of their tenets. While she agreed with many of their statements, she doubted if the increasing prosperity of the owning class actually does bring increasing misery and hardship upon the working class. But she did feel with them that the "capitalist system is responsible for the increasing burden of armaments, the poverty of the slums, child labor, most of the insanity, crime and prostitution, and much of the disease that afflicts mankind." She was also in agreement with them in the statement, that "since all social necessities today are socially produced, the means of their production and distribution shall be socially owned and democratically controlled."

In order to overcome the evils of child labor, prostitution and many others recognized at the present time Prof. Scudder felt that it can only be brought about by dealing a blow against the system that causes them, namely the capitalist system. Socialists hold that industry for profit is not necessary. The socialist movement, however, is wider than the Socialist Party.

In regard to the ownership of property the speaker said she had a deep feeling for the sacredness of property. Most people cannot own any, if statistics are to be believed. Almost one-half the families of the world are propertyless. In England it has been stated that every fifth man is dying a pauper, while in the United States seven-eighths of the people hold only about one-eighth of the property. Miss Scudder said that her experience in settlement work first led her to be a Socialist. The hand to mouth way in which the people lived with no protection against want prevented them from doing their work in the world with a quiet mind. A certain amount of property ownership is necessary, but she would see it more evenly divided. Extracts were read from Prof. Walter Rauschenbusch's latest book and high praise was given it.

Miss Scudder in speaking of socializing property said that it is a very different thing from communism. She suggested that most of us do not take a great deal of pleasure in owning things unless we can share them with others. She alluded to her own feeling of pride in sharing in the college property, the campus, the library and athletic equipment. The public library, she said, is the most perfect example of socialized property. She does not feel that socialism will make any very great progress until it wins the people religiously; but she believes that in the end it will be worked out through law abiding Christian principles with no dislocation of the social order.

NEWTON FEDERATION

There was an unusually large attendance at the quarterly meeting of the Newton Federation executive board held at the New Church parlors on Monday morning of this week. It was announced that the Education department of the State Federation had consented to arrange a conference to be held in Newtonville by invitation of the Newton Federation on February 26th for the latter's Mid-Winter meeting. This will be a conference pure and simple when the subject of Moral Education will be presented and discussed and also the Montessori Method of training children.

The resignation of Mrs. A. P. Felton as chairman of the Nominating committee was accepted with regret and Mrs. E. C. Hinkley was elected to fill the vacancy.

Interest centered about the reports of the Social Service and of the Education committees. Mrs. B. E. Taylor for the Social Service committee stated that demands of all sorts are coming, demonstrating the increasing need of the Bureau proposed last year. Plans are now well under way for the opening of the new Dental Clinic for which the committee has been planning for some time. At a recent meeting called of dentists, and others interested in the clinic, pledges from twelve dentists were received of a half day a month free service. A room in the Clifton school building has been secured, which will be fitted up immediately at the expense of the Federation and the clinic will be opened just as soon as arrangements can be completed. It is proposed to have the clinic open on Tuesday and Thursday afternoons and on Saturdays. The school nurses who have been most anxious for this work have estimated that 1000 children in the school need treatment and that there are at least 5000 cavities needing to be attended to. The committee is desirous of having it understood that only children who cannot pay to have it done elsewhere will be treated and it is proposed to charge a small fee, the school nurse being the one to decide in regard to it.

Mrs. L. S. Drake, chairman of the Education committee, reported concerning the emergency room which is being equipped at the classical high school. The expense of putting the room in order has been met from funds of the Federation held for social service, while the furnishings have been secured from money contributed individually by club women. The room taken for the purpose is the one that has been used by the women teachers. An adjoining recreation room has been taken for them, giving them larger and more comfortable quarters. The room has been fitted up with an iron bed, hair mattress, pillows and bedding and a Red Cross cabinet. It is expected that everything will be in readiness by the end of the present week.

Notwithstanding the storm a large number of women responded to the invitation of the Newton Centre Woman's Club on Thursday afternoon to hear W. L. Hubbard's lecture on "The Jewels of the Madonna." Mr. Hubbard spoke in an interesting way of the requisites needed to a real enjoyment of a work of art—not a technical knowledge, but a sympathetic understanding, the right mood and especially the need of imagination. Following the introductory remarks he gave a vivid story of the opera, "The Jewels of the Madonna." Mr. Waller, who was to have furnished music, was detained by illness, but the violin solo by Mrs. Allen Hubbard, a member of the club, was very beautiful and was a great addition to the program. The second lecture will be given on Feb. 20.

Newton Ladies' Home Circle are to hold (through courtesy of their friends in the church) an all-day sewing meeting on Thursday, Jan. 30, from 9.30 A. M. to 6 P. M. in the New Unitarian Church parlors, West Newton. Basket lunch provided by all members. This is to prepare for a coming sale and it is especially desired that all members will attend. It will be a most enjoyable day.

Also a patriotic whist will be given in the G. A. R. Hall, Newtonville, on Wednesday, February 12, at 2.30 sharp

THE BOLD, BAD MILKMAN

To the Editor:

The Good Book says that "While men sleep the enemy sowed tares," so while most of us sleep, the milkman sows broken bottles, which are even worse than tares, so far at least as their effect on auto tires at fifty dollars each, is concerned. A bottle is dropped, is broken, and left to make trouble, as the milkman goes on his way.

This should not be, and need not be, for each bottle bears the name or initials that distinguishes it. If Hood's name, for instance, is on the bottle, the driver of Hood's wagon for that particular route is the offender, and should be brought to book.

The man who cares for the electric lights is also a dangerous offender, for it is a common sight to see a pile of broken glass under an electric light. Let those who have suffered in this way get together and abate these nuisances.

TUDHOPE-PARSONS

In one corner of the handsome parlor, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. O. F. Black of Jefferson street, Newton, under an arch decorated with evergreen, Miss Elizabeth Parsons of Newtonville, was married Wednesday evening to Mr. Harry Tudhope, a popular young man of Alburgh, Vt., by the Rev. Richard T. Loring of Newtonville. Mr. Charles H. Black of Newton was best man and Miss Alice Connor of Augusta, Maine, was bridesmaid.

The minister stood under the arch when the bridegroom entered the parlor on the arm of the best man, while the wedding march was being played by Mrs. Tobey.

The bridesmaid preceded the bride and carried a sheaf of red roses when the bride came down the stairs carrying a sheaf of white roses and entered the parlor on the arm of Mr. Warren H. Brayton of Roslindale.

The bride wore a white gown while the bridesmaid dressed in blue. After the ceremony and while receiving the congratulations of the company, the newly-weds were showered with confetti amid the good-humored jollifying of the friends.

The thirty or forty relatives and friends present were bountifully served with refreshments and entertained with a reading by Miss Edith Briggs.

The presents were numerous and costly, chief among which was a check for a goodly sum from the father and mother of the bridegroom. Mr. and Mrs. Tudhope were taken to Boston in an automobile, from which city they started on their honeymoon.

They will visit relatives in New Hampshire and Quebec, Canada, where the bride was born.

After the honeymoon the young couple will reside in Alburgh, Vermont.

HIGHLAND GLEE CLUB

The eleventh concert of this organization will be given in Bray Hall, Broadway evening, February 6, at eight o'clock, and the club has been particularly fortunate in securing as the soloist, Miss Josephine Knight, soprano. They will also have the assistance of Mr. Almon J. Fairbanks, accompanist. The concert will be given as usual under the direction of Mr. Edgar Jacobs Smith.

The club has been largely augmented this year and it is expected that they will give the most interesting performance in their history.

The program will be largely unaccompanied and there will be one soprano obligato number.

It will be remembered that this organization gave a very interesting vespers service at the First Baptist Church, Newton Centre, last April, when several hundred persons were turned away owing to lack of room to accommodate all who wished to hear them.

The public will be particularly interested therefore, to know of another opportunity to hear this organization, which is doing such good work.

REPORT DISEASES

Board of Health Wants Prompt Notice

To the Editor of the Newton Graphic:—As there seems to be a lack of knowledge on the part of many citizens as to the responsibility of parents or guardians in regard to reporting cases of disease, may I ask you to print this in a prominent place.

The state law declares certain diseases "dangerous to the public health," and requires that each case be reported to the local Board of Health. Among these diseases diphtheria, scarlet fever, measles, chicken pox and whooping cough are included.

The State Statute reads as follows: "When a householder knows that a person within his family or house is sick with a disease dangerous to the public health, he shall immediately give notice thereof to the Board of Health of the city or town wherein he lives."

It is customary for Boards of Health to waive this requirement on the part of the householder when a physician has been called to see the case, as the duty of reporting then falls upon the physician.

There are, however, many cases of measles, chicken pox and whooping cough to which no physician is called, and in these cases the parent or guardian neglects his duty if he does not report the case. It is due to this failure to notify the Board of Health of the presence of communicable disease that many outbreaks in the schools occur, and I would request all parents and guardians to assist the Board of Health by reporting as early as possible all cases of these diseases occurring in their families, to which no physician has been called.

Very truly yours,
FRANCIS GEO. CURTIS, M.D.,
Chairman.

B. F. KEITH'S THEATRE

The event of the season from a dramatic standpoint in Boston vaudeville will be the appearance at B. F. Keith's Theatre next week of David Belasco's masterpiece, "The Drums of Oude." This is a one-act playlet by Austin Strong, dealing with the days of the terrible Indian Mutiny of 1857. "The Drums of Oude" is staged with all that finesse and genius of stage craft that have won for David Belasco the title of "The Wizard of Stagecraft." Real Hindus are employed for the native parts, while the company engaged to present the play is of the all-star variety. "The Drums of Oude" will be presented for one week only. Surrounding it is one of the best bills of the year, including Frank North & Co. in "Back in Wellington"; Cross & Josephine; Smith, Volk & Cronin; Four Onetti Sisters; the Helm Children; the Gee Gaws; Stuart and Keely; and Archie Onri.

BOSTON THEATRE

No more gorgeous and varicolored picture book has ever been unfolded than the stage form of this famous romance of the desert, which is being presented at the Boston Theatre, before large and deeply interested audiences. The production proper, for which we are indebted to the Leblond Company, is a spectacle beautiful to behold. The play itself may be said to stand alone among similar dramas of the moment in spiritual elevation, for the book from which it is taken has produced a profound impression among all those who have read it. Mr. Hichens, author of the novel, and Mary Anderson, who assisted him in the work of dramatization, have proved remarkably expert as playwrights. During the Boston engagement, which is a limited one, matinees will be given on Wednesdays and Saturdays. The curtain rises promptly at 2 o'clock at the matinees and at 8 o'clock for the evening performances.

MR. PERKINS DEAD

Mr. John B. Perkins, the inventor of the Bradford steam gauge, died last Sunday at his home on Central street, Auburndale. Mr. Perkins was a native of Boston, and was 43 years of age. He was treasurer of the J. B. Perkins Equipment Co. of Boston, and is survived by a widow, two sons and a daughter.

Mr. Perkins was a lineal descendant of General John Sullivan and General James Sullivan of Revolutionary fame. Funeral services were held at his late home on Wednesday afternoon in charge of Rev. W. C. Gordon, D. D., of the Congregational Church of Auburndale, assisted by Rev. Allen Stockdale of Boston. A Masonic service was also held. Mr. Perkins being a member of Dalhousie Lodge of Newtonville.

MR. LENTELL DEAD

Mr. Benjamin Lentell, one of the oldest persons in the city, died at his home on Pearl street, Newton, late Tuesday evening, from pneumonia, augmented by the recent death of his wife, with whom he had lived for over 65 years. Mrs. Lentell died last Friday and her death greatly affected Mr. Lentell, who was also ill at the time. Mr. Lentell was born in Weston and was 92 years of age on Dec. 28 last. He learned the trade of a shoemaker, but for many years was engaged in farming in Canton and Needham. Some thirty years ago, he kept a grocery store for a short time in what was Nonantum Block at Newton. He retired from active business about seven years ago and has made his home here ever since. He was one of a group of aged men who cast their vote in ward 7 for president in November. Mr. Lentell was a life long member of the Baptist Church. He is survived by four sons and two daughters, Mr. Charles B. Lentell of Newton Highlands, Mr. George P. Lentell of Canton, Mr. John H. Lentell of Beloit, Wis., Mr. William J. Lentell of Randolph, Mass., Mr. R. R. Wilson of New Haven, Conn., and Mrs. George B. Dowley of Hyde Park.

Funeral services were held this afternoon at his late home, in charge of Rev. Mr. Sawtell, pastor of the Baptist Church, Needham, of which Mr. Lentell was a member. The burial was at Canton.

WHY OLLIE WAS WORRIED

Statesman Had Reporters, Who Were Watching His Actions, Also on the Anxious Seat.

Ollie James, permanent chairman of the Democratic convention at Baltimore, was seen in the lobby of the Belvedere hotel in that city one day right in the middle of the tremendous struggle over the nomination. He stopped his huge bulk in the middle of the floor, threw up his hands in a gesture of despair and boomed: "By George, I almost forgot it!"

A dozen reporters were trailing him. What had he forgotten? Certainly it must be something of transcendent importance and the situation was tremendously critical.

James pushed his way through the crowd. He was in a hurry, it evidently was important. A dozen reporters chased after him. James almost ran up to the newstand. The reporters arrived with him.

"Gee," sighed James. "I'm glad I didn't forget it after all."

The reporters crowded round. Something was coming off—but what?

"Gee," said James again, "it would have been terrible if I had forgotten it."

"What is it?" yelled the excited reporters.

"Son," said James to the newstand boy, "gimme a quarter's worth of chewing-gum."—Baltimore Sun.

Wives of Prominent Public Men Develop Faiths That Attract Many Followers.

Strange creeds among women no longer cause the excitement they did in former years, and it is interesting to note how many women of distinction have departed from the beaten path of orthodoxy and have raised altars to alien gods.

Mrs. George Dewey has long been a student of the occult and her researches into eastern religion have been profound and along original lines. There are three leaders of the Christian Science faith among the wives of United States senators—Mrs. George T. Oliver of Pennsylvania; Mrs. Gilbert Hitchcock of Nebraska; and Mrs. John D. Works of California—and there are about 20 other women in the senatorial and congressional set who believe in Christian Science, New Thought or similar creeds.

Mrs. Hayes, wife of the member of congress from San Jose, Cal., is a founder of a new religion called the True Faith of Christ.

THE OLD "LEGIT" OBJECTS

Scene in Moving Picture Theater Too Much for His Idea of the Dignity of the Stage.

An old "legit" reeled into the street from out a ten-cent moving picture theater, his hand to his head, and exhibiting all the symptoms of having received a mortal blow. Two or three sympathetic citizens, one of them the usher of the theater, rushed to his assistance, asking if he was hurt much and wondering if they should call for an ambulance. The old man turned fiercely on the usher and replied:

"Of course I am hurt much—morally wounded—look at that!"

He pointed dramatically to a poster which announced that "The Merchant of Venice" was being performed with in.

"I went in to see that masterpiece even as a moving picture, for I am without prejudice, and know that pantomime is a great art—but what do I see? A Portia that wears an Irish lace collar around her head for a Venetian cap, who skips through her part like a frisky soubrette, and when the manufactured scene showing her visit to the Duke of Bellario is introduced, and the duke with a goodly amount of dignity evidently tells her with lips that are hidden by whiskers what she is to do, she looks at him and says, her movement of lips showing the words plainly, 'That'll be fine.' Shade of Shakespeare! Had he been buried in this country he would have risen today to expire again in agony."

FORTNIGHTLY CLUB

The Fortnightly Club of Newton Centre held an unusually interesting meeting at the home of Mrs. Robert M. Clark of Homer street on Wednesday afternoon.

Miss Emma E. Porter talked on "Art as a Story-Teller,"—going back to the Greeks, who adorned their walls with pictures of the myths, legends and deeds of their time; then to the Romans and Florentines—when the story of the picture was almost wholly Biblical or theological; down through the medieval to the modern art as expressed by Hogarth in the 18th century—later the Dutch painters, telling the fascinating pictures of home life, and finally our own Corot, Millet and many others.

All these periods were profusely illustrated; and were described by Miss Porter in her inimitably fascinating manner, which only those who have once heard her can fully appreciate.

The tea which followed was in charge of Mrs. William H. Rice.

Thieving Chinese Coolies.

Among Chinese coolies a favored method of stealing rice is to lean up against a pile of sacks and stick a tin tube through the sack, the rice, which is dry, flowing naturally through the tube into the cooler's clothing. Flour is also stolen in this manner, and a common punishment in this case is to let the thief obtain a large quantity and then pour water into his clothing, which makes matters rather uncomfortable for the culprit.

Earliest Record of Coal in America.

The earliest record of coal in America is by Father Hennepin, in his "New Discovery of a Vast Country in America," published in London, 1698. A "coal-mine" had been discovered on the Illinois river near the present city of Ottawa. The first coal work was in the Richmond (Va.) coal fields about 1750.

SENATOR WEEKS RETIRES

Hon. John W. Weeks, congressman from the fifth district and recently elected senator to succeed Hon. W. Murray Crane on March 4, announces that he will retire from all active business connections in order to devote his time to public duties. He will retire from the banking firm of Hornblower & Weeks, with which he has been associated since August 6, 1888, as of January 31. His decision also means his retirement as vice president and director in the First National Bank and the Newton Trust Company, and from the directorate of the United States Smelting, Refining & Mining Company.

"On account of my election to the United States Senate," said Mr. Weeks, "and the necessity for my giving my entire time to my official duties, I am, as far as possible, withdrawing from all business connections. It is for this reason that on January 31 I am to sever my connection with the firm of Hornblower & Weeks."

NEW CAPTAIN

The election to fill the vacancy of captain in Co. 5th Infantry, M.V.M., was held Monday in the Armory at West Newton. Lieut. George H. Daniels received 26 and Lieut. George S. Coulter 21 votes.

Major Meredith of the 5th Infantry presided. Capt. Daniels succeeds Capt. George F. Guilford, who resigned last June, and has been acting commander of the company since that time. Capt. Daniels enlisted in Co. C—the "Clifton Guards"—Jan. 20, 1902. He was promoted to corporal in 1902, made a duty sergeant in 1904, was elected to the rank of second lieutenant the same year and has been first lieutenant since 1904.

TREMONT THEATRE — "Milestones," the quaint and charming comedy-drama has fairly captured Boston theatregoers, though, indeed, the patronage of the Tremont Theatre is by no means confined to Bostonians.

"Milestones" is a beautiful play, beautifully written, beautifully acted and its appeal is universal. All the world loves a lover, and there are lovers a-plenty in this dainty comedy drama. It would be difficult indeed to crowd more youth and romance into three acts than has this elegant collaboration, which, starting with that most uncommon element of the modern play—a real idea—have developed that idea logically and forcefully without for a moment sacrificing charm to preachment. If the eyes grow moist from time to time, as the heart becomes touched, the tears are quickly chased away by laughter. One leaves the theatre reluctant to part from the three generations of dear friends whose joys and sorrows have been so intimately portrayed.

RECEPTION

The leading social event of the week in Newtonville, was the reception and tea given by Mrs. Frank Weddel Pray, yesterday afternoon from 4 until 6, at her residence on Kirkfall road. In the dining room, where tea, chocolate and refreshments were served, the decorations were yellow, and Marguerites, jonquills and tulips were used in effective arrangement on mantles, buffet and table.

PHYSICAL EDUCATION

Digest of Lectures Before the Woman's Athenaeum

The second lecture of the Athenaeum's series of lectures, on "Physical Education" by Dr. Laura Carnell, of the Temple University in Philadelphia, was read this afternoon at Temple Hall, Newtonville, by Miss Emily Browne Mitchell, of the Leland Powers School of Expression. There was a large and thoroughly representative audience of Newton women.

The Athenaeum's series is developing in interest and practicality, and while the two lectures which have so far been delivered have proved of the utmost interest to women here, the schedule announced by the Athenaeum promises even better things.

Talking of "Physical Education" Dr. Carnell points out that the phrase is made to include "all that relates to the muscular development and care of the organs of sensation, and of the muscular and nervous system. Sight, hearing, touch, taste, smell are to be developed to their highest efficiency and their organs given proper and intelligent care. The child readily learns the primary colors, but must be taught to distinguish shades and tints. We have been inclined to think this too difficult a task for the young child. But Dr. Montessori, in the apparatus she has designed as aids in educating little children from three to six years of age, has introduced boxes containing the colors, giving with each color many of its shades and tints. The child in its play is given a delicate tint or the deeper shade of a color from one box and sent to find another like it in some other place. It is only a game to the child, but the child's eye is being trained. If the training is continued in later education, the wonderful color-world will be opened up to children which remains closed to too many of us."

Dr. Carnell went on to point out that when men with untrained muscles failed at the oars in the lifeboats of the Titanic, American women, delicate, refined, but with educated muscles as well as educated minds, took their places. "The body," says Dr. Carnell, "is both the servant and master of mind and spirit."

Dr. Carnell is no advocate of artificial beauty, but tells us that air, sun-shine, and soft water are the best natural aids to natural beauty. She points out that one of the younger, but rapidly growing schools of medicine, bases its whole treatment upon the theory that if the blood circulates freely to every part, the body will be able to do all its work well. Exercise in the open air gives the greatest and quickest impulse to the nervous system. It must be sought even though it entails some sacrifice in some other direction. Indoor exercise may train the senses, but outdoor exercise gives us a sense of health, a feeling of complete renewal within.

The lecture announced for next month is "Dress as a Domestic Art" by Charlotte M. Gibbs, of the Department of Economy, University of Illinois.

An enthusiastic audience that completely filled the auditorium of the Newton Club greeted the artists that were to make up the array of "talent" offered to Newton Club members last Tuesday evening. It is not often that such a state of affairs exists, and best of all, the program rendered, was worthy of such an audience.

The artists were Lilla Osgood Crocker, Contralto, Howard W. White, a most versatile musician, who played 'cello, sang bass songs and arias and, in addition, read most effectively, Longfellow's great poem—called by many, his greatest, and perhaps the greatest "sermon" poem ever written; Walter E. Loud, violin soloist and last, but not least, by any means, Ernest W. Harrison, pianist. In fact, Mr. Harrison was presented to Newton Club members in an entirely new field, and one which to them was a most pleasant revelation—as soloist as well as accompanist, for he participated in every number, not only as accompanist, but as a beautiful accompaniment to "Robert of Sicily" composed by Rosseter Cole.

It would be difficult to select any one number as the best, or the most pleasing, for the entire program was an "Encore" program; every number given being encored and sometimes several times.

Mrs. Crocker possesses a most winning personality and her voice was especially brilliant in the group of French songs. A mature contralto tone, like that of a 'cello, is always lovable and this was perhaps Mrs. Crocker's chief charm; at the same time she was warm, her execution was good and her tone pure and sympathetic and enunciation most desirable.

Mr. White, as we have stated before, sang, read and played. In all of these he was well received; to tell the truth, he is perhaps the biggest favorite the Newton Club has had for years, and best of all—he is to appear again in a very few weeks with his wife, Madame Evelyn Scotney, of the Boston Opera who will sing, with the consent of Henry E. Russell, a recital program with flute obbligato, as we stated last week, studied for several years with Ysaie. He played the Vieuxtemps concerto and for an encore number gave Tchaikovsky's "En Bourdon" which it was necessary to repeat. For his second appearance he included a composition of his own, which was really his best work, a Tarentelle. For his second encore number he played the Thais "Meditation."

The concert was under the direction of Mr. A. H. Handley.

DENTAL CLINIC

To Be Established in Old Claflin School Newtonville

Within a few days a dental clinic for the benefit of poor pupils of Newton public schools will be opened in the old Claflin School building on Claflin place, Newtonville. Modern dental equipment that cost in the vicinity of $400 has been purchased under the direction of dentists of the city and the work of renovating two rooms in the building is the only thing that is delaying the start of the clinic.

The Social Service Committee of the Newton Federation of Women's Clubs is responsible for the project and the initial cost is being assumed by the Federation. However, the school physicians and nurses and Dr. Francis G. Curtis, head of the Board of Health, heartily endorse the idea and the school committee, tendered the use of the rooms, free of expense for rent, light and heat.

Investigations by the school inspectors brought to light the fact that in one school section there was an average of five teeth cavities to a pupil and in another section on the south side of the city, there were at least five thousand cavities in need of attention.

Children who are in a position to pay regular dentists' fees will not be admitted to the clinic. All other cases will be passed on by the school physicians and nurses, and, at the outset, twenty dentists have pledged their professional services free. This will make it necessary to call on each dentist not often more than once a month. The list includes not only those dentists who practice in Newton but a number of well-known members of the profession who make their home here.

At present there are no school sessions in Newton on Tuesday and Thursday afternoons and all day Saturday, so the clinic will be held on those dates for the present. Later, it will be extended and in extreme cases pupils will be excused from classes to have their teeth treated. Such cases will be under the supervision of the nurses.

A sliding scale of prices will be established and the amount each patient shall pay will be decided by the doctors and nurses in charge of the school where the pupil is enrolled. However, those who are unable to pay at all will get the same attention as the others and it is thought that the money taken in from the patients will provide the necessary material.

The retirement of Mr. Weeks from the firm of Hornblower and Weeks with which he has been identified for twenty-five years testifies in no uncertain tones to the high standard which Senator elect Weeks has set for himself as Senator from the Commonwealth of Massachusetts. Complete freedom from personal business interests will prevent any suspicion
 from attaching to his work and his vote in the Senate of the United States
 from persons who do not know him.
 We, in Newton, have absolute confidence that personal business interests
 do not and have not affected his official acts, but it is the part of wisdom to make his position so plain that no one can possibly misunderstand it.
 At the same time, it is a serious reflection on the American public that no man engaged in any business of importance, can enter public life, without having his motives and his acts misinterpreted and criticized.
 And it is one reason, why, today, men
 of large affairs refuse to give the public benefit of their experience and advice.

Much sympathy is being wasted this week over the sickness of a man confined in our penal institutions for using other people's money illegally.
 It is rather hard to see why there should be any difference between the poor man who steals and the rich man who commits the same crime. When the poor man in prison is taken sick
 he is treated at the prison hospital, while the friends of the rich man take that opportunity to arouse a sickle public sentiment and to secure his release from jail. Yielding to public sentiment of this sort will soon create the opinion that the rich man may commit financial crimes without feeling the penalty of the law, while the poor man sick or well must take his sentence without hope of executive clemency.

The public reception tendered Senator John W. Weeks last Saturday evening at the City Hall was a great success and gave this city an opportunity to show the rest of the Commonwealth, that Newton appreciates
 the honor which has come to Mr.
 Weeks and the city which he makes his home. The crowd which surged thru the venerable City Hall the entire evening was composed of all sorts and conditions of men and women and gave conclusive evidence that the new senator will represent the whole Commonwealth, and not a clique or class. It was a splendid tribute to the personal worth of John W. Weeks.

The maudlin sentiment which has been expressed this week over the wrong doing of General Sikes should disgust every decent person. It is well to honor men who have done brave deeds, but clean living and honesty should be the companions of bravery, and a disregard for the moral and criminal law should be punished,
 regardless of the unstable sentiment
 aroused by a few interested persons.

The suggestion this week in a Boston paper that the Progressive and Republican parties might unite this fall on a ticket of Bid for governor and McGregor for lieutenant governor has considerable merit and is worth considering.

UNDER THE GILDED DOME

The important matter of the length of hat pins to be worn by the ladies occupied considerable time of the 240
 members of the House this week, and after the committee recommendation of an allowance of one half inch beyond the crown of the hat had been opposed by an amendment allowing a projection of two inches, Mr. Both-field offered a compromise length of one inch, which was finally adopted.
 Another victory for Newton diplomacy.

Representative White, for the committee on Rules, was defeated on the bill to investigate the Telephone business by a special committee of the Legislature. Mr. White brought out the fact that the Highway Commission
 had just concluded an investigation,
 taking much time and costing $50,000,
 and that the committee suggested that the investigation which would be given by members of the Legislature, limited to a few weeks, would be of doubtful value.
 The House, however, took the bit in its teeth and ordered the investigation.
 There has been considerable Newton interest in committee hearings
 this week. Three bills were heard by the committee on cities on Wednesday. The bill to establish the office of comptroller of accounts for this city was favored by City Solicitor Slocum, Mayor Hatfield, Mr. Waddell
 of the State Bureau of statistics and Alderman A. S. Pratt. There was no opposition. The bill to amend Newton to lay sewer in Waltham for a short distance was favored by Mr. Slocum and there was no opposition made by the Waltham men present. The bill to repeal the amendment to the city charter giving the mayor drastic power of removal of heads of departments was favored by ex-mayor Hutchinson and ex-representative John F. Lohrop and the writer, and opposed by ex-mayor Weed, Alderman Blakemore and the City Solicitor.

Mr. Slocum opposed the bill before the committee on Education that all school teachers be allowed one half compensation during all vacations.
 Col. Edward H. Haskell, of Newton, asked the same committee to allow the trustees of the American College for Girls at Constantinople to hold $6,000,000 in property instead of the present limit of $1,500,000. Mr.
 Charles A. Brown of Auburndale, for the N. E. Shoe and Leather Association protested the passage of a bill to prohibit the substitution of paper
 in making shoes unless so marked on the sole.

The hearings were resumed this week on the Ellis Milk bill and as usual attracted a great deal of interest. It is said that the fine work done in behalf of the bill by Mr.
 Myron E. Pierce has greatly reduced the opposition from the farmers and other producers and many petitions
 have been received urging its passage
 by the present Legislature.

Representative George H. Ellis, after whom the bill is named, discussed the merits of the measure and declared that many producers have come to see now that many others saw three years ago and are in agreement with the movement. There is now a strong and general feeling that bacteria should be kept out of the milk from the very start. The speaker claimed that the bill of the Board of Agriculture for $15,000 in prizes for the cleanest and best dairies is no contribution to the subject, because the money will go to those dairies which already are in good and clean condition, while it is the unsatisfactory dairies that the law should aim at.

Senate Chairman Ward of Buckland advanced an argument that people have been thriving on the milk in past years, when they did not know about bacteria, and it must be agreed that the milk has improved without any centralized authority. The Massachusetts producers will be helped by the bill, said Mr. Ellis, because the contractors will not be able to go to other States and buy a poorer quality of milk and sell it here in competition.

As the discussion continued Representative Ellis declared that no matter what happens the price of milk will have to go up. Milk cannot be sold profitably for less than ten cents a quart, because no farmer can afford to raise milk for less than five cents a quart. He said the milk producers are among the poorest paid people in the State. They do not even get as much as the poorest paid help in department stores. The farmer may be satisfied with the five cents a quart rate, but it does not satisfy him if he expects to get as much as the mechanic in the city who works eight hours a day.

Mr. Lewis R. Spauld of Newton Centre spoke against Mayor Fitzgerald's bill to license a portion of the fees for automobile licenses, on the ground that motorists submit to this form of double taxation for the reason that the money goes to State roads. Other places, such as Brookline and Newton, have as good a claim as Boston for a share of the fund and they would demand it if Boston were to receive any,
 and then there would be no money for State road maintenance. If the mayor had his way and got the money and then opened up Franklin Park to automobiles there would be no places for horses.

The only solution of the question of motor and horse traffic is a separate road, such as the city of Newton has introduced on the Newton Boulevard.
 The State association, he said, is against any increase in the fees for pleasure motor vehicles. In conclusion he called attention to the very large revenue that Boston receives from motor vehicles taxed as personal property. The motor vehicle fees are absolutely needed for the State roads.

TEMPLES INSPECTED

Gethsemane Commandery, K. T., received its first official inspection Tuesday night from Grand Lecturer James
 S. Blake and in honor of this event,
 every member of the Commandery, 125, was present in uniform.

An elaborate spread was served to 200 members and guests and then the party repaired to the asylum where the Grand Commander, Frank L. Nagle, a member of the Gethsemane Commandery was received with fitting honors.
 After the official inspection, there was a exemplification of the Order of Malta under the direction of the Em-

WOMEN'S CLUBS

MISS GRACE M. BUNT, Editor.

To appreciate that the world really does move it is only necessary to look back a few years and take account of stock. Some nine or ten years ago the benefits of parcel post were set forth earnestly to the members of the Social Science Club. It has taken time, more perhaps than was really necessary, but at last it is an accomplished fact. It will take some time to become thoroughly acquainted with all its possibilities, but that it is a great gain is already understood. Since the first of January a package weighing six pounds was sent from Newton to Quincy by express, at a cost of fifty cents. It was of such a nature that supposedly it would not come under parcel post. Afterwards it was discovered that it might have gone that way and the cost would have been but ten cents. To those who have sent suitcases and typewriters by mail in Europe the American limit of eleven pounds seems a little hampered. Let us, however, be glad for the move in the right direction and hope for further benefits in the future.

Travel Happenings

The Travel Class of the West Newton Women's Educational Club met at the home of Mrs. George St. Amant in Auburndale on January 16th. Mrs. Harry Wells' paper on "Manufacturing and Commerce of Argentina" was particularly well prepared and full of interest. Mrs. John R. McLean described the farming, cattle raising and climatic conditions of Argentina.

At the last meeting of the West Newton Women's Educational Club on January 24th, in charge of the Home Economics committee, Mrs. H. M. Chamberlain, chairman, a talk on "What makes housekeeping worth while" was given by Miss Frances Stern. The subject was presented in a clear, forceful manner. Questions and discussion followed the talk. Instrumental music added to the pleasure of the afternoon. A delightful tea in charge of Mrs. G. C. Holbrook concluded the afternoon's entertainment.

On Saturday afternoon at the meeting of the Newton Highlands Shakespear Club, Mrs. W. M. Mick gave a very interesting report of the Newton Federation executive board meeting. The club was asked to endorse the candidacy of Mrs. John T. Prince for member of the school committee. After which the study of Coriolanus was taken up under the direction of Mrs. F. S. Keith. Mrs. Gilbert was hostess and all enjoyed her hospitality.

Professor Marshall L. Perrin, Boston University and for many years Superintendent of the Wellesley schools, gave a very bright and interesting talk before the Waban Woman's Club on "The Modern Child" on Monday afternoon, January the twenty-seventh, at the home of Mrs. Frank L. Miller of Chestnut street. He carried the development of the child from kindergarten to college, mentioning the Froebel method as the foundation of most American kindergartens only modified to suit the nervous children of this country who need to be held back rather than pushed forward. He called the first and second grades the "Why" and "What for" ages and the fourth grade the time when the memory particularly develops.

He then in a most instructive and heads, the hearts and the hands, saying that children's heads were better developed now than in former days, but that their hearts and hands were much more idle at present, which is most deplorable. He said that this idle condition had been somewhat remedied at Wellesley by the opening of a Manual Training School for boys, every afternoon and Saturday, where they could learn to work with their hands. Mothers must go to clubs, he said, and keep up with current events in order to have the same interests as her children. A pleasant tea ended this enjoyable afternoon.

The C. L. S. C. met at the home of Mrs. Swift on Monday. The subject of the afternoon's work was "The Pan-American Union" which was presented in a most instructive and interesting manner by Mrs. A. F. Hayward and Mrs. White.

The Union comprises twenty-one American Republics—eleven from North America and ten from South America. The object of the Union is the promotion of peace, friendship and commercial interests between all the republics. It is distinctively an international bureau of the American republics to distribute general information, and is an independent international institution.

Mr. John Barrett is the director-general of the whole Pan-American Union.

It is a fact worthy of note that foreign countries have offered no unjust criticisms or shown no antagonistic spirit on account of this organization.

Formerly the United States had little or no commerce with these republics compared with that of England and other foreign countries, but the last ten years have shown a great increase.

A detailed description of the beautiful Pan-American building at Washington was given and numerous photographs shown. It was completed in 1910 at a cost of a million dollars of which Andrew Carnegie contributed three-quarters.

Two Philadelphia architects designed the building and it is magnificent in every particular. Here are held many diplomatic functions and on every occasion there is the best of good-fellowship manifested.

The first conference was suggested by James G. Blaine and since that time there have been four others.

At the meeting of the Auburndale Review Club on Tuesday morning held at the home of Mrs. E. C. Hammond, a program of Home Economics was given with papers by Miss Rider, Mrs. G. M. Winslow and Miss Ella Smith.

The subjects of buying food, co-operative buying, co-operative stores and simplified living were considered, all very practical matters.

The Pierian Club observed "guest day" on Wednesday afternoon when about fifty members and their friends met at the home of Mrs. H. E. Locke. The program included piano music by Miss Gladys Billings, songs by Miss Pringle, Mills and recitations of Irish Folk Lore and Folk Songs by Mr. Cronan of Dorchester. A social hour with refreshments closed a very enjoyable afternoon.

The members and guests of the Social Science Club on Wednesday morning listened to a deep, thoughtful and sane presentation of the subject, "Is Interest earned?" by Prof. Carver of Harvard University. One felt instinctively the logical reasoning and sound premises of the speaker, that he was one who spoke with authority.

He began by saying that social expediency in the broadest sense determines the right and wrong in everything. In the normal social system the individual is never allowed to succeed by destructive powers.

Prof. Carver's statement is, "If interest is earned, no one can logically be a socialist; if it is not, no one can logically be anything but a socialist." Following these out, he said, if it is not earned then we need more capitalists, but if it is, the more capitalists the better. One of the mistakes of the socialists is that they take into consideration only one class of people and do not see things from the standpoint of all people. As an example he said, if there is an abundant supply of servants in a community, then it worse for them, as wages will go down; while a scarcity of servants will bring up the wages and make it better for the servants; but from the standpoint of the employers, the abundance of servants is a good thing, while the scarcity is bad. This is a fundamental difference, which he defied his audience to find a socialist who ever pointed it out.

Interest is the payment made for the use of wealth. The Christian church

In early times forbid the taking of usury. In those times there was little need of tools and other means of production. But now a new factor has come into industry, so that money which is put into business produces something, and the interest paid for the use of the capital has been earned. The speaker cited the co-operative banks in Germany, Denmark and Ireland, which lend to farmers not for consumptive purposes, but for tools, etc., which will help to produce things. These, he said, have reclaimed the Rhine Provinces, and Ireland and have made Denmark the most prosperous country in Europe.

The question of interest is largely a psychological one. If you take gold bullion to the mint you get an equivalent sum in gold dollars immediately on the spot, but if you buy an ice house full of ice today, you know it will have a certain value at a future time and have to wait for your return. This factor of waiting for returns is an important one. He then discussed the utility of capital. Considering tools as capital, then if there were tools enough to satisfy the demand, when there would be no interest. If anything is abundant enough it has no price and interest will disappear. So that the cure for real evils is more capital; the cure for interest, if it is an evil, is more capital.

It is a fallacy to think that lavish consumption is a good thing. He instanced his remark by money spent for candy and the same amount spent for a shovel. The candy once consumed does not set in motion any production, while the increased number of shovels brings a demand for more labor. Which choice has been the better for society? The great thing is to get at the cause and not merely to attack the symptoms.

There is much said today about social service as if it were something entirely apart from business. When desires and needs do not coincide then business and social service are distinct, as is the case of missionaries, but good business and social service do coincide when desires and needs coincide. The man who is adding to the world's productiveness is doing a distinct social service.

The great difficulty with the socialist is that he does not differentiate between the symptoms and the causes. There are only three classes of wealth from which the socialist ever takes from his illustrations, namely: wealth that has accrued from increased land values, inherited wealth, and monopolistic wealth. In the case of inherited wealth, he makes the mistake of treating it as an individual matter, rather than as a family matter.

Prof. Carver closed his address by saying that economic laws are hard things to fight against. Discussion and question followed bringing out many interesting points.

A one-act farce entitled "Coats and Petticoats," was given on Thursday afternoon at the monthly meeting of the Newton Centre Woman's Club. The play with interpolated songs, was adapted by Miss Julia Colby and was under the direction of Mr. Tomlinson. Mrs. Nathan made a hit as leader of the suffragettes, as did Miss Ordway in her many portrayals of the only male role. Special mention should also be made of Miss Taylor who masqueraded as her brother, so as not to utterly shock her two old maid aunts who unexpectedly arrive on the scene and find her in male attire. The aunts were very cleverly done by Mrs. Fitch and Miss Widger. The cast complete was as follows:

Lawrence Donbible, Priscilla Ordway, his wife, Lena Twombly, Josephine, his sister, Dorothy Taylor, Miss Prudence Pringle, his aunt, Mrs. Louis H. Fitch, his aunt, Eleanor Widger, Pauline Pemberton, Julia Colby, Rebecca Randolph, Mrs. Francis H. Nathan, Chorus of Suffragettes.

Before the play a short musical program was given by Miss Frieda Gerhard, pianist, who played selections by Schumann, Liszt, and Vogt, and by Mrs. W. G. Parmelee, who gave two groups of short pieces by Kreisler, Hopkins, Liszt, and Schaefer. Miss Mary F. Curtiss was the accompanist.

The Waltham Woman's Club has started a fight for lower car steps, and a petition is now in circulation to bring about the desired reform. This petition will be sent to the Board of Railroad Commissioners.

The subject of lower car steps is one that has long been under consideration by the local woman's club. Protests have been made, but no concerted action was ever before undertaken to get the railway companies to make their cars more easy to board.

While the steps on the closed cars now in use are too high, the chief complaint is against the open cars used in the summer months. The petition has to do with this style of cars in particular. The women argue that the open cars are all in the shape of the companies at the present time being placed in shape for future use, and it is argued that now is the time to get the officials to make the steps lower, so that a woman can board a car without great inconvenience. The women feel confident that the Railroad Commissioners will see the justice of their complaint.

LODGES

The recently elected officers of Betsy Ross Lodge, No. 556, N. E. O. P., were installed on Monday evening in Eliot Hall, Newton, by D. G. W. Maria Mayhew and suite of Puritan Lodge.

The following officers were installed: Robert Elder, Jr., warden; Mrs. John McNeil, vice warden; L. D. Morse, secretary; A. L. Haste, financial secretary; James Sennett, treasurer; John Armstrong, guide; Mary E. Sedimale, chaplain; John N. Corners, guardian; Chester Berry, sentinel; P. J. Duffy, trustee; Inez M. Flanders, pianist.

Visitors from Cambridge, Puritan and Harvard lodges of Cambridge, Alpha Lodge, Chelsea, and Mizpah Lodge, South Boston, were present.

A number of the visiting officers made short addresses, and Mrs. Jas. Sennett, in a neat little speech, presented the deputy with a handsome vase on behalf of the members of Betsy Ross Lodge, in token of their appreciation of her services.

Following the business meeting, refreshments were served by the entertainment committee, Mrs. Corners, chairman, after which dancing was enjoyed.

The next meeting of the lodge, February 10, will take the form of a public whist party.

There will be a public installation of the new officers of Crystal Lake Council, Royal Arcanum, at Lincoln Hall, Newton Highlands, next Tuesday evening. Dancing will follow the formal proceedings.

A largely attended whist party and dance was held in Denison Hall, Newtonville, Wednesday night, under the direction of Mrs. Thomas F. Delaney, the proceeds of which will be devoted to the Elks Fair in Waltham next month. A large delegation of Elks from the surrounding lodges were present, as well as many of the members of the Antlers. Whist was played until 10.30, the winners being Mrs. B. Hannon, Mrs. Journey, Miss Sheer, Mr. McBride, Mr. Murphy and Mr. Allen. The consolation prizes were awarded to Mrs. F. H. Murray and Mr. Clough. Following the whist at 11 o'clock toast was offered by Harry Beardsley, followed by vocal selections by Miss Dora Wolfson of Watertown and Harry Beardsley of Waltham. Refreshments and dancing brought the evening's entertainment to a close.

SCENE FROM "MILESTONES" AT THE TREMONT THEATRE

BOSTON OPERA HOUSE—Mozart's "Don Giovanni" will be the notable addition to the repertory of the Boston Opera Company during the coming week. Felix Weingartner, who is without a peer as an interpreter of Mozart, will direct the premiere performance on Friday night, and the cast will be an all-star one, with Mme. Emmy Destinn, Miss Alice Nielson and Miss Elizabeth Amaden will complete the notable trio of women. The titular role has been assigned to Vanni Marcoux, and John McCormack will add much brilliance to the ensemble. Scenically the work gives Mr. Urban unusual scope and that he has availed himself of it, the seven truly beautiful sets which he has designed personally, will afford proof. On Monday evening Verdi's "Otello" and his masterwork, will be sung for the first time under Mr. Weingartner's baton. As Desdemona, Mme. Lucille Marcel, the American born soprano, will make her re-entry. Mr. Zenatelli will sing Otello and the Lago will again be Mr. Scotti, associated with the others in last Wednesday's cast. Wednesday night Mr. Weingartner will conduct "Il Trovatore" and as Azucena, Mme. Schumann-Heink will sing for the second time. For the coming repetition the cast will be changed slightly. The Leonora will be Miss Amaden and the Manrico, Riccardo Martin, the favorite Metropolitan tenor. Mr. Polese again will appear as the Count. For the Saturday matinee, beginning at 1.30, "Tristan and Isolde" is announced with last week's cast, save that the Isolde will be Mme. Minnie Saltzman-Stevens, an American singer. On Saturday evening the first popular priced presentation of "Mme. Butterfly" will be given, with Mme. Carmen-Mella as Cio-Cio-San, Miss Leveroni as Suzuki, Mr. Gaudenzi as Pinkerton and Mr. Blanchard as Sharpless. Mr. Moranzone will direct. At the Sunday afternoon concert on Feb. 9, Mr. Weingartner will assume charge of the full orchestra, in a program to be announced later. Mme. Marcel will be the soloist.

MUSICAL SERVICE

The choir of St. Paul's Church, Newton Highlands, which historically holds the distinction of being the first vested choir in the city, is preparing to give a series of special musical services in the evening of the first Sunday in every month hereafter, rendering selections from the most famous oratorios and sacred cantatas in addition to the usual music.

On next Sunday, February the second, at 7.30 the choir, augmented with extra voices and assisted by Mr. Ralph LeRoy Harlow of Boston, soloist, Mr. Winsor Sampson, violinist, and Mr. John M. L. Ramseyer, cellist, will give the following program:—

Interest still continues to be keen in the athletic tournaments at the Newton Y. M. C. A. In the Junior A. group contests, the Democrats hold a commanding lead over its nearest rivals, the Bull Moose, having 163 points to its credit to 146 for their opponents. The Republicans are registered with 117 and the Socialists have 57 1-2 points.

The fight continues to be very close in the Junior A. basketball league. Princeton leading with 102 points, followed by Dartmouth with 96, Yale 86 and Harvard with 85. In the Junior B. indoor baseball league the standing is as follows: Tigers, won 8, lost 2; White Sox, won 7, lost 4; Browns, won 6, lost 4; Red Sox, won 4, lost 5; Athletics won 3, lost 8 and the Senators, won 3 and lost 8. The Red Sox are registered with two tie games, against the Browns and Tigers, and these will be played off shortly.

The members of the Y. M. C. A. relay team took part in the athletic meet last Saturday night in the South Armory, Boston, and won second place in the race against the North Dorchester A. A. who came in first and the Brookline Gym. A. A. who finished third. The relay team that represented the local association comprised Chamberlain, Moore, Hines and Craig.

About forty men were out at the last Bible Class conducted by S. M. Sayford at the Y. M. C. A. A large attendance is expected next Monday evening. Anyone who would like to enroll in this popular class please notify the Secretary of the Y. M. C. A.

A very interesting talk on City Finances was given by Arthur W. Blake, Mayor, President of the Board of Aldermen, at the Fellowship Club meeting last Monday evening.

The Hayden Concert Company gave a very fine musical program as the fourth number of the Entertainment Course Tuesday evening, Jan. 28th. The next number on the course and perhaps the finest of the whole series of entertainments will be given by the Parleben-Torrelli Company on Feb. 28th.

The Board of Directors will hold a very important meeting on Monday evening, Feb. 3rd.

The basketball team got ample revenge Wednesday night for its recent defeat by the Fitchburg Y. M. C. A. for the visitors were defeated by the score of 42 to 23.

W. C. T. U.

The Newton Woman's Christian Temperance Union will meet Thursday, Feb. 6th, at the Frances Willard Settlement, 44 Chambers street, Boston. The program will consist of a brief parliamentary drill by Mrs. W. E. Birdsall, an address by Miss Nellie Hill, Head Resident at the settlement, and readings from the Life of Frances Willard by different members. After the serving of refreshments, there will be a tour of inspection of the various buildings comprising the settlement, the two houses serving as the Boarding Home for Working Girls, the Phillips Brooks Chapel and the Club House. Members may invite guests.

N. H. S.

Track athletics have taken a decided boom at the Newton High School, and just as soon as the candidates get into proper condition, dual meets will be arranged with the Boston High Schools, Brookline H. S. and Cambridge High and Latin. Captains and managers will be chosen within a few days, and the training of the men will be supervised by Coach Alfred Dickerson and Dr. A. D. Browne.

The athletic committee have also decided to organize a midget relay team, which will run its first race at the Interclass games, Feb. 22 against the Roxbury Latin, B. A. A. or Noble & Greeough midgets, if the teams can be secured to compete.

The relay team of the high school participated in the games held last Saturday night under the auspices of the Massachusetts Coast Artillery Corps in the armory on Irvington street, Boston, and although defeated by the Boston College H. S. team, they forced their opponents to travel extremely fast. The relay team comprised Capt. Van Buskirk, Wilbur, Elison and Litchfield.

The track schedule for the season is as follows: Lowell High tomorrow evening at Lowell, Cambridge Latin at Newton on Feb. 15, inter-class games on Feb. 22 and on March 1 will participate in the B. A. A. indoor meet in Boston.

The debating team, under the coaching of Mr. Richmond, is preparing for the Triangular Debate with Somerville and Brookline on the evening of Friday, March 7.

WINS HOCKEY GAME

The Newton High School hockey team opened the Triangular League Wednesday night at the Arena, Boston, by defeating Cambridge Latin, 6 to 0. Captain Forte of Newton made 5 of these points, two without assistance and was the whole show of the game so to speak. Roquemore was suspended three times for rough play.

Newton scored three goals in the first period. The first and second points resulted from clever passes by Rice to Forte, who eluded the Cambridge Latin defense. A little later Capt. Forte received the rubber beyond the center of the rink, and by fine skating and good dribbling he managed to dodge the opposing players and score.

In the second half better individual playing was shown by Newton, while Cambridge Latin appeared to have weakened. However, shortly after the session opened Forte dribbled the rubber down the side of the rink and passed it to Rav Stanley, who tallied. Forte made the last goal unassisted.

HUNNEWELL CLUB

At the whist party held on Friday evening, 15 tables were in play in charge of Mrs. H. L. Dexter, Jr. The prize winners were Mrs. G. M. Nash, Mrs. T. E. Jewell, Mrs. F. A. Wilcox, Mrs. E. P. Tuttle and Miss Byfield. The ladies pouring were Mrs. E. P. Tuttle and Mrs. Carlton P. Stanley.

At the Neighborhood Night on Tuesday evening a comedieta, "My Uncle's Will" will be given, followed by refreshments and dancing.
